Byrd Challenges Senate Liberals On Purge Move

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., challenged Senate Democratic liberals Saturday to try to purge him for his objections to what he called the "radical" Democratic platform.

His first detailed indictment of the platform was sure to be interpreted as a go-slow warning to President-elect John F. Kennedy. Byrd refused to endorse the Democratic candidate during the election campaign.

The powerful and conservative Byrd, who battled former Democratic presidents Roosevelt and Truman for what he regarded as their radical policies, offered a public display of his current attitude in a 1,000-word letter to Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa.

Byrd did give one friendly pat to Kennedy, who he said faces many great problems.

OUTLINES DESIRES

"It is my strong desire to give him my full support in all measures he proposed which I believe to be in the best interests of our nation and our people," he said.

Clark has proposed that Democratic senators who refused to endorse the Democratic presidential nominee and platform be barred from party caucuses. He also would bar senators opposed to specific platform planks from the chairmanship of committees handling legislation to carry out those planks.

Byrd, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, wrote that he was the only senator to whom both parts of the proposal applied.

He told Clark he wanted to give a frank review of his attitude toward the platform "so you can prepare your case against me with full knowledge of what my position will be."

"I think it would be very wholesome if you would bring proposal to the floor of the Senate because many fundamental principles are involved," Byrd said.

"Southerners frequently have been threatened with loss of committee assignments or other prerogatives unless they support measures obnoxious to them and their constituents. Personally, I resent this."

Manhandling Of Lumumba Stirs Crisis

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Western diplomats said Saturday the savage treatment dealt former Premier Patrice Lumumba by Congolese troops may backfire against Col. Joseph Mobutu's pro-Western regime.

Lumumba, captured by Mobutu's forces at Port Francqui Thursday night while trying to reach his Stanleyville stronghold, was brutally manhandled in public view when he was returned here Friday.

ENVOY SHOCKED

One Western ambassador said he was deeply shocked over what he called the jungle violence meted out to the leftist Lumumba.

The diplomat said Mobutu's regime won a significant victory with the seating of President Joseph Kasavubu's delegation at the U. N. General Assembly last month. But "the fruits of this victory may well be thrown away with such exhibitions of uncivilized brutality, we can expect the Soviet bloc to get the maximum propaganda mileage out of it," he said.

Mobutu watched with folded arms as his soldiers slapped and pushed Lumumba, grabbing him by the hair to turn his face toward waiting photographers.

The army strongman was not present a short time later when the soldiers took Lumumba to an improvised prison at the Binza paratroop camp. Eyewitnesses said Lumumba, arms tied tightly behind his back, was set upon by 40 screaming troops, punched, kicked and shoved to the ground. They said Gilbert Pongo, Mobutu's security chief who claims credit for arresting Lumumba after the ousted premier left his U. N.-guarded villa here, Sunday night yelled at the soldiers and incited them to greater violence.

According to the witnesses one of the soldiers read in a loud voice a recent statement by Lumumba restating his claim to be the Congo's only rightful premier.

The soldier then wadded the paper into a ball and shoved it down Lumumba's throat. Lumumba made no protest. But he winced in pain when another soldier tightened the rope holding his Lumumba Case Overshadows Debate In U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) —African and Asian concern for the fate of deposed Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba overshadowed the General Assembly's lagging debate on colonialism Saturday.

Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold made no immediate reply to a Soviet demand for "exhaustive information" about the arrest of the leftist premier by troops of Congolese strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu or to Russia's demand for U.N. steps to insure Lumumba's safety.

Indian Defense Minister V.K. Krishna Menon, who Friday night wanted the entire 46-nation Afro-Asian delegation to descend on Hammarskjold for a discussion of Lumumba's case, discussed the situation with the Secretary-General at noon Saturday.

Aside from confirmation that Hammarskjold had sent messages to pro-Western Congolese President Joseph Kasavubu urging observance of "due process of law" toward Lumumba and advising him of the Afro-Asian concern, the United Nations maintained silence on the situation.

Although the Soviet delegation issued a statement Friday night declaring Hammarskjold and the U.N. Congo Command directly responsible for Lumumba's safety, the Russians did not raise the issue in the assembly Saturday.

600 Combing Hills For Clue

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The first massive hunt for a clue in the week-old killing of a young collegian and disappearance of his pretty coed date, got under way on a fog-shrouded hillside Saturday.

The Multnomah County Sheriff's office, determined to cover a section of forested hills of 60 square miles near the slaying scene, called for 400 volunteers.

Estimates of the number who turned out, dozens of them on horseback, ranged up to 600. They came from miles around. Each was assigned to a patrol headed by a deputy who had been briefed Friday on what to look for.

GIRL, 19, MISSING

Missing is blue-eyed, brown-haired Beverly Ann Allen, 19, Port Townsend, Wash., a Washington State University student. She was the companion of Ralph Larry Peyton 19, Portland, whose stabbed, beaten body was found in his car on a lovers' lane in rough hills northwest of here last Sunday night.

Presumably he had been set upon, police think by at least two men, as he and the girl sat in the car. Her purse and coat were in the car, her broken glasses and a necklace were on the ground outside.

The only blood in the car and nearby was Peyton's, said the State Crime Laboratory.

There was no trace of the knife that stabbed the Portland State College student 23 times, nor was there a sign of a gun. The car windshield had a bullet hole.

Hope that Miss Allan would be found alive dimmed as days went by, but sheriff's Capt. Gordon Auborn said there was no clue that suggested that she had been killed — or that she had not.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allan, offered a $1,000 reward for information that would reveal her fate. An anonymous donor added $500.

Letters Pour In For Goodfellows

"I m writing you for my sister . . . she has leukemia and doesn't know it," a letter received by Goodfellows yesterday read.

This is an excerpt from only one of the many letters that are pouring into the Goodfellows headquarters pleading for food, clothes and toys for needy families in the area for Christmas.

Donations yesterday almost doubled, but still more is needed to be able to help these families, many who are destitute and starving. Several thousands of dollars are needed, and the total stands at only $354.50 at the end of the first week of the Goodfellows drive.

The little lady who wrote for her leukemia - stricken sister asked for any kind of help that Goodfellows could give. OVERDUE ON VOYAGE

Search For Missing Steamer Is Futile

LONDON (AP)—British agents for the New York-owned Liberian steamer Iri, overdue on a voyage from England to Montreal, said Saturday night the situation looks bad.

A spokesman for the agents declined to commit himself on the possible fate of the steamer, which sailed from Fowey, Cornwall, Nov. 8 with 21 days fuel.

But he said: "It does look bad. She hasn't been heard from for so long now and attempts to contact her by radio have been fruitless."

He said the 3,093-ton vessel's captain was an American, Ben Krasner. The only other American aboard was a journalist, identified as James Robert Dickson, the only passenger.

Krasner, 37, was born in Newark, N. J., and has been a seaman since he was 15.

The other 22 crew members were of various nationalities, the spokesman said, including Greek, Argentine, Mexican, Cuban, Honduran and Spanish.

As he was speaking, British air-sea rescue authorities called off a day-long unsuccessful search in the North Atlantic for the IRI after a British Overseas Airway plane flying in from New York reported a radar reading which might have been a lifeboat.

The ocean weather ship Juliet, which was nearest to the scene, was detached and proceeded to the gale-swept search area. She found nothing and Saturday night returned to her normal position, authorities reported. Shackleton aircraft of the Royal Air Force coastal command also carried out a day-long sweep and aerial search in the area.

Six Killed, Two Hurt As Cars Smash Head-On

RESERVE, La. (AP) — Six persons were killed and two injured Saturday when two automobiles smashed head-on on U. S. highway 61 near here.

Two of the dead persons and the two injured were identified as students at Louisiana State University. They were in one car.

State police identified the dead in one car as Harry David, 37, New Orleans, apparently the driver; Alton Howton, 25, New Orleans; Ernest Lee Smelley, 33, Slidell; and Theophile A. Causin, 26, Laplace.

Dead in the other car were Raymond L. Bachemin, 19, New Orleans; and Wolf O. Henkie, 19, New Orleans; and Peter H. Platt, 19, New Orleans, identified by police as driver of the second car.

Gilbert was taken to Charity hospital and Platt to Foundation hospital, both in New Orleans, about 25 miles southeast of here.

State police said the auto in which the students were driving apparently had a blowout and jumped the neutral ground into the opposite lane of traffic.

Cuba Shooting War Is Planned

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A newly organized coalition of Cuban exile groups Saturday night announced plans to wage a shooting war against the Fidel Castro regime.

The coalition, called the United Front of National Liberation, said it opposes plans to send Cuban refugees to other parts of the country to find work.

"We need willing-to-fight Cubans concentrated in certain parts so they can be used in the struggle," said the coalition's leader, Dr. Aureliano Sanchez Aarango.

Sanchez, a former Cuban minister of state, said his followers "are convinced the situation in Cuba needs to be confronted with war, so we are going to make war."

U.S. Urges OAS Action Against Cuba

Evidence Found Cubans Involved In Caracas Riots

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Diplomatic officials reported Saturday that the United States is urging Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt to invoke the inter-American defense treaty against the government of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

This country's view, according to these officials, is that there is enough evidence of Castro's hand in the Communist-led insurrection of the past week to warrant application of the Rio pact. If brought into play, it could lead to economic and diplomatic measures against Cuba by the other 20 members of the Organization of American States (OAS).

BETANCOURT RELUCTANT

Betancourt already has asked the OAS to investigate his charges that the rightist Trujillo regime in the Dominican Republic is preparing a military attack on Venezuela. But he has been reluctant so far to ask for similar action against Cuba, which has intensified its efforts to discredit and overthrow the Betancourt government.

The United States is understood to have instructed its embassy in Caracas to press the U.S. proposal.

This action followed discovery of specific evidence of Cuban implication in the leftist student insurrection of the past week.

Officials reported there now was proof that money and arms for the insurgents came from Cuba. Two Cubans in Venezuela were arrested after it was discovered they were operating a radio to relay instructions from Havana.

The United States has long considered there was enough evidence in the hemisphere to invoke the Rio treaty against Castro. But it has found most Latin American governments are reluctant to take such a step because some of them fear repercussions from elements which consider Castro a real reformer.

Venezuela would be a good country to invoke the pact against Castro, in the view of diplomatic authorities, because it is a constitutional democracy and Betancourt was elected in a bonafide election. His position in international councils is stronger than that of other Latin American leaders who might be charged with being dictators.

Car Pins Man In Sub-Freezing Cold 21 Hours

NORTH ADAMS, Mass. (UPI) A 24-year-old amateur auto mechanic was reported in fair condition Saturday night after he spent more than 21 hours in sub-freezing cold, pinned beneath a car.

Police said Walter Davis of North Adams was found, still conscious, when two young boys took a short cut through the auto junk yard about 10 a.m. Saturday.

Davis told officials he had arranged with the owner of the junk yard to remove a starter from an old car and install it in his own vehicle. He said he started to work on the old car about 1 p.m. Friday.

While he was working, the old car slipped off the jack he was using, pinning his arm. He said he shouted for help but no one heard him until the boys walked through the junk yard Saturday.

Wet And Dreary Forecast Today

Skies are predicted to be cloudy, and light showers are expected intermittently throughout the day.

Temperatures will be warmer with the mercury rising to about 72 degrees today. Tonight's low will register about 54.

Yesterday's temperatures dipped to a very chilly 27 for the overnight low. Temperatures in the day reached 69 at Selman Field.

COMMERCE SECRETARY

Governor Takes Post In Cabinet

Hodges, standing by Kennedy's side for the announcement, promptly expressed concern about the economy of the United States under the outgoing Republican administration.

He promised to make the Commerce Department a vital, challenging force for the nation.

SECOND SELECTION

Kennedy announced Hodges' appointment to some 50 reporters and cameramen crowded on the flagstone patio at his family's ocean-front home here. It was the president-elect's second cabinet selection. On Thursday he named Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut to be secretary of health, education and welfare.

Kennedy said Hodges, 62, a Democrat, "will bring to his new position experience in both business and government."

Hodges, whose appointment announcement was an hour late because of the delay of his overnight train from North Carolina, told newsmen he is concerned that the economic position of the United States is "not at the top." This was in reply to a query on whether he thought the nation was on the edge of an economic recession.

"I think," Hodges said, "the thing is far worse than the present administration has ever led us to believe. I think that the inventories are high and that the orders on the part of merchants, manufacturers, are not as good as they have been."

He declared the economy needs a new stimulation, "which I hope we can get beginning Jan. 20 with a rebirth of confidence."

Kennedy, Sen. Symington To Confer Monday

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy said Saturday he will confer here Monday with Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., who has completed a study for him on reorganization of the Defense Department.

The two will fly back later to Washington. Kennedy added that he and Symington may hold a joint news conference before they leave.

Kennedy made known his plans at the home of his parents on the Atlantic shore, where he is spending the weekend.

On Tuesday the president-elect will meet at the White House with President Eisenhower for a discussion of the change-over from a Republican to a Democratic administration.

Kennedy will fly to New York from Washington late Tuesday, spend the night there and return probably late Wednesday. In New York, he plans to meet, he said, several persons, possibly including Dag Hammarskjold, United Nations secretary-general.

Next Friday Kennedy, his wife Jacqueline and their newborn son, John Fitzgerald Jr., will come to Palm Beach. Mrs. Kennedy and the baby intend to remain through Christmas and possibly through New Year's Day. Their daughter, Caroline, 3, came here Friday with her father and will remain.

REACH AGREEMENT

Report On Illinois Recount Due Today

CHICAGO (UPI)—Republicans, charging apparent ballot box tampering, Saturday reached agreement with the Democratic-controlled city election board on issuance of a vote recount report.

A consolidated report bringing the recount up to date will be issued Sunday, GOP and Democratic officials announced. But they added that no figures would be issued before then.

The announcement came as Sidney T. Holzman, election board chairman, announce that 50 teams would be put to work Sunday to speed up the recheck of ballots in precincts where voting machines were not used.

About 151 precincts have been rechecked since the recount began, officials said.

Meanwhile, Republicans indicated they were preparing a court suit over "spoiled" ballots which they contend were credited to President-elect John F. Kennedy.

James Brow, executive director of the Nixon Recount Committee, said that if the recount continued in the same pattern to show spoiled ballots, a suit might be filed for the purpose of studying the questionable ballots. Republicans also indicated the purpose of such a suit would be to have Illinois' 27 electoral votes withheld from Kennedy.

Earlier, a GOP attorney said there were broken seals or no seals at all on five of the first 20 precincts ballot boxes delivered Saturday to weary canvassing teams.

The attorney, Ralph Berkowitz, also accused the election board's callers and counters of working too fast for the GOP watchers, who haven't had time to spot illegal ballots or record the count.

Court Acts Hours After Bill Adopted

BATON ROUGE (AP)—A state judge issued a temporary restraining order here Saturday against the legislature's third attempt to replace the Orleans Parish school board within hours after the measure had been approved.

Civil Dist. Judge Fred S. LeBlanc issued the order after a suit to have the measure declared unconstitutional was filed by George L. Singlemann, an official of the New Orleans Citizens Council and Lewis S. Doherty Jr. of Baton Rouge.

STATE APPEALS

The state immediately appealed to the State Supreme Court.

The bill received overwhelmingly legislative passage despite a three-judge federal court injunction forbidding the legislature to interfere with the school integration situation. The Senate vote Saturday was 27-5.

The bill would set up a new five-man board. Gov. Jimmie H. Davis, who signed the emergency legislation despite the fact that he is also under federal court injunction, would appoint immediately a five-member board with powers limited to financing Orleans Parish schools.

Three members of the Louisiana Supreme Court met in New Orleans Saturday afternoon after receiving an appeal from state Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion and three other officials.

There was no indication that the court would act before Monday.

The exact meaning of the new suit was not immediately clear. Singlemann and Doherty had filed suit two weeks previously to restrain the present school board, which complied with federal court integration orders, but the suit

Soviets Offer U.N. Summit Meet Proposal

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union Saturday called for a United Nations summit meeting on disarmament next spring in an apparent move to pave the way for talks between Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and President-elect John F. Kennedy.

The suggestion that heads of government gather at a special U.N. General Assembly session was contained in a communique issued by the Soviet and Cambodian governments following a visit here of Cambodia's chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

Informed observers in Moscow felt such a U.N. meeting could neatly cloak an informal Big Four summit conference. It could provide the occasion for a Khrushchev-Kennedy encounter with a minimum of advance summit fanfare and a maximum of face-saving all around, they said.

(In Washington, Khrushchev's suggestion evoked a cool response from Eisenhower administration spokesmen as well as aides of Kennedy. It was viewed by U.S. officials as simply a bid for another propaganda circus like the one Khrushchev staged in New York last September and October.

(Diplomatic sources in London shrugged off the Moscow call. They said a summit meeting of all U.N. member nations on disarmament would be impractical and would merely provide a forum for world propaganda.)

U.S. Urges OAS Action Against Cuba

Evidence Found Cubans Involved In Caracas Riots

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Diplomatic officials reported Saturday that the United States is urging Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt to invoke the inter-American defense treaty against the government of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

This country's view, according to these officials, is that there is enough evidence of Castro's hand in the Communist-led insurrection of the past week to warrant application of the Rio pact. If brought into play, it could lead to economic and diplomatic measures against Cuba by the other 20 members of the Organization of American States (OAS).

BETANCOURT RELUCTANT

Betancourt already has asked the OAS to investigate his charges that the rightist Trujillo regime in the Dominican Republic is preparing a military attack on Venezuela. But he has been reluctant so far to ask for similar action against Cuba, which has intensified its efforts to discredit and overthrow the Betancourt government.

The United States is understood to have instructed its embassy in Caracas to press the U.S. proposal.

This action followed discovery of specific evidence of Cuban implication in the leftist student insurrection of the past week.

Officials reported there now was proof that money and arms for the insurgents came from Cuba. Two Cubans in Venezuela were arrested after it was discovered they were operating a radio to relay instructions from Havana.

The United States has long considered there was enough evidence in the hemisphere to invoke the Rio treaty against Castro. But it has found most Latin American governments are reluctant to take such a step because some of them fear repercussions from elements which consider Castro a real reformer.

Venezuela would be a good country to invoke the pact against Castro, in the view of diplomatic authorities, because it is a constitutional democracy and Betancourt was elected in a bonafide election. His position in international councils is stronger than that of other Latin American leaders who might be charged with being dictators.

Six Killed, Two Hurt As Cars Smash Head-On

RESERVE, La. (AP) — Six persons were killed and two injured Saturday when two automobiles smashed head-on on U. S. highway 61 near here.

Two of the dead persons and the two injured were identified as students at Louisiana State University. They were in one car.

State police identified the dead in one car as Harry David, 37, New Orleans, apparently the driver; Alton Howton, 25, New Orleans; Ernest Lee Smelley, 33, Slidell; and Theophile A. Causin, 26, Laplace.

Dead in the other car were Raymond L. Bachemin, 19, New Orleans; and Wolf O. Henkie, 19, New Orleans; and Peter H. Platt, 19, New Orleans, identified by police as driver of the second car.

Gilbert was taken to Charity hospital and Platt to Foundation hospital, both in New Orleans, about 25 miles southeast of here.

State police said the auto in which the students were driving apparently had a blowout and jumped the neutral ground into the opposite lane of traffic.

Cuba Shooting War Is Planned

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A newly organized coalition of Cuban exile groups Saturday night announced plans to wage a shooting war against the Fidel Castro regime.

The coalition, called the United Front of National Liberation, said it opposes plans to send Cuban refugees to other parts of the country to find work.

"We need willing-to-fight Cubans concentrated in certain parts so they can be used in the struggle," said the coalition's leader, Dr. Aureliano Sanchez Aarango.

Sanchez, a former Cuban minister of state, said his followers "are convinced the situation in Cuba needs to be confronted with war, so we are going to make war."

OVERDUE ON VOYAGE

Search For Missing Steamer Is Futile

LONDON (AP)—British agents for the New York-owned Liberian steamer Iri, overdue on a voyage from England to Montreal, said Saturday night the situation looks bad.

A spokesman for the agents declined to commit himself on the possible fate of the steamer, which sailed from Fowey, Cornwall, Nov. 8 with 21 days fuel.

But he said: "It does look bad. She hasn't been heard from for so long now and attempts to contact her by radio have been fruitless."

He said the 3,093-ton vessel's captain was an American, Ben Krasner. The only other American aboard was a journalist, identified as James Robert Dickson, the only passenger.

Krasner, 37, was born in Newark, N. J., and has been a seaman since he was 15.

The other 22 crew members were of various nationalities, the spokesman said, including Greek, Argentine, Mexican, Cuban, Honduran and Spanish.

As he was speaking, British air-sea rescue authorities called off a day-long unsuccessful search in the North Atlantic for the IRI after a British Overseas Airway plane flying in from New York reported a radar reading which might have been a lifeboat.

The ocean weather ship Juliet, which was nearest to the scene, was detached and proceeded to the gale-swept search area. She found nothing and Saturday night returned to her normal position, authorities reported. Shackleton aircraft of the Royal Air Force coastal command also carried out a day-long sweep and aerial search in the area.

COMMERCE SECRETARY

Governor Takes Post In Cabinet

Hodges, standing by Kennedy's side for the announcement, promptly expressed concern about the economy of the United States under the outgoing Republican administration.

He promised to make the Commerce Department a vital, challenging force for the nation.

SECOND SELECTION

Kennedy announced Hodges' appointment to some 50 reporters and cameramen crowded on the flagstone patio at his family's ocean-front home here. It was the president-elect's second cabinet selection. On Thursday he named Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut to be secretary of health, education and welfare.

Kennedy said Hodges, 62, a Democrat, "will bring to his new position experience in both business and government."

Hodges, whose appointment announcement was an hour late because of the delay of his overnight train from North Carolina, told newsmen he is concerned that the economic position of the United States is "not at the top." This was in reply to a query on whether he thought the nation was on the edge of an economic recession.

"I think," Hodges said, "the thing is far worse than the present administration has ever led us to believe. I think that the inventories are high and that the orders on the part of merchants, manufacturers, are not as good as they have been."

He declared the economy needs a new stimulation, "which I hope we can get beginning Jan. 20 with a rebirth of confidence."

Kennedy, Sen. Symington To Confer Monday

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy said Saturday he will confer here Monday with Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., who has completed a study for him on reorganization of the Defense Department.

The two will fly back later to Washington. Kennedy added that he and Symington may hold a joint news conference before they leave.

Kennedy made known his plans at the home of his parents on the Atlantic shore, where he is spending the weekend.

On Tuesday the president-elect will meet at the White House with President Eisenhower for a discussion of the change-over from a Republican to a Democratic administration.

Kennedy will fly to New York from Washington late Tuesday, spend the night there and return probably late Wednesday. In New York, he plans to meet, he said, several persons, possibly including Dag Hammarskjold, United Nations secretary-general.

Next Friday Kennedy, his wife Jacqueline and their newborn son, John Fitzgerald Jr., will come to Palm Beach. Mrs. Kennedy and the baby intend to remain through Christmas and possibly through New Year's Day. Their daughter, Caroline, 3, came here Friday with her father and will remain.

Car Pins Man In Sub-Freezing Cold 21 Hours

NORTH ADAMS, Mass. (UPI) A 24-year-old amateur auto mechanic was reported in fair condition Saturday night after he spent more than 21 hours in subfreezing cold, pinned beneath a car.

Police said Walter Davis of North Adams was found, still conscious, when two young boys took a short cut through the auto junk yard about 10 a.m. Saturday.

Davis told officials he had arranged with the owner of the junk yard to remove a starter from an old car and install it in his own vehicle. He said he started to work on the old car about 1 p.m. Friday.

While he was working, the old car slipped off the jack he was using, pinning his arm. He said he shouted for help but no one heard him until the boys walked through the junk yard Saturday.

Wet And Dreary Forecast Today

Skies are predicted to be cloudy, and light showers are expected intermittently throughout the day.

Temperatures will be warmer with the mercury rising to about 72 degrees today. Tonight's low will register about 54.

Yesterday's temperatures dipped to a very chilly 27 for the overnight low. Temperatures in the day reached 69 at Selman Field.

Report On Illinois Recount Due Today

CHICAGO (UPI)—Republicans, charging apparent ballot box tampering, Saturday reached agreement with the Democratic-controlled city election board on issuance of a vote recount report.

A consolidated report bringing the recount up to date will be issued Sunday, GOP and Democratic officials announced. But they added that no figures would be issued before then.

The announcement came as Sidney T. Holzman, election board chairman, announce that 50 teams would be put to work Sunday to speed up the recheck of ballots in precincts where voting machines were not used.

About 151 precincts have been rechecked since the recount began, officials said.

Meanwhile, Republicans indicated they were preparing a court suit over "spoiled" ballots which they contend were credited to President-elect John F. Kennedy.

James Brow, executive director of the Nixon Recount Committee, said that if the recount continued in the same pattern to show spoiled ballots, a suit might be filed for the purpose of studying the questionable ballots. Republicans also indicated the purpose of such a suit would be to have Illinois' 27 electoral votes withheld from Kennedy.

Earlier, a GOP attorney said there were broken seals or no seals at all on five of the first 20 precincts ballot boxes delivered Saturday to weary canvassing teams.

The attorney, Ralph Berkowitz, also accused the election board's callers and counters of working too fast for the GOP watchers, who haven't had time to spot illegal ballots or record the count.

Court Acts Hours After Bill Adopted

BATON ROUGE (AP)—A state judge issued a temporary restraining order here Saturday against the legislature's third attempt to replace the Orleans Parish school board within hours after the measure had been approved.

Civil Dist. Judge Fred S. LeBlanc issued the order after a suit to have the measure declared unconstitutional was filed by George L. Singlemann, an official of the New Orleans Citizens Council and Lewis S. Doherty Jr. of Baton Rouge.

STATE APPEALS

The state immediately appealed to the State Supreme Court.

The bill received overwhelmingly legislative passage despite a three-judge federal court injunction forbidding the legislature to interfere with the school integration situation. The Senate vote Saturday was 27-5.

The bill would set up a new five-man board. Gov. Jimmie H. Davis, who signed the emergency legislation despite the fact that he is also under federal court injunction, would appoint immediately a five-member board with powers limited to financing Orleans Parish schools.

Three members of the Louisiana Supreme Court met in New Orleans Saturday afternoon after receiving an appeal from state Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion and three other officials.

There was no indication that the court would act before Monday.

The exact meaning of the new suit was not immediately clear. Singlemann and Doherty had filed suit two weeks previously to restrain the present school board, which complied with federal court integration orders, but the suit

Soviets Offer U.N. Summit Meet Proposal

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union Saturday called for a United Nations summit meeting on disarmament next spring in an apparent move to pave the way for talks between Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and President-elect John F. Kennedy.

The suggestion that heads of government gather at a special U.N. General Assembly session was contained in a communique issued by the Soviet and Cambodian governments following a visit here of Cambodia's chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

Informed observers in Moscow felt such a U.N. meeting could neatly cloak an informal Big Four summit conference. It could provide the occasion for a Khrushchev-Kennedy encounter with a minimum of advance summit fanfare and a maximum of face-saving all around, they said.

(In Washington, Khrushchev's suggestion evoked a cool response from Eisenhower administration spokesmen as well as aides of Kennedy. It was viewed by U.S. officials as simply a bid for another propaganda circus like the one Khrushchev staged in New York last September and October.

(Diplomatic sources in London shrugged off the Moscow call. They said a summit meeting of all U.N. member nations on disarmament would be impractical and would merely provide a forum for world propaganda.)

was transferred to federal court and nullified by U.S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright.

Singlemann is an associate of Leander H. Perez, retiring district attorney of St. Bernard and Plaquemines parishes and one of the leaders in the state's fight to retain segregation.

There was speculation they filed the suit in state court to prevent possible federal litigation against the new law. The suit prevents Davis from appointing the new board immediately.

Federal judges have already ruled unconstitutional legislative attempts to replace the present board with an eight-man legislative committee and with the entire legislature. The courts last August prevented Davis from seizing control of the school system.

The legislature went home until 7 p.m. Sunday, when the Senate returns for a floor vote on an emergency bill that would provide grants in aid to parents who choose to send their children to private schools rather than public schools.

Lawmakers called the grants bill a "freedom of choice" measure based on the first amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Sen. E. W. Gravolet Jr., vice chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Segregation, told a Senate committee it had nothing to do either with segregation or integration.

A resolution that possibly could turn out to be a major political move was held back awaiting the right moment by Sen. Howard Jones, St. Joseph.

The resolution would ask the state's 10 presidential electors, pledged to Sen. John F. Kennedy, to withhold their votes from any candidate who declined to give his position on the federal courts' interference with the state's efforts to regulate its schools.

Frank B. Ellis, New Orleans elector and Kennedy's Louisiana campaign director, said, however, the state has signed the official certification of the vote on electors.

"Whenever Illinois kicks them out, I'm ready," Jones said.

A Davis leader, Rep. Bryan Lehmann Jr., St. Charles Parish, told the House 500 volunteer workers began building classrooms in St. Bernard Parish for white children boycotting two integrated schools in Orleans.

"This begins our grants in aid program," Lehmann said. Lawmakers personally donated about $6,500 earlier this week to help launch the private educational cooperative.

Lloyd Rittiner, Orleans school board chairman, and Samuel I. Rosenberg, the board's attorney, were not available at New Orleans for comment on the new effort by the Legislature to replace the embattled board.

Workmen were busy, meanwhile, remodeling a former motor rebuilding plant for use as a private school for white pupils who are boycotting New Orleans' two integrated schools.

The building is located on the eastside, in the general area of the two schools, McDonogh No. 19 and William Frantz. Three Negro girls are attending McDonogh, where a white boycott is complete.

One Negro girl has been attending Frantz. White pupils have been trickling back in small numbers at the latter school, with a high point of 10 white pupils reached Friday. The schools have a normal attendance of more than 1,000.

White mothers have been picketing the schools daily in an effort to bar return of white pupils. Token integration of the two schools began Nov. 14 under federal court order.

C. E. Vetter, businessman and member of the New Orleans Downtown Citizens, said the old motor plant was leased for the private school and a former gambling house and jai alai club building "might possibly be used in the future."

"For the moment," Vetter said, "the one building will take care of the situation. We have a crew of 50 carpenters working today and the electricians and plumbers are standing by."

He said classrooms in the converted buildings will be ready for use within a day or so.

On the financial side, four New Orleans banks were under federal court order to show cause Monday why they should not honor checks issued by the Orleans Parish school board.

The order was by U.S. District Judge J. Skelly Wright, who issued the original ruling directing that the New Orleans schools be gradually integrated, beginning with the first grade.

Banks named in the legal motion were Whitney National Bank, Hibernia National Bank, National American Bank and the National Bank of Commerce.

A $723,000 school board bank account has been frozen since the Legislature warned banks any business they did with the school board would be at their own risk.

Four school board members had petitioned the court asking that it force the banks to honor checks it issues. The board members argued that the legislative acts by which the funds were frozen have been declared unconstitutional by a panel of three federal judges.

The board says it has outstanding bills totaling around $400,000.

Board member Louis Riecke said the obligations included payment of salaries of 36 teachers and two principals from McDonogh 19 and Frantz schools. Riecke said the legislature had not warned the teachers they would be punished financially if they reported for duty in the intergrated schools.

Some administrative sources in Baton Rouge said the teachers would be paid. The salary checks were due Nov. 23.

But House Speaker J. Thomas Jewell said the checks would be withheld from teachers in the integrated schools and that they were under investigation.

Pay also was withheld from Dr. James F. Redmond, Orleans Parish superintendent of schools, and the school board's counsel, Samuel I. Rosenberg.

Gravolet said the new school board bill was based upon the state's claim it has a right to interpose its sovereignty between the people and the federal government on the traditional policy of separation of the races.

Gravolet said the immediate problem was that the Legislature could not borrow money to pay for New Orleans schools. A new school board, he said, would be able to get such finances and keep the public schools open.

Under the legislation, the legislature would continue with its authority to operate the schools.

Sen. Robert Ainsworth, leader in the Senate of Orleans lawmakers' attempts to stop state seizure of the local school board, said, "My position will have to be what it has always been.

"Until the courts throw out the authority of the present school board, "I cannot vote for this bill . . . What worries me is whether we will be able to borrow money to pay the next teachers salaries."

The action, he said, brings up a legal question which school board will have authority to borrow money to run the schools. Teachers next are scheduled to be paid about Dec. 23.

In other action:

Rep. Arthur Crais, New Orleans told the House he is standing by his statement the new grants in aid program for private schools could be operated within existing revenues.

parently will be one of the new administration's first major steps toward bolstering the economy. Kennedy told the news conference he would have an important statement about unemployment areas Sunday.

During his campaign Kennedy hammered at what he called an urgent need to promote government help for areas of unemployment in an effort to stimulate business.

Hodges emphastzed the role of the individual businessman in his over-all plan for the Commerce Department.

"The genius of this country," he said, "is in the imagination and energy and daring on the part of the individual businessman, and if we can show him that there is a department, a great department, a manifold department, willing and anxious to be of service to him and encourage him along the lines to be encouraged, I think they will carry it on themselves."

But Hodges cautioned that the government must not "throw any blocks in their way."

Kennedy outlined for newsmen some of the problems the Commerce Department will face in the coming years.

"One of its most vital—if not its most vital—responsibilities," he stated, will be in the international field, maintaining our position in international trade, developing and encouraging new markets, providing some degree of assurance and protection for those who trade with us."

The president-elect mentioned specifically that the Commerce Department will be faced with problems raised by new trade structures in Western Europe and with establishing trade with underdeveloped areas of the world.

Kennedy noted that the department employs 35,000 persons and that last year its budget exceeded half a billion dollars.

Hodges brings a wealth of business experience on all levels to his new job.

He rose from a 50-cents-a-day textile mill office boy in 1910 to a $75,000-a-year executive position before retiring from business in 1950 to enter politics.

At that time he was vice president in charge of 29 textile mills for Marshall Field & Co. He was successful in his first political venture, winning election as North Carolina lieutenant governor in 1952. He succeeded to the gubernatorial office in 1954 when Gov. William B. Umstead died.

In his six years as governor, Hodges has devoted much of his time to a campaign to bring businesses to North Carolina from other parts of the country. He played an important role in the presidential campaign, heading a national group of business and professional men for Kennedy.

One of his main slogans in his effort to elect Kennedy was "Democrats are better for business." This provoked at least one clash between Hodges and the present secretary of commerce, Frederick H. Mueller.

Hodges is the third Democratic governor named to important posts in the new administration. In addition to Ribicoff, Kennedy has selected Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams as assistant secretary of state for African affairs.

Kennedy said Saturday he hopes to complete his Cabinet by the end of this week or shortly thereafter.

arms behind his back. Lumumba and three aides were then pushed into a room where, apparently, they were again beaten savagely. Bystanders said they heard screams from inside but could not see what went on.

The Western diplomat said he did not believe Mobutu was responsible for the violence against Lumumba at Binza—or would have tolerated it if he had been present. Ill-disciplined Congolese soldiers have resorted to spontaneous acts of brutality before.

Lumumba and his fellow prisoners were moved during the night from the Binza camp to Thysville, 100 miles from the capital. At present they are inaccessible to Western reporters.

The U. N. mission stayed carefully aloof from the Lumumba case—at least in public.

U.N. Supreme Commander Gen. Carl von Horn, Mobutu's host at a previously arranged luncheon party Saturday, expressed privately to the army leader the U.N.'s concern over Lumumba's treatment.

A sharply-worded personal message reportedly was en route from U. N. Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold to Kasavubu.

Mobutu has stated that Lumumba will go on trial for inciting the army to mutiny and for other unspecified "common law crimes."

But the army leader also told reporters Friday night he is holding Lumumba hostage for the release of former Communications Minister Alphonse Congolo and 10 other Mobutu supporters jailed by the pro-Lumumba provincial regime in Stanleyville.

"Lumumba will receive the benefit of normal judicial safeguards the moment Congolo and the others are released," Mobutu said.

Congolo, who broke with Lumumba to join Mobutu two months ago, reportedly has lost the sight of one eye from brutal beatings in Stanleyville prison.

Byrd Challenges Senate Liberals On Purge Move

Barring an extraordinary reversal of recent policy, Democratic senators are unlikely to adopt Clark's proposal. It would not only offend Byrd but his friends, too, and create a serious split in the majority party at the start of the new Kennedy administration.

"My position is simple," Byrd wrote Clark. "I will support those planks in the platform of which I approve, but taken in its entirety I regard the Chester Bowles so-called Democratic platform as being radical or as leading to socialism and as being fiscally irresponsible."

Byrd also objected to planks calling for a fair employment practices commission, steps toward racial integration in all school districts by 1963 and financing medical care for the aged through the social security system.

Solons Critical Of State Press

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Another attack on the Louisiana press was voiced in the House of Representatives Saturday, when Rep. Parcy Branton suggested the legislature print its own newspaper.

The Webster Parish lawmaker also denounced The Baton Rouge State-Times, official state journal, for what he said was an editorial saying, in effect, "Legislators — Go Home."

The pattern of attacks on newspapers began earlier this week, when Sen. W. J. Cleveland of Crowley, one of Gov. Jimmie H. Davis legislative leaders, told the Senate he couldn't understand why the press would not go along with the legislature in its fight.

At that time, Cleveland singled out staff writer F. E. Shepherd of the State-Times, after Shepherd suggested the legislature was running out of ammunition.

Later, Rep. W. K. Brown of Grant Parish shouted his wrath at an editorial in the New Orleans Times-Picayune. But Rep. Louis Michot of Lafayette had praised the editorial.

On the financial side, four New Orleans banks were under federal court order to show cause Monday why they should not honor checks issued by the Orleans Parish school board.

The order was by U.S. District Judge J. Skelly Wright, who issued the original ruling directing that the New Orleans schools be gradually integrated, beginning with the first grade.

Banks named in the legal motion were Whitney National Bank, Hibernia National Bank, National American Bank and the National Bank of Commerce.

A $728,000 school board bank account has been frozen since the Legislature warned banks any business they did with the school board would be at their own risk.

Four school board members had petitioned the court asking that it force the banks to honor checks it issues. The board members argued that the legislative acts by which the funds were frozen have been declared unconstitutional by a panel of three federal judges.

The board says it has outstanding bills totaling around $400,000.

Board member Louis Riecke said the obligations included payment of salaries of 36 teachers and two principals from McDonogh 19 and Frantz schools. Riecke said the legislature had not warned the teachers they would be punished financially if they reported for duty in the intergrated schools.

Some administrative sources in Baton Rouge said the teachers would be paid. The salary checks were due Nov. 23.

But House Speaker J. Thomas Jewell said the checks would be withheld from teachers in the integrated schools and that they were under investigation.

Pay also was withheld from Dr. James F. Redmond, Orleans Parish superintendent of schools, and the school board's counsel, Samuel I. Rosenberg.

Gravolet said the new school board bill was based upon the state's claim it has a right to interpose its sovereignty between the people and the federal government on the traditional policy of separation of the races.

Gravolet said the immediate problem was that the Legislature could not borrow money to pay for New Orleans schools. A new school board, he said, would be able to get such finances and keep the public schools open.

Under the legislation, the legislature would continue with its authority to operate the schools.

Sen. Robert Ainsworth, leader in the Senate of Orleans lawmakers' attempts to stop state seizure of the local school board, said, "My position will have to be what it has always been.

"Until the courts throw out the authority of the present school board, "I cannot vote for this bill .... What worries me is whether we will be able to borrow money to pay the next teachers salaries."

The action, he said, brings up a legal question which school board will have authority to borrow money to run the schools. Teachers next are scheduled to be paid about Dec. 23.

In other action:

Rep. Arthur Crais, New Orleans told the House he is standing by his statement the new grants in aid program for private schools could be operated within existing revenues.

Governor Takes Post In Cabinet

parently will be one of the new administration's first major steps toward bolstering the economy. Kennedy told the news conference he would have an important statement about unemployment areas Sunday.

During his campaign Kennedy hammered at what he called an urgent need to promote government help for areas of unemployment in an effort to stimulate business.

Hodges emphastzed the role of the individual businessman in his over-all plan for the Commerce Department.

"The genius of this country," he said, "is in the imagination and energy and daring on the part of the individual businessman, and if we can show him that there is a department, a great department, a manifold department, willing and anxious to be of service to him and encourage him along the lines to be encouraged, I think they will carry it on themselves."

But Hodges cautioned that the government must not "throw any blocks in their way."

Kennedy outlined for newsmen some of the problems the Commerce Department will face in the coming years.

"One of its most vital—if not its most vital—responsibilities," he stated, will be in the international field, maintaining our position in international trade, developing and encouraging new markets, providing some degree of assurance and protection for those who trade with us."

The president-elect mentioned specifically that the Commerce Department will be faced with problems raised by new trade structures in Western Europe and with establishing trade with underdeveloped areas of the world.

Kennedy noted that the department employs 35,000 persons and that last year its budget exceeded half a billion dollars.

Hodges brings a wealth of business experience on all levels to his new job.

He rose from a 50-cents-a-day textile mill office boy in 1910 to a $75,000-a-year executive position before retiring from business in 1950 to enter politics.

At that time he was vice president in charge of 29 textile mills for Marshall Field & Co. He was successful in his first political venture, winning election as North Carolina lieutenant governor in 1952. He succeeded to the gubernatorial office in 1954 when Gov. William B. Umstead died.

In his six years as governor, Hodges has devoted much of his time to a campaign to bring businesses to North Carolina from other parts of the country. He played an important role in the presidential campaign, heading a national group of business and professional men for Kennedy.

One of his main slogans in his effort to elect Kennedy was "Democrats are better for business." This provoked at least one clash between Hodges and the present secretary of commerce, Frederick H. Mueller.

Hodges is the third Democratic governor named to important posts in the new administration. In addition to Ribicoff, Kennedy has selected Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams as assistant secretary of state for African affairs.

Kennedy said Saturday he hopes to complete his Cabinet by the end of this week or shortly thereafter.

"I am a 12 - year - old girl. My mother is sick. Santa hasn't been to my house for two years." these quotes were taken from a letter written by a Monroe lass who has wanted a bicycle for Christmas for four years, and whom "Santa" has had to pass up for the last two.

Manhandling Of Lumumba Stirs Crisis

arms behind his back. Lumumba and three aides were then pushed into a room where, apparently, they were again beaten savagely. Bystanders said they heard screams from inside but could not see what went on.

The Western diplomat said he did not believe Mobutu was responsible for the violence against Lumumba at Binza—or would have tolerated it if he had been present. Ill-disciplined Congolese soldiers have resorted to spontaneous acts of brutality before.

Lumumba and his fellow prisoners were moved during the night from the Binza camp to Thysville, 100 miles from the capital. At present they are inaccessible to Western reporters.

The U. N. mission stayed carefully aloof from the Lumumba case—at least in public.

U.N. Supreme Commander Gen. Carl von Horn, Mobutu's host at a previously arranged luncheon party Saturday, expressed privately to the army leader the U.N.'s concern over Lumumba's treatment.

A sharply-worded personal message reportedly was en route from U. N. Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold to Kasavubu.

Mobutu has stated that Lumumba will go on trial for inciting the army to mutiny and for other unspecified "common law crimes."

But the army leader also told reporters Friday night he is holding Lumumba hostage for the release of former Communications Minister Alphonse Congolo and 10 other Mobutu supporters jailed by the pro-Lumumba provincial regime in Stanleyville.

"Lumumba will receive the benefit of normal judicial safeguards the moment Congolo and the others are released," Mobutu said.

Congolo, who broke with Lumumba to join Mobutu two months ago, reportedly has lost the sight of one eye from brutal beatings in Stanleyville prison.

Byrd Challenges Senate Liberals On Purge Move

Barring an extraordinary reversal of recent policy, Democratic senators are unlikely to adopt Clark's proposal. It would not only offend Byrd but his friends, too, and create a serious split in the majority party at the start of the new Kennedy administration.

"My position is simple," Byrd wrote Clark. "I will support those planks in the platform of which I approve, but taken in its entiriety I regard the Chester Bowles so-called Democratic platform as being radical or as leading to socialism and as being fiscally irresponsible."

Byrd also objected to planks calling for a fair employment practices commission, steps toward racial integration in all school districts by 1963 and financing medical care for the aged through the social security system.

Solons Critical Of State Press

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Another attack on the Louisiana press was voiced in the House of Representatives Saturday, when Rep. Parey Branton suggested the legislature print its own newspaper.

The Webster Parish lawmaker also denounced The Baton Rouge State-Times, official state journal, for what he said was an editorial saying, in effect, "Legislators — Go Home."

The pattern of attacks on newspapers began earlier this week, when Sen. W. J. Cleveland of Crowley, one of Gov. Jimmie H. Davis legislative leaders, told the Senate he couldn't understand why the press would not go along with the legislature in its fight.

At that time, Cleveland singled out staff writer F. E. Shepherd of the State-Times, after Shepherd suggested the legislature was running out of ammunition.

Later, Rep. W. K. Brown of Grant Parish shouted his wrath at an editorial in the New Orleans Times-Picayune. But Rep. Louis Michot of Lafayette had praised the editorial.

Price Of Christmas Trees About Same

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans shopping for Christmas trees in the next few weeks will have about the same number to chose from as last year—and at about the same price.

But they may find quality down a bit, an Associated Press survey indicated Saturday.

Chances are a good balsam fir 5 to 6 feet high will retail for $3 to $5, subject to special conditions that may prevail in remote localities.

Some reports point to keener competition for Scotch pines, and consequent higher prices. The long-needled, bushy Scotch pine has grown rapidly in popularity in recent years.

Already the trees are flooding to market by truck and rail. As usual, heavy cutting began in November this year in the heavy producing Northwestern, New England and Great Lakes states.

Generally mild weather facilitated the harvest.

In Washington, American Forest Product Industries Inc. estimated that 40 million—possibly 44 million—trees will be marketed, about 12 million of them imports from Canada. The lower figure would be only a shade ahead of last year.

About one out of eight American-grown units will come off a tree farm, or plantation after 10 to 15 years growth from a row-planted seedling. The big bulk once more will be harvested from natural forested lands.

James C. McClellan, AFPI chief forester, discounted opinion from some quarters that artificial trees made from metal or plastic are cutting into natural tree sales.

However, a spokesman for a big Weston, Mass., wholesaler reported advance orders were down about 20 per cent from 1959. He blamed decisions by supermarkets and chain groceries to stock artificial instead of natural trees.

Gov. Davis Pays Visit To Senate

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Gov. Jimmie H. Davis Saturday paid an informal visit to the Louisiana Senate while senators were at rest awaiting House action on legislation.

"I'm going to speak on the goneness of the past," Davis told a newsman.

"I want you to know this is all in jest," he told the newsmen.

It was the governor's first appearance in the Senate in his current administration.

No governor has entered the Senate area while the lawmakers were working since a rule was passed last year aimed at keeping out the late Gov. Earl K. Long, who caused some disruption by his casual visits.

The rule didn't name Long, but specified that only members of the Senate and members of their immediate families, the press and Senate employes may come into the chamber during sessions.

Kennedy Vote Lead Is Cut To 152,832

WASHINGTON (AP) — Largely through a big pickup in absentee ballots from the state of Washington, Vice President Richard M. Nixon's total popular vote for president passed the 34-million mark today.

Sen. John F. Kennedy's national plurality was cut to 152,832, the lowest since postelection counting began.

With official returns complete for 36 states and only 160 precincts missing in the unofficial tabulations for the remaining 14 states, the popular vote now stands:

KENNEDY	34,168,319
NIXON	34,015,487
Other	415,267

The total vote of 68,599,073 is by far the largest on record. It surpassed the previous high — in 1956—by 6,570,014.

Nixon picked up 53,569 votes in the counting of absentee ballots in Washington compared with his unofficial total in the precincts. Kennedy gained 40,934 in the same absentee count.

The official Washington result gave Nixon 629,086 to Kennedy's 599,160. The state was one of 27 carried by Nixon with an electoral vote of 223. Kennedy had popular margins in 22 states with an electoral count of 300. Mississippi gave its eight electoral votes to an unpledged slate of electors.

The 415,267 ballots so far counted for neither Kennedy nor Nixon were divided 299,019 for minor parties and 116,248 for Mississippi's unpledged elector slate.

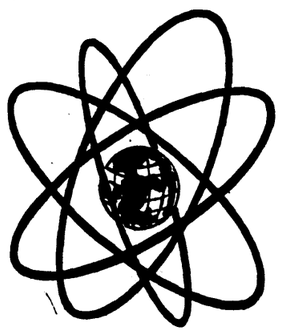

The National States Rights party led the minor parties with 214,549 votes. These included Alabama 4,367, Tennessee 11,304, and Delaware 354, pledged to Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas; and Arkansas 28,952, and Louisiana 169,572, unpledged.

Second in the minority party list was the Prohibition party ticket headed by Dr. R. L. Decker, Kansas City Baptist minister. He polled 40,432 in nine states.

Others: Socialist Workers, headed by Farrell Dobbs, New York City, 9,865 in six states; Socialist Labor, led by Eric Hass, New York City, 7,225 in seven states; Constitution party, Charles L. Sullivan, 18,169 in Texas only; Virginia Conservative party, C. Benton Coiner, 4,204 in Virginia only; Tax Cut, Lar Daly, Chicago, 1,767 in Michigan only; Afro - American, the Rev. Clennon King, 1,485 in Alabama only; Independent American, no candidate, 539 in Michigan only; and scattered, 784.

Navy Plans Appeal On Dependents Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy Saturday was reported planning to appeal to the Defense Department for exemptions from the President's order to reduce the number of military dependents abroad.

On the basis of second thoughts, the Navy Times said, the naval command has decided that the entire reduction should be made by the Army and Air Force because a larger percentage of Navy men already are required to go abroad without their families.

A publication prepared for the Army, meanwhile repeated charges of discrimination in the President's order and called upon Congress to enact legislation that would equalize restrictions on travel by including civilian tourists.

"It certainly is not reasonable to impose severe measures on dependents of the military who are in foreign areas as a matter of requirement, when tourists are still permitted to spend larger sums of money overseas for their own convenience and pleasure," an Army Association "fact sheet" said.

The reported Navy position contrasted with an earlier statement in which Navy Secretary William B. Franke told all commands two weeks ago that prompt action should be taken to support the President's order, which the secretary described as "vitally important to the welfare of our country."

"Drastic and immediate action is necessary to improve our world economic situation," Franke said. "The economic aspects of the cold war in which we find ourselves are equally important with the military aspects and we must do our utmost to be prepared for action on both fronts."

According to the Navy Times, however, the command has now determined that without counting men who are at sea, more than 10 per cent of the Navy men and 14.7 per cent of the Marines sent overseas are already prohibited from taking their families.

"The Navy study shows that the Army and Air Force combined could cut back dependents overseas by the 284,000 total the President asked for and still be sending only 8.2 per cent of their forces without a chance of having families go along," the independent service journal said.

Upper Level Federal Pay Termed Low

WASHINGTON (AP) — Uncle Sam was advised Saturday he'll have to quit worrying about his lower-bracket salaries and pay top people more to keep his vast machinery running properly.

A composite federal study of salaries paid in private industry and government service turned up these broad conclusions:

1. Government pay compares favorably with that in private industry at lower levels but falls dangerously short at upper levels.

2. The present rigid patterns imposed by law on most government salaries make it difficult, if not impossible, to rectify these discrepancies.

3. A federal pay commission is needed to seek broad solutions for the problem.

Figures on private pay were gathered by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Labor Department, and these were compared with federal standards in a separate study by the Bureau of the Budget, the Civil Service Commission and the office of the special assistant to the president for personnel management.

The latter survey said that unless future governmental salary action places "less emphasis on lower-level pay and more (on) competitive salaries at the higher levels, the federal government will be forced to rely at best on mediocre management and professional talent, particularly in the scientific and engineering fields."

DECADE JINX

Weird Precedent Facing Kennedy

By SARAH LITTLE World Staff Writer

Call it "fate or jinx" — but it remains to be seen if President-elect John F. Kennedy is the man to break the 100-year-old era of presidents elected at the end of a decade who have died while in office.

A rather startling discovery is the fact that since 1840 every president who was elected at the end of a decade died while in office, either by assiassination or natural causes.

Another noteworthy fact is that the very first president to die while in office was elected at the end of the decade.

THREE MURDERED

Of the six presidents who have died under these strange circumstances, three were assassinated; three of them died in April, two in September and one in August; four of them were Republicans, one a Whig and the last a Democrat.

The first president to die in office, elected on the Whig ballot in 1840, was William Henry Harrison, who was 68 years old at the time of death. Harrison, who was defeated in popular votes by Martin Van Buren but took the electoral votes, died April 4, 1841, only one month after inauguration. The cause of deat hwas pneumonia.

This was the beginning of the "decade jinx," for Abraham Lincoln, who was elected to his first term in 1860 and was re-elected to a second term in 1864, also died in office by the hand of John Wilkes Booth. Lincoln, who was 56, was inaugurated April 4, 1865 to his second term, and was assassinated on April 14, only 10 days after his inauguration. Lincoln was elected on the Republican ticket — another "decade" president who died while in office.

Again in 1880, James A. Garfield the third president elected at the end of a decade to die in office, was shot at the Washington Railroad station July 2, 1881, only a few months after his inauguration. Garfield, another Republication, died Sept. 19, 1881, from the wound in the July 2 shooting. He was assassinated by Charles J Guiteau, who history described as a mentally unstable and disappointed office seeker. Garfield was 50 years old.

The next president under the "jinx", William McKinley, also a Republican, was assassinated on Sept. 6, 1901, only a few months after his inauguration. In the election of 1900, he defeated five other candidates for the presidency. McKinley, who was 58, lived from Sept. 6, the day he was shot by Leon Czologosz at a reception at the Pan-American Exposition in Buffalo, N.Y., until Sept. 14.

Two decades later, in 1920, another Republican president was elected and died in office. Warren G. Harding, 58, died of natural causes on Aug. 2, 1921, also only a couple of months after his inauguration. He died at San Francisco while on a return trip from Alaska of embolism.

The last president elected at the end of a decade was Franklin Delano Roosevelt. He was elected to his third term of office in 1940, serving it in full, but died during his fourth term. Roosevelt, a Democrat, died only three months after his fourth term began from a cerebral hemorrhage. He was 63 at his death, dying in Warm Springs, Ga., April 12, 1945.

It will be interesting to watch Kennedy's term of office. Kennedy, only 42, is the youngest president to be elected at the end of a decade, so perhaps fate will smile on him, and he will break the "decade jinx" that has plagued U. S. Presidents for the last 100 years.

Cuban Refugee Aid Is Assailed

HAVANA (AP)—The semiofficial newspaper Revolucion complained Saturday that President Eisenhower's decision to give $1 million in aid to Cuban refugees in Florida "opens up a free lunch counter" for counterrevolutionaries.

By allocating the money to help the 30,000 refugees, the U.S. government "officialized and legalized the financing of counterrevolution" against the Castro regime, the newspaper said.

Try To Secede Talked In N.O.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 3 (UPI) — The possibility of New Orleans seceding from the state of Louisiana has been discussed at a meeting of the Civic Council.

A woman yesterday asked Dr. Vaughan Howard, Tulane University political science professor, what procedure would be required for the city to secede from the state.

State Legislature has attempted to take over operation of the city's schools and the action has become an entangled legal controversy.

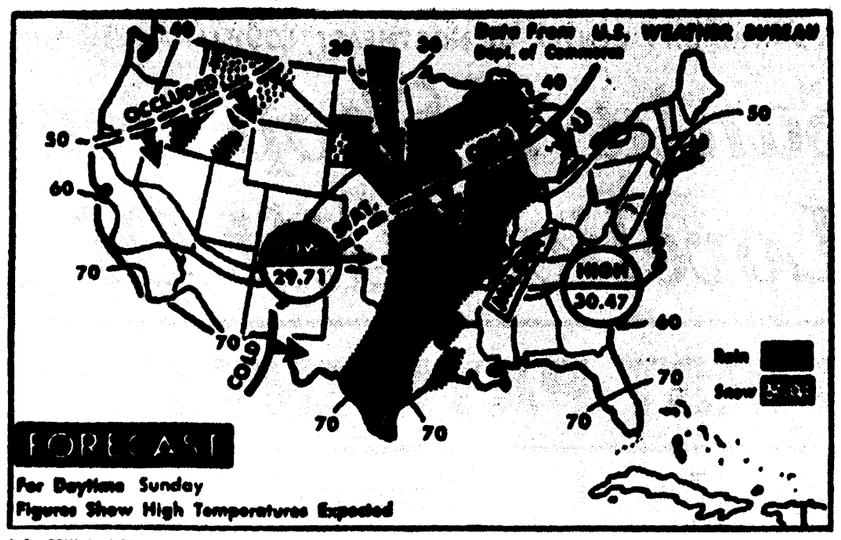

It was brought out at the meeting that Chicago once tried to secede from Illinois so it could managed its own affairs, and West Virginia seceded from Virginia.

Light showers and snow flurries were noted this Saturday evening over the southern Plateau and along western slopes of the central and southern Rockies. This inclement weather was associated with a low pressure system developing in that area. Light rain showers continued in coastal areas of Oregon and a few snow flurries fell in the northern Rockies. Rather strong southerly winds and cloudy conditions prevailed over the plains region. In the eastern third of the nation widespread clear and cool weather was the rule.

Temperatures in the East reached the 50 degree mark as far north as the Ohio Valley and middle Atlantic states this afternoon while in the Lakes region and the Northeast readings remained in the 40's. The mid 60's and low 70's were common over much of Florida. The 50's and 60's were numerous in the cloudy and windy central plains this afternoon while in the Rockies and Plateau region the 30's or 40's prevailed. Temperatures along the west coast were in the 40's in northern regions and in the 50's and 60's in California.

Light showers are expected to break out in sections of the middle portion of the nation tonight. The outlook for Sunday, cloudy, windy and quite mild weather with scattered shower activity is the picture for much of the Plains region, Mississippi and Ohio Valleys and Lakes regions. It will continue sunny in the East and somewhat warmer temperatures are indicated. Colder weather will be returning to the northern Plains and northern Rockies. Varying cloudiness with shower and snow flurry activity is in the forecast for the Plateau and central Rockies. Showers will continue in the Northwest but California will remain mostly clear except in the extreme northwest corner where light rain will occur.

Try To Secede Talked In N.O.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 3 (UPI) — The possibility of New Orleans seceding from the state of Louisiana has been discussed at a meeting of the Civic Council.

A woman yesterday asked Dr. Vaughan Howard, Tulane University political science professor, what procedure would be required for the city to secede from the state.

State Legislature has attempted to take over operation of the city's schools and the action has become an entangled legal controversy.

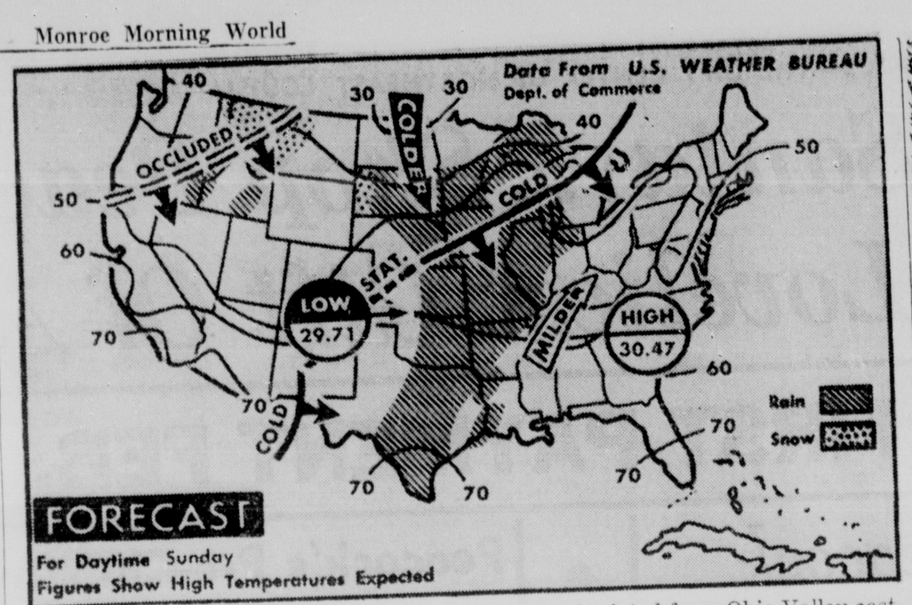

It was brought out at the meeting that Chicago once tried to secede from Illinois so it could managed its own affairs, and West Virginia seceded from Virginia.

Light showers and snow flurries were noted this Saturday evening over the southern Plateau and along western slopes of the central and southern Rockies. This inclement weather was associated with a low pressure system developing in that area. Light rain showers continued in coastal areas of Oregon and a few snow flurries fell in the northern Rockies. Rather strong southerly winds and cloudy conditions prevailed over the plains region. In the eastern third of the nation widespread clear and cool weather was the rule.

Temperatures in the East reached the 50 degree mark as far north as the Ohio Valley and middle Atlantic states this afternoon while in the Lakes region and the Northeast readings remained in the 40's. The mid 60's and low 70's were common over much of Florida. The 50's and 60's were numerous in the cloudy and windy central plains this afternoon while in the Rockies and Plateau region the 30's or 40's prevailed. Temperatures along the west coast were in the 40's in northern regions and in the 50's and 60's in California.

Light showers are expected to break out in sections of the middle portion of the nation tonight. The outlook for Sunday, cloudy, windy and quite mild weather with scattered shower activity is the picture for much of the Plains region, Mississippi and Ohio Valleys and Lakes regions. It will continue sunny in the East and somewhat warmer temperatures are indicated. Colder weather will be returning to the northern Plains and northern Rockies. Varying cloudiness with shower and snow flurry activity is in the forecast for the Plateau and central Rockies. Showers will continue in the Northwest but California will remain mostly clear except in the extreme northwest corner where light rain will occur.

Arab Republic Seizes Fabled Hotel In Cairo

CAIRO (AP) — Cairo's fabled Shepheards Hotel has got involved in the Congo crisis. The United Arab Republic seized it Friday night, along with other Belgian holdings.

This was part of a campaign launched by President Gamal Abdel Nasser after the Congo's President Joseph Kasavubu broke relations Thursday with the U.A.R. Kasavubu expelled Nasser's ambassador, Murad Ghaler, from Leopoldville, 2,500 miles and a half a continent away, with the charge he was encouraging rebel elements — meaning ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Nasser accused Kasavubu's Belgian advisers of influencing Kasavubu to take this step and looked about for ways to retaliate.

Nasser promptly nationalized two Belgian companies and sequestered — or took over — two others. Brussels sources estimated these are worth $10 million.

Friday night, over Belgian protests, the U.A.R. seized three more Belgian companies. These were Societe Anonyme d'Entreprises (E. L. Rolin); Societe Egyptienne de Matallurgie et Establissements Mencaiques (SIMCA); and the Shepheards and Egyptian Hotels Co.

Yesterday, the pigeon refused to leave the window of her car, so she drove downtown and back with her strange passenger. Senator Prods Republicans For Vote Fraud Data

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Theodore Francis Green, D-R.I., Saturday prodded the Republicans to turn over to his Senate investigating subcommittee immediately any evidence of voting irregularities.

Green, 93-year-old chairman of the Senate subcommittee on privileges and elections, made the request in a telegram to GOP National Chairman Thruston B. Morton.

It said: "It is imperative that you turn over to this subcommittee immediately for the use of the Senate any information or evidence you may have which would affect the results of the presidential election."

Such data, if submitted, presumably could provide the basis for a major congressional investigation into GOP charges of presidential election ballot fraud in several states.

Morton, who made an on-the-scene inspection of GOP vote recount efforts in Cook County, Ill., has said there is a "remote possibility" that Vice President Richard M. Nixon would wind up as the victor over President-elect John F. Kennedy. However, other Republican leaders tended to discount the possibility of an election reversal.

Executive Gets License To Wed Laraine Day

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Official records showed Saturday that Michel M. Grilikhes, Los Angeles CBS-TV executive, has obtained a marriage license for himself and actress Laraine Day, former wife of Leo Durocher, ex-manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants.

But Grilikhes said in an interview that no marriage has been performed.

The records show Grilikhes obtained the marriage license in Cleburne, 25 miles south of here, Nov. 23. He and Miss Day have attended Mormon church services together in Cleburne.

Miss Day could not be reached for comment.

In an interview with the Fort Worth Star - Telegram, Grilikhes said, "I will not confirm or deny" that a license was issued.

"No," he answered when asked if he and Miss Day were married.

"Who knows what the future will bring," he said when asked if they planned to marry.

ELMER JOHNSON left the office of his Topeka, Kan. motel Friday night when the commercial began on his television set. He stepped into the adjoining kitchen to make a sandwich, a crash rocked the building and this was the scene he saw as he turned around. The car, driven by Paul Millenbruck, 26, Myetta, Kan., went out of control running through the motel lawn, through the office wall and crushing the chair in which Johnson sat only seconds earlier. The toppled television set is behind Johnson in the picture. Millenbruck, uninjured was charged with reckless driving. (AP Wirephoto)

BURNS IN ATMOSPHERE

Soviets' Faces Red Over Space Failure

MOSCOW (AP)—Little Bee and Little Fly were the forgotten dogs in the Soviet Union Saturday.

There was no mention of them in the communique announcing that their five-ton space kennel had disintegrated on re-entering the earth's atmosphere.

The communique — first Soviet admission of a space failure also caught some Soviet papers with red faces showing.

The Literary Gazette, which also comes out three times a week and was in type before the failure was announced, waxed lyrical. It had an inspirational drawing of a rocket take-off, carried the original communique and no fewer than three poems hailing the "triumph." Along with letters of congratulations this covered half the front page.

The poems were "Highroads" by Andrei Lupan, "On the Interplanetary Crossroads" by Yuri Yakovlev, and "Wings of Peace" by Nikul Erkai.

Related stories appeared under the headlines "Glorious new victory of our science" and "A normal event."

Soviet Culture's inspirational drawing showed a huge rocket proceeding into space. Standing on the hammer and sickle was a man pointing into space with a smaller rocket in his hand. At the bottom was the Kremlin tower.

Other papers carried nothing but the communique with its bare reference to disintegration in the last paragraph.

None mentioned the fate of Little Bee and Little Fly.

Victor Bazukin, director of the Moscow Planetarium and frequent commentator on Soviet rocket successes, displayed no outward signs of pessimism when reporters asked him about prospects now for putting a man into space.

Bazukin replied: "I have no guesses concerning the Soviet program, but the Americans have announced they plan to put a man in space with a Mercury-type rocket next year."

Asked what might have caused the latest space ship to fail, Bazukin said he had no information other than what was in the communique.

Foreign-Born Area Resident Is Club Guest

Mrs. Martha Walters, former resident of South America, will be the second foreign-born speaker to be a guest at a meeting of the Pyrenees Club, romance language group at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Mrs. Walters will tell the organization of her travels in Germany, Brazil and Venezuela at the meeting Tuesday at 4 p.m. in Brown Hall 101 on campus.

The guest speaker was born in Germany, but later moved to South America. She was married to a North American, and they are now making their home in this area.

Mrs. Walters speaks German, Spanish and English fluently.

The first foreign lecturer to speak to the club this year was Anastacios Chronopoulos, student from Papanasiougo, Greece, who is currently enrolled at Northeast. He discussed the difference in customs, education, and general conditions between Greece and America.

To Pave Sidewalks

BERLIN (AP) — West Berlin's traditional mosaic sidewalks are going to be paved smooth because their small, irregular stone blocks are murderous for a woman in spike-heel shoes. Officials said Saturday they aren't sure how much this bow to the ladies will cost.

Y-Teen acitivites for the Christmas season are getting into high gear with various groups already making their Yuletide plans.

The Lenwill School club plans to provide Christmas Stockings for "shut-ins".

Each of the members of the Woodlawn Y-Teens gave a suggestion for a Christmas service project at its last meeting. Also a program on "Manners" was presented by club members.

ELMER JOHNSON left the office of his Topeka, Kan. motel Friday night when the commercial began on his television set. He stepped into the adjoining kitchen to make a sandwich, a crash rocked the building and this was the scene he saw as he turned around. The car, driven by Paul Millenbruck, 26, Myetta, Kan., went out of control running through the motel lawn, through the office wall and crushing the chair in which Johnson sat only seconds earlier. The toppled television set is behind Johnson in the picture. Millenbruck, uninjured was charged with reckless driving. (AP Wirephoto)

BURNS IN ATMOSPHERE

Soviets' Faces Red Over Space Failure

There was no mention of them in the communique announcing that their five-ton space kennel had disintegrated on re-entering the earth's atmosphere.

The communique — first Soviet admission of a space failure also caught some Soviet papers with red faces showing.

"How much a pound for your sunflower seeds?" the rocket is asking.

The Literary Gazette, which also comes out three times a week and was in type before the failure was announced, waxed lyrical. It had an inspirational drawing of a rocket take-off, carried the original communique and no fewer than three poems hailing the "triumph." Along with letters of congratulations this covered half the front page.

The poems were "Highroads" by Andrei Lupan, "On the Interplanetary Crossroads" by Yuri Yakovlev, and "Wings of Peace" by Nikul Erkai.

Related stories appeared under the headlines "Glorious new victory of our science" and "A normal event."

Soviet Culture's inspirational drawing showed a huge rocket proceeding into space. Standing on the hammer and sickle was a man pointing into space with a smaller rocket in his hand. At the bottom was the Kremlin tower.

Other papers carried nothing but the communique with its bare reference to disintegration in the last paragraph.

None mentioned the fate of Little Bee and Little Fly.

Victor Bazukin, director of the Moscow Planetarium and frequent commentator on Soviet rocket successes, displayed no outward signs of pessimism when reporters asked him about prospects now for putting a man into space.

Bazukin replied: "I have no guesses concerning the Soviet program, but the Americans have announced they plan to put a man in space with a Mercury-type rocket next year."

Asked what might have caused the latest space ship to fail, Bazukin said he had no information other than what was in the communique.

Mrs. Martha Walters, former resident of South America, will be the second foreign-born speaker to be a guest at a meeting of the Pyrenees Club, romance language group at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Mrs. Walters will tell the organization of her travels in Germany, Brazil and Venezuela at the meeting Tuesday at 4 p.m. in Brown Hall 101 on campus.

The guest speaker was born in Germany, but later moved to South America. She was married to a North American, and they are now making their home in this area.

Mrs. Walters speaks German, Spanish and English fluently.

Drugs Missing From Steps Of Local Resident

A package of medicine was found missing from a home in the Oak Park subdivision, and Monroe police warned parents to keep a close watch on their children. One bottle of the medicine could be fatal to a child if enough were taken, reports stated.

Mrs. Arthur Smith of 2215 Redwood Drive told officials yesterday that a package from the drug store was left on her front door step some-time Friday afternoon. When she arrived home, the package was gone and an intensive search by the Smiths, neighbors and police failed to discover the medicine.

The package wrapped in plain brown paper, contained two green bottles of pills —one containing white pills and the other containing small green pills. The package was taken sometime between 3:30 and 5 p.m. Friday Mrs. Smith said.

Drugs Missing From Steps Of Local Resident

A package of medicine was found missing from a home in the Oak Park subdivision, and Monroe police warned parents to keep a close watch on their children. One bottle of the medicine could be fatal to a child if enough were taken, reports stated.

Mrs. Arthur Smith of 2215 Redwood Drive told officials yesterday that a package from the drug store was left on her front door step some-time Friday afternoon. When she arrived home, the package was gone and an intensive search by the Smiths, neighbors and police failed to discover the medicine.

The package wrapped in plain brown paper, contained two green bottles of pills —one containing white pills and the other containing small green pills. The package was taken sometime between 3:30 and 5 p.m. Friday Mrs. Smith said.

Nixon Gives His Views On Party Role

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon feels his role in the Republican Party for the next two years is to prevent squabbles and mold a winning organization for the 1962 congressional contest.

This assessment of the Vice President's conception of his post-presidential election role was given by Nixon's press secretary, Herbert G. Klein, in a telephone interview with United Press International.

As for the position of party leadership, Klein said half of more than 50,000 letters received by his office have urged Nixon to remain in politics.

Nixon could accomplish this, Klein explained, through speeches he will make from time to time, and through some contact with GOP legislative leaders.

Klein characterized Nixon's meeting here Thursday with New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, considered a possible 1964 GOP presidential nominee, as a unity session that helped "clear the air" of reports of rivalry between the two men.

Klein said the Vice President feels the GOP "cannot afford excessive intraparty struggle" and must build the party toward greater strength in the coming years.

He said Nixon is confident after the close presidential race that Republicans can wrest control of congress from the Democrats in 1962, at least in the House where all 435 seats will be at stake. They have no chance of capturing the Senate until 1964 at the earliest.

AT RESEARCH CENTERS

Studies Of Heart Attacks Underway

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A unique study designed to indicate decisively the most important factors in the cause of heart attacks is under way in three collaborating Western research institutions.

Tests are being made on 4,000 healthy San Francisco Bay area men ages 39 to 59. One institution is determining the blood-clotting time of each man. The second institution is checking the amount of cholesterol and other fats in the blood stream of each individual. The third research center is finding out how much stress or aggravation each man can take.

These three items — clotting time, blood-stream fats and behavoir under stress—are generally accepted as major factors in coronary attacks. The idea of the research is to find out their order of importance.

An independent group of observers will keep watch on the men. The final results will be processed statistically to determine how significant they may be. From this the researchers hope to be able to say which of the three factors is predominant.

Clotting time is being done by technicians from the Southwest Foundation for Research and Education at San Antonio, Tex., under the direction of Dr. N. T. Wethessen and Dr. J. Wilfred Hahn, biochemists.

Blood-fat determination is being done at Saint Joseph Hospital, Burbank, Calif., by Dr. Reuben Straus and Dr. Robert J. Kositchek.

The stress studies are the work of Dr. Ray H. Rosenman and Dr. Meyer Friedman of San Francisco's Mt. Zion Hospital. Dr. Rosenman and Dr. Friedman have done much research on the role of mental stress in heart disease.

Primate Gives Views On Visit

LONDON (AP) — The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, returned Saturday from his historic call on Pope John XXIII with a statement that ever closer contacts will be maintained between Protestants and Catholics.

The Anglican primate, who also saw Christian leaders in the Holy Land on a 10-day trip climaxed by his visit to the Vatican Friday, said the Christian Church already is united in spirit.

"One purpose of my trip was to clear the way for regular, frequent and informal exchanges of interests and understanding among the different branches of the church," he told newsmen at London Airport. "All this can now happen."

At the Vatican, Pope Joh. 79, said their meeting "went only as far as the threshold of great problems," but left hope for the eventual solution. Speaking to Cardinals and archbishops with whom he participated in preparatory services for the Christmas season, the pontiff said, "I admire the sincere force of good will which Dr. Fisher is carrying forward."

State Outbreak Of Diphtheria Termed Serious

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A state health official said Saturday one death from diphtheria and 15 new cases, all reported in Plaquemines Parish, "makes a serious situation in an area that size."

Dr. John Bruce, chief of the epidemiology section of the State Board of Health, blamed the outbreak on public apathy and procrastination.

The victims range in age from four months to 15 years. Three cases were reported in one family. The 5-year-old girl who died was from a family of 12.

Throughout the state six persons have died of diphtheria in 1960.

In Plaquemines Parish, special immunization clinics will be set up Monday for children from one month to 12 years old. School children will be given slips for parents to sign, authorizing public health nurses to give the shots.

A passing motorist, Dr. J. P. Davis, carried the injured man into town where he was treated at a local hospital. The extent of his injuries was not known but his condition was not critical.

L. E. MATHIS of Monroe has been elected president of the Southwestern Private Commercial Schools Association. He is with the Bish Mathis Institute here. The meeting was held in Tulsa, Okla.

Church Rejects Castro Charges

AVANA (AP) — Roman Cath- Church officials rejected Sat- y Prime Minister Fidel tro's accusation that priests in got bribes to preach coun- evolutionary sermons.
n a strongly worded open letter to the prime minister signed by Manuel Cardinal Arteaga and others of the hierarchy, the church repeated its preoccupation with the spread of communism in Cuba.

The letter was made public a day ahead of scheduled because of a report — quickly squelched after it began to circulate — that Archbishop Enrique Perez Serantes of Santiago had been jailed at Camaguey en route home Friday night from a church conference in Havana.

The archbishop, 77, back safely in his official residence, said by telephone he was not molested during the return trip to his archdiocese in eastern Cuba.

The letter was drafted at the Havana meeting of nine bishops earlier last week. The prelates were summoned after Castro had assailed the clergy last Sunday as "henchmen in cassocks," bringing church-state relations in Cuba to a critical point.

The plan was to deliver the letter to Castro Sunday and distribute it later to the public. But it was issued early as reports of Archbishop Perez Serantes' detention raced through Catholic circles here.

The bishops called Castro's accusation of briberty "unjustly harmful" to the prestige of the church.

"We do not know one single case where chaplains at sugar hill communities acted as agents of exploitation of the workers and, on the other hand, we know they have defended the rights of labor," the letter said.

This referred to Castro's charge that an investigation of the books of nationalized sugar companies disclosed big checks made out to priests who, Castro charged, were exploiting workers.

The bishops also learned, their letter added, that teachers in charge of indoctrination use classrooms "openly to defend Communist ideas and defame the doctrine and work of the church."

The letter expressed hope that the government will take steps to end "repeated attacks against Catholics," sayingg further: "It is unnecessary to remind you, Mr. Prime Minister, that the church has always taught as the fundamental norm of human conduct the primary of spiritual value over all material interests and because of that... is disposed to sacrifice itself without any fear and lose all before giving up its principles."

The letter indicated that the bishops feel the government's antichurch campaign began last August after publication of a Catholic circular pointing out the dangers of communism in Cuba. After that time, it said, some priests were arrested and others were threatened with bodily harm for reading the circular in churches.

The bishops complained about organized public meetings where the clergy have been "insulted and attacked with the knowledge and consent of (government) authorities."

They said attempts had been made to impede the circulation of documents defending the church, including pastoral letters by the archbishop of Santiago.

Almost all television and radio time has been closed to Catholic programs, the bishops added. Yet at the same time the government apparently supports "so-called Catholic associations" that assail church authorities, they added.

The Catholic hierarchy also rejected Castro's reference to Villanueva University, a 15-year-old Catholic institution, as "Yankeelandia." They said the only foreigners on the university staff are Augustinian priests who came to serve and who invested in Villanueva money they earned in other countries.

Bailey Reported Kennedy Choice For Demo Chief

HARTFORD, Conn (AP)—The Hartford Times said Saturday that John M. Bailey, Democratic state charman, is President-elect John F. Kennedy's personal choice to be the next Democratic national chairman.

The newspaper said it had "learned this from people in a position to know the facts as they exist today."

"Since Bailey has the blessing of the incoming president," the Times said, "the Democratic National Committee is slated to name him formally to the post" after the resignation of the current chairman, Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, becomes effective Jan .20.

Bailey, 56, a Hartford lawyer and with Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff among Kennedy's earliest and key supporters, was in Boston Saturday. The Times said he declined comment.

It was Bailey and Ribicoff who backed Kennedy's 1956 drive for the vice presidential nomination.

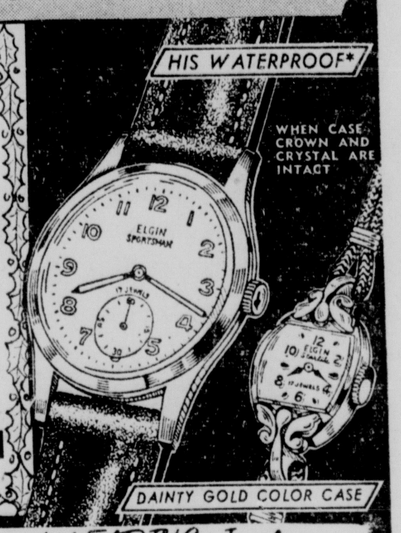

Bailey, like Kennedy a Catholic, was mentioned as a choice for the party chairmanship during the national convention last July. But the post went instead to Jackson, the first Protestant to hold the party chairmanship in 32 years.

Caribbean Exodus Miami Headache

Editor's Note — The pawnshops are doing a thriving business, as do most charitable institutions in Miami. But the refugees from Castro's Cuba keep pouring in and the headaches multiply. Here's the stark, human story of this Caribbean exodus.

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Almost any night a small craft slips through the darkness into the Florida straits while its Cuban occupants pray that an American ship will pick them up.

Occasionally a desperate defector orders a Cuban airliner to set down on Florida soil so that he and his armed coplotters can find asylum.

All day, any day at Miami International Airport hundreds of anxious Latins press their noses against the U.S. customs window searching for relatives among the Cuban "tourists" on the other side of the glass.

Somehow more than 1,000 refugees each week make their ways across the 90 miles of sea that separate Castro's land from America.

ALARMED

Thus today an alarmed south Florida finds itself an unwitting—and sometimes unwilling—bastion of freedom for more than 30,000 defectors from Castro's Cuba.

There is no letup in sight.

Situated at the gateway to South America where governments change more often than Chicago weather, this city of Miami in Dade County is used to being the Casablanca of the Caribbean for revolution-minded Latins.

Yet the Cuban problem this community faces today is so different and has ramifications so potentially explosive that the town's people despair at handling it themselves.

Compassionately concerned for the jobless, homeless, hungry Cubans among them, worried over possible international repercussions from the "drillers and dreamers", disturbed at the back street violence, and frankly anxious about the effect these suddenly impoverished people may have on their own unemployed millions, Miami has at last appealed for federal help.

Last week President Eisenhower responded by appointing a New York attorney, Tracy Vorhees, to help them around the booby traps. Vorhees served as the President's aide in assisting refugees after the 1956 revolt in Hungary.

INCREASED

The Cuban influx has increased with each month of Castro's reign. The refugees have moved in with friends and relatives along the two main arteries, Miami Avenue and Flagler Street, which run across the center of town. At first the resident Cubans were able to absorb their disillusioned countrymen. Now the refugee population in Miami has reached the overflowing point.

Even with a young Cuban girl introducing me, this reporter made a spot check of crowded housing in the area. In one noisy three-room cottage were 17 hungry, frightened Latins, two children and a blind, deaf old man among them. A former engineer, now a sand truck operator was supporting them with his $37.50 a week.

In a small apartment down the street 10 children, all under four years old, hollered and bounced gleefully over the cots which took up all but a tiny aisleway in the living room. Seven were house guests, waiting for Cuban parents to claim them some day.

The immigration office here, directed by Ed Ahrens, admittedly turns its head to more violations than an audience at a tennis game because "the Cubans have to eat." In Havana, the U. S. Embassy issues 400 visitor's visas daily. Tourists in this country are technically not eligible to work. But how can they exist on nothing more than the $5 they are permitted to take out of Cuba?

A tourist therefore becomes a parolee with little chance of being deported once he finds a job.

IF he finds a job.

At this time of year jobs are not plentiful, even for the local labor force. But Cuban refugees often do not speak English. Nor are the professional men licensed here to pursue their usual careers. Consequently, Cuban surgeons are happy to work as hospital orderlies. Dentists will shovel sand. Women whose hands have never touched dishwater gladly hire out as maids. Anything, just to get by.

Carmen Rodriguez is an English teacher whose husband was a pilot for the Cuban forces for 17 years. Their house was searched by the G2, secret police, on Sept. 29. A few days later their son, a high school youth, was ordered into the militia. The family decided to flee.

"I sold my gold bracelet to buy my husband some clothes, he was so ragged and wet when he got here. We just had eight dollars left when God answered our prayers. A Cuban friend called and offered my husband a job as a handyman at a hotel."

Thanks to the Cuban revolution Miami's pawn shops are doing a brisk business, reports Lt. R.W. Emerson, chief of street detail for the city's police department. Big diamonds are such a drag on the local jewelry market that a shrewd shopper can pick up $200 stones for $35.

A once-wealthy sugar baron said it cost him $22,500 to accumulate $4,000 in the United States. Having rented an apartment for his wife and son in Miami, he was on his way back to Cuba "to fight Castro when the time comes."

But 75 per cent of the Cubans in Miami are without any funds, without any food and without prospects of a job, points out Ira Willard, chairman of the local citizen's committee organized to study the emergency.

What will happen tomorrow to the family of the defected meat packing house operator, his tearful wife, or their wide-eyed, thumb sucking tots?

They live with a brother-in-law but the landlady is complaining about the doubling up. Food was in the refrigerator then. But they no longer had money for carfare.

Embarrassed, proud Cubans hesitantly line up twice daily at the soup kitchen set up by Brother David and his fellow brothers of the Order of Good Shepherd.

Job-hunting Cuban mothers bring their children to the nursery school set up by Sister Miriam who lived in Cuba 14 years and six Dominican nuns. In between hours, the nuns, the brothers, and Father Viscarra pester wealthy Latin Americans to come up with money and job leads.

This is all a part of the Catholic Latin Center's stepped-up program, which started a year ago. Nor have Protestant groups ignored the tragic situation. An interdenominational organization conducts kindergartens and teaches English to eager, overflowing classes.

But Dr. Harold Buhel, Methodist minister, and spokesman for the group, is convinced that the Cuban problem is far too big for the few of them.

Thus far the chief cost of the refugee problem to Miami citizens has not been in dollars for welfare, but dollars for education and extra policing.

Because Dade County schools cannot collect the $50 per semester tuition fee usually charged for out-of-county pupils, the system loses about $84,000 in educating the 2,124 youngsters with Cuban tourist visas.

In heavily populated Latin areas schools conduct orientation classes for three hours each day. "Then we put the Cuban boys and girls in with the English-speaking ones," says Robert Turner, assistant superintendent. "We fight against segregating them. We want them to take up American way, the American language."

A woman who looked too old for her age worried about what a penniless refugee does when her husband needs hospital care. This reporter sat with her at the bedside of a once-prominent Cuban dentist who had just suffered a stroke. The nervous wife fumbled her rosary as she explained to Jackson Memorial Hospital authorities that the $40 a week wage of their 18-year-old son was all the money they had. The Dade County Hospital could not offer charity, but it did offer terms—long, long terms.

Some Castro fugitives are aided in their getaway, and otherwise helped, by the underground — an efficient network of agents and informers stretching from Havana to Miami. It acts as a counterpart to the Cuban government's own secret service system.

There hasn't been anything like this in the United States since the Civil War.

Besides passing information and people from one country to another, the underground, through antirevolutionary Cubans keep the FBI informed about the whereabouts and activities of Castro sympathizers in Miami.

The FBI's role in Miami is to find the pulse of the intrigue and keep Uncle Sam informed. Preventing mayhem among the violently opposed Cuban groups, tracking down ammunition thieves, etc., falls to Miami's harried police department. So big has this job become in recent months that City Manager Melvin Reese ordered a six-day-week for policemen, adding another $52,000 a year to the tax-payers' bill.

Cases of Castro men's revenge against Cuban defectors have fallen off recently. But violence hasn't. Raiders claim that Fidel sympathizers are laying low in self defense. The raiders are a group of teen-age Cubans and adventurous American pals who are busily intimidating them. They happily boast of breaking into homes, smashing the bearded Cuban hero's picture and beating up his supporters in the back streets.

Almost no Cuban refugee is neutral now. More than 60 different political factions have organized among them, but uniting has been nearly impossible, says one man who has tried. Each has diversified political ideas for Cuba which swing full circle from extreme right to extreme left with little room for compromise.

THE MELLOW BEAUTY of the fall scene, with myriads of colorful leaves finding repose in area yards and countrysides, seems to be lost to the eyes of a youngster with a rake in his hands and a command from Mom to do a thorough cleanup job. Sometimes it appears that a yard with only one tree, or no trees, gets a more abundant shuffle of the shifting autumn cargo, than yards that have several of the leafy sentinels in them.

Reject Ship Design Makes Comeback, History

Editor's Note—The Monitor and the Merrimac fought to an apparent draw in the first battle between ironclad ships in 1862, but in 1884 a House committee decided the Merrimac had the best of it. And who built the Merrimac for the South? A man who had offered his design to the government in Washington 18 years before and been turned down.

By GEORGE J. BARMANN
of The Cleveland Plain Dealer

CLEVELAND (AP)—Long ago these two fierce monsters of wet iron, the Monitor and the Merrimac, exchanged the wrathful blows and dents that made their famous 3½ hour Civil War battle a day to remember.

Every schoolboy (North knows the Monitor won, and every schoolboy (South) is sure the Merrimac had the better of it. Whichever way it was, the wicked-looking new ironclads forever changed the war of navies.

Steam and balls they puffed at each other in the roiled waters of Hampton Roads, Va., in the year of 1862. Maneuvering, hauling off, firing, turning moving at close range once even colliding, they made history.

Now that that war is almost 100 years with us, the memories that used to be fear and hope have shrunk to only fond united pride of the daring men who manned and sailed those alliterative ships.

'CHEESE BOX'

The Monitor, the "Chesse box on raft" as she was called, came from a prosperous family. But what about the Merrimac? She had to come from the thin-strung resources of the South.

John L. Porter (1813-1893) was a naval constructor. He worked for the federal government. He offered U.S. officials an iron vessel, but they were disinterested. So one day he gave it to the South he served.

Philip W. Porter, Sunday and feature editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, and columnist, writer, reader and Virginian, was thinking of his great-grandfather and of those days as he glanced at a letter the naval man wrote in 1861:

"I have converted the Merrimac into a floating battery, and she is said to be the eighth wonder of the world. No nation has ever attempted anything of the kind on so large a scale. She is all done to putting on the iron, which we are now at work on."

This is a letter to his son-in-law, John S. Moore, in Alabama. It contains sketches of the iron shielding and specifications and tells how an idea was put to sea. The original letter is in the Confederate Museum at Richmond.

John Porter and his work on the Merrimac are the subject of much discussion and comment, quite naturally, in many volumes. But the memoirs of Martha Buxton Porter Brent—the constructor's daughter, tell, with warmth, of John L. Porter.

"It was while in Pittsburgh," she wrote, "that my father offered to the government his plan of an ironclad warship, but they apparently thought little of the invention, or thought it would never be needed."

That was in the early 1840s. Porter later went as constructor to the Norfolk Navy Yard and then to the yard at Pensacola, Fla. The war was approaching, and Porter had to leave Pensacola. He came to Washington and finally was back at the yard in Norfolk.

Then it was April, 1861.

"Early in the next month, my father received a letter from Mr. Mallory, secretary of the new Navy, written from Montgomery, Ala., where the newly formed government had its capital," Mrs. Brent wrote.

"Mr. Mallory had been U. S. senator from Florida and had known my father in his official capacity as a constructor at Pensacola, and he wished him to come to Montgomery with the view of entering th Confederate navy, which he was trying to form.

"After the federals evacuated Norfolk Navy Yard, my father was stationed there by the Confederate government. Then he found an opportunity to put into use an old idea of his own. So now he took the plans he had kept in his sketchbook, where they had lain for 18 years or so, and he made a model and offered it to the secretary."

APPROVED

The model was approved, and it was suggested using the remains of the frigate Merrimac. The federal ship had been burned to the water's edge by the North and sunk in th Gosport Navy Yard. Speed was necessary. It would take too long to build one.

The Merrimac was raised and taken to dry dock to receive her iron coating. Would she float? Many said no. Porter said yes.

She floated. She was renamed the Virginia.

The Merrimac-Virginia fought the Monitor, built in the winter of 1861-1862, to a draw on March 9, 1862, in the roadstead.

Both vessels retired from the scene. Both had been hit many times, the heavy armor plates dented. Each side asserted the other had suffered the worst blows. Certainly, the ironclads created a new era in the naval history of the world. The era of wooden ships was over.

Since this is the story of Porter's Merrimac, 262 feet, 9 inches long, drawing 22 feet when ready for action, it must end with a report on the famous Hampton Roads engagement of the spring of 1862 from the Committee on Naval Affairs of the House of Representatives in Washington, dated May 31, 1884:

EVIDENCE WEIGHED

"All of the evidence leads us clearly to the opinion that the Monitor, after her engagement with the Merrimac on the 9th of March, declined again to engage her, though offered the opportunity, and that so great doubt existed with the United States naval and military authorities as to the power of the Monitor to meet successfully the Merrimac that orders were given to her commander by the President not to bring on an engagement. It also appears that the Merrimac, so far from being seriously injured, was enabled after the engagement to protect the approaches to Norfolk and Richmond until after the evacuation.

"We assume that the proof shows that the only serious damage sustained by the Merrimac was inflicted by the Cumberland and that the Merrimac went back to Norfolk, where her adversaries were out of her reach, and, they being in shoal water and she, on account of the great depth of water which she drew, unable to attack them, went into dock for repairs and again came out and offered battle, which was refused."

John L. Porter's ironclad had done well.

Caribbean Exodus Miami Headache

Editor's Note — The pawnshops are doing a thriving business, as do most charitable institutions in Miami. But the refugees from Castro's Cuba keep pouring in and the headaches multiply. Here's the stark, human story of this Caribbean exodus.

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Almost any night a small craft slips through the darkness into the Florida Straits while its Cuban occupants pray that an American ship will pick them up.

Occasionally a desperate defector orders a Cuban airliner to set down on Florida soil so that he and his armed coplotters can find asylum.

All day, any day at Miami International Airport hundreds of anxious Latins press their noses against the U.S. customs window searching for relatives among the Cuban "tourists" on the other side of the glass.

Somehow more than 1,000 refugees each week make their ways across the 90 miles of sea that separate Castro's land from America.

ALARMED

Thus today an alarmed south Florida finds itself an unwitting—and sometimes unwilling—bastion of freedom for more than 30,000 defectors from Castro's Cuba.

There is no letup in sight.

Situated at the gateway to South America where governments change more often than Chicago weather, this city of Miami in Dade County is used to being the Casablanca of the Caribbean for revolution-minded Latins.

Yet the Cuban problem this community faces today is so different and has ramifications so potentially explosive that the town's people despair at handling it themselves.

Compassionately concerned for the jobless, homeless, hungry Cubans among them, worried over possible international repercussions from the "drillers and dreamers", disturbed at the back street violence, and frankly anxious about the effect these suddenly impoverished people may have on their own unemployed citizens, Miami has at last appealed for federal help.

Last week President Eisenhower responded by appointing a New York attorney, Tracy Vorhees, to guide them around the booby traps. Vorhees served as the President's aide in assisting refugees after the 1956 revolt in Hungary.

INCREASED

The Cuban influx has increased with each month of Castro's regime. The refugees have moved in with friends and relatives along the two main arteries, Miami Avenue and Flagler Street, which crisscross the center of town. At first the resident Cubans were able to absorb their disillusioned countrymen. Now the refugee population in Miami has reached the exploding point.

With a young Cuban girl introducing me, this reporter made a spot check of crowded housing in the area. In one noisy three-room cottage were 17 hungry, frightened Latins, two children and a blind, deaf old man among them. A former engineer, now a sand truck operator was supporting them with his $37.50 a week.

In a small apartment down the street 10 children, all under four years old, hollered and bounced gleefully over the cots which took up all but a tiny aisleway in the living room. Seven were house guests, waiting for Cuban parents to claim them some day.

The immigration office here, directed by Ed Ahrens, admittedly turns its head to more violations than an audience at a tennis game because "the Cubans have to eat." In Havana, the U. S. Embassy issues 400 visitor's visas daily. Tourists in this country are technically not eligible to work. But how can they exist on nothing more than the $5 they are permitted to take out of Cuba?

A tourist therefore becomes a parolee with little chance of being deported once he finds a job.

IF he finds a job.

At this time of year jobs are not plentiful, even for the local labor force. But Cuban refugees often do not speak English. Nor are the professional men licensed here to pursue their usual careers. Consequently, Cuban surgeons are happy to work as hospital orderlies. Dentists will shovel sand. Women whose hands have never touched dishwater gladly hire out as maids. Anything, just to get by.

Carmen Rodriguez is an English teacher whose husband was a pilot for the Cuban forces for 17 years. Their house was searched by the G2, secret police, on Sept. 29. A few days later their son, a high school youth, was ordered into the militia. The family decided to flee.

"I sold my gold bracelet to buy my husband some clothes, he was so ragged and wet when he got here. We just had eight dollars left when God answered our prayers. A Cuban friend called and offered my husband a job as a handyman at a hotel."

Thanks to the Cuban revolution Miami's pawn shops are doing a brisk business, reports Lt. R.W. Emerson, chief of street detail for the city's police department. Big diamonds are such a drag on the local jewelry market that a shrewd shopper can pick up $200 stones for $35.

A once-wealthy sugar baron said it cost him $22,500 to accumulate $4,000 in the United States. Having rented an apartment for his wife and son in Miami, he was on his way back to Cuba "to fight Castro when the time comes."

But 75 per cent of the Cubans in Miami are without any funds, without any food and without prospects of a job, points out Ira Willard, chairman of the local citizen's committee organized to study the emergency.

What will happen tomorrow to the family of the defected meat packing house operator, his tearful wife, or their wide-eyed, thumb sucking tots?

They live with a brother-in-law but the landlady is complaining about the doubling up. Food was in the refrigerator then. But they no longer had money for carfare.

Embarrassed, proud Cubans hesitantly line up twice daily at the soup kitchen set up by Brother David and his fellow brothers of the Order of Good Shepherd.

Job-hunting Cuban mothers bring their children to the nursery school set up by Sister Miriam who lived in Cuba 14 years and six Dominican nuns. In between hours, the nuns, the brothers, and Father Viscarra pester wealthy Latin Americans to come up with money and job leads.

This is all a part of the Catholic Latin Center's stepped-up program, which started a year ago. Nor have Protestant groups ignored the tragic situation. An interdenominational organization conducts kindergartens and teaches English to eager, overflowing classes.

But Dr. Harold Buhel, Methodist minister, and spokesman for the group, is convinced that the Cuban problem is far too big for the few of them.

Thus far the chief cost of the refugee problem to Miami citizens has not been in dollars for welfare, but dollars for education and extra policing.

Because Dade County schools cannot collect the $50 per semester tuition fee usually charged for out-of-county pupils, the system loses about $84,000 in educating the 2,124 youngsters with Cuban tourist visas.

In heavily populated Latin areas schools conduct orientation classes for three hours each day. "Then we put the Cuban boys and girls in with the English-speaking ones," says Robert Turner, assistant superintendent. "We fight against segregating them. We want them to take up American way, the Amercan language."

A woman who looked too old for her age worried about what a penniless refugee does when her husband needs hospital care. This reporter sat with her at the bedside of a once-prominent Cuban dentist who had just suffered a stroke. The nervous wife fumbled her rosary as she explained to Jackson Memorial Hospital authorities that the $40 a week wage of their 18-year-old son was all the money they had. The Dade County Hospital could not offer charity, but it did offer terms—long, long terms.

Some Castro fugitives are aided in their getaway, and otherwise helped, by the underground — an efficient network of agents and informers stretching from Havana to Miami. It acts as a counterpart to the Cuban government's own secret service system.

There hasn't been anything like this in the United States since the Civil War.

Besides passing information and people from one country to another, the underground, through antirevolutionary Cubans keep the FBI informed about the whereabouts and activities of Castro sympathizers in Miami.

The FBI's role in Miami is to find the pulse of the intrigue and keep Uncle Sam informed. Preventing mayhem among the violently opposed Cuban groups, tracking down ammunition thieves, etc., falls to Miami's harried police department. So big has this job become in recent months that City Manager Melvin Reese ordered a six-day-week for policemen, adding another $52,000 a year to the tax-payers' bill.

Cases of Castro men's revenge against Cuban defectors have fallen off recently. But violence hasn't. Raiders claim that Fidel sympathizers are laying low in self defense. The raiders are a group of teen-age Cubans and adventurous American pals who are busily intimidating them. They happily boast of breaking into homes, smashing the bearded Cuban hero's picture and beating up his supporters in the back streets.

Almost no Cuban refugee is neutral now. More than 60 different political factions have organized among them, but uniting has been nearly impossible, says one man who has tried. Each has diversified political ideas for Cuba which swing full circle from extreme right to extreme left with little room for compromise.

THE MELLOW BEAUTY of the fall scene, with myriads of colorful leaves finding repose in area yards and countrysides, seems to be lost to the eyes of a youngster with a rake in his hands and a command from Mom to do a thorough cleanup job. Sometimes it appears that a yard with only one tree, or no trees, gets a more abundant shuffle of the shifting autumn cargo, than yards that have several of the leafy sentinels in them.

Reject Ship Design Makes Comeback, History

Editor's Note—The Monitor and the Merrimac fought to an apparent draw in the first battle between ironclad ships in 1862, but in 1884 a House committee decided the Merrimac had the best of it. And who built the Merrimac for the South? A man who had offered his design to the government in Washington 18 years before and been turned down.

By GEORGE J. BARMANN
of The Cleveland Plain Dealer

CLEVELAND (AP)—Long ago those two fierce monsters of wet iron, the Monitor and the Merrimac, exchanged the wrathful shots and dents that made their famous 3½ hour Civil War battle a sea day to remember.

Every schoolboy (North knows that the Monitor won, and every schoolboy (South) is sure the Merrimac had the better of it. Whichever way it was, the wicked-looking, low ironclads forever changed the war of navies.

Steam and balls they puffed at each other in the roiled waters of Hampton Roads, Va., in the spring of 1862. Maneuvering, hauling off, firing, turning moving at close range once even colliding, they made history.

Now that that war is almost 100 years with us, the memories that used to be fear and hope have changed to only fond united thoughts of the daring men who built and sailed those alliterative ships.

'CHEESE BOX'

Th Monitor, the "Chesse box on a raft," as she was called, came from a prosperous family. But what about the Merrimac? She had to come from the thin-strung resources of the South.

John L. Porter (1813-1893) was a naval constructor. He worked for the federal government. He offered U.S. officials an iron vessel, but they were disinterested. So one day he gave it to the South he served.

John L. Porter's ironclad had done well.

Majority Is Helpless

Under our amazing presidential election system we find four things so flagrantly in violation of majority rule that it seems inconceivable that the system has prevailed so long.

In these four astounding violations we find that:

1. Thirty-nine states may vote against the man who is elected president, with only 11 states voting for him.

2. The man who is elected president may receive less than half of the total votes.

3. The president may be elected both by less than half of the total number of votes and far less than half of the states.

4. Votes cast by minorities in any state do not count for anything, even though those minorities added to majorities in other states might mean the other candidate would receive both the majority of popular votes and the highest vote of most of the states.

Electoral votes are based on the number of house seats any given state has in congress. House seats have just been reapportioned on the basis of the 1960 federal census of population.

It is interesting to note that 11 states have enough electoral votes to elect a president, no matter what the other 29 states may do. In the 1964 presidential election these 11 states will have a total of 268 electoral votes, which gives them a bare majority out of the 535 national total.

The 11 states which hold the presidential election in the hollow of their hands and the number of electoral votes they have are: New York, 43; California, 40; Pennsylvania, 29; Illinois, 26; Texas, 25; Michigan, 21; New Jersey, 17; Massachusetts, 14; Florida, 14, and either Indiana or North Corolina 13.

Big cities thus have moved into the position of rulers of the nation. Medium-sized and smaller cities and towns and the rural areas have lost their voices because the massed population in a few states control the election of our national president.

Needless to say, this situation puts the election of our highest executive in the hands of the so-called minorities and the foreign elements, leaving the farmers, the long-time white Protestants families of the nation and the smaller cities and the towns impotent at the ballot boxes.

In New York some of the huge burroughs, including the once-elite Manhattan, have more Negro and Puerto Rican votes alone than all the others combined. This does not include the huge foreign element which usually votes with the largely-illiterate Negroes and Puerto Ricans. Thus we have New York's 43 electoral votes determined by the most illiterate and most irresponsible elements in that state.

The same is true of some of the other states, including Illinois, where the Negro population is tremendous, having virtually taken over the city of Chicago; Michigan, where foreign elements and Negroes have been attracted by the big automobile manufacturing industries, with labor unions there demanding and getting equal jobs for Negroes, and in California, the state with the most restless, roving and polyglot population in the world, with the exception of New York.

By giving all the electoral votes of a state to the candidate who gets a margin of victory, no matter how small, we have taken the election of a president away from the so-called "most solid citizens of the nation" and have turned it over to Negroes, foreign elements and so-called "minority" blocs.

As the people study the situation, the demand grows for a change in which the number of electoral votes going to each candidate from each state would be in proportion to the number of votes he received in that state.

One disadvantage about seeking any change is that the number of congressmen in the 11 states now capable of controlling the election is so great. However, these congressmen at least are not blocvoted, each vote counting no matter what state the representative is from.

We know that before the electoral system can be changed by constitutional amendment there must be tremendous public sentiment in favor of it. The present situation may develop that sentiment.

Labors Welfare Fund

Almost anyone who looks at his regular pay check and sees the amount taken out each time for social security would conclude that Uncle Sam surely must be far ahead of anyone or anything else in the business of social security. Figures show he would be wrong, because the American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations unions are outdoing the federal government.

More than $42 billion is in the various funds of the A.F.L.-C.I.O. unions. About $2 billion of this is in strike funds, general funds and the like, with vast sums available for political pushes like the recent presidential campaign. Some $40 million is in welfare funds, an amount double the reserve fund of the national social security system.

Now the A.F.L.-C.I.O. is holding conferences to consider how all this money should be invested. Most of it is in government bonds.

Unions are taking two positions in regard to their investments that are contrary to what they recommend as national policy.

First, they say that their money should be re-invested because government bonds produce to little. Yet, in their political pronouncements the unions have contended that the government was guilty of paying interest rates that are "too high."

Interest on government obligations has been inching up generally for some time. The reason is that the rates must be high enough to attract and hold investments, such as the unions' billions. Any interest rate that won't do that is too low to accomplish the desired purpose.

The second change in stance is a little more subtle. Unions have contended that the government is responsible for full employment and that government spending is the way to force employment. Yet, in determining to pull their money out of government investment and making it available to the capital market, they stress that this influx of capital will make more jobs in private enterprise.

Is it possible that the unions at last are seeing the light and are turning to private industry, instead of socialism, to lead this country along the road to prosperity?

Albany, capital of New York, was named in honor of the Duke of York and Albany when New Netherlands was transferred to England. The city was chartered in 1686.

The city of Cleveland was founded in 1796 by General Moses Cleveland, head supervisor for the Connecticut Land Co. Land in northern Ohio then cost 40 cents an acre; now an acre downtown Cleveland is worth more than $2 million.

Kennedy Will Seek Changes

Proposes To Revise Set-Ups And Activities of Many Regulatory Agencies, Possibly Merging Some

President-elect John F. Kennedy sometime next year plans to suggest to Congress some major changes in the set-ups and activities of the many federal regulatory agencies, possibly even recommending establishment of one commission to regulate all interstate transportation operations.

This latter proposal, if made, would mean the abolition of the Interstate Commerce Commission, first of all the regulatory bodies established and with authority over interstate rail, bus and truck operations; the Civil Aeronautics Board, with authority over routes and rates of the airlines; the Federal Maritime Board, with somewhat similar regulation over shipping.

Whether such a drastic recommendation will be made by Kennedy, as well as potential changes in the many other independent regulatory commissions and agencies which have been created by Congress over the years, may depend on the report to be made by him sometime early in 1961 by James M. Landis, Harvard dean and one of the early brain-trusters of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt and later chairman of the CAB for a time.

But whatever changes Landis proposes and Kennedy recommends will have rough sledding in Congress, even though for the first time in eight years the President and the Congress will be of the same party.

Despite the fact that several of the regulatory agencies have come under Congressional fire during the past two years, Congress is extremely jealous of any attempt by the White House to interfere or try to assume control over their activities.

Congress takes the position that these agencies, while designated as independent, are primarily the creatures of the national legislative body and if they have any answering to do to anyone, it is to the Congress and not the President.

Almost invariably, when a newly appointed member to one of these commissions or agencies is questioned by a Senate committee prior to action upon his confirmation, one of the first questions asked is:

"Do you feel that you could withhold information from a member of Congress or a Congressional committee even though you owe your appointment to the President?" And invariably the answer is "no" with the further explanation by the appointee that he realizes the commission is a creature of Congress, and not a party of the executive branch of the government.

Nevertheless, Kennedy, due to dates and the refusal of the Democratic controlled Senate this year to confirm several nominations submitted by President Dwight D. Eisenhower, without the necessity of new legislation will be able to name controlling members of several important commissions during his first year in office.

Best example is the Federal Power Commission, which has been and will continue to be involved for sometime in the controversial issue of price regulations of natural gas at the production level.

In this case, Kennedy will not only be able to appoint two new members to the five man commission almost immediately after he takes office, but can name a third new one next June if he so desires.

When two vacancies concurred this year, President Eisenhower appointed Paul A. Sweeney of Maryland and Thomas J. Donegan of New York to fill them. When, through the apparent intervention of Senate Majority Leader and Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson, no action was taken by the Senate on their confirmation, Sweeney accepted a recess appointment but Donegan did not even do that. The five-year term of another member, Arthur Kline, expires June 22, 1961. Under the law only three of the five members can be of the same party, but this will give Kennedy plenty of leeway.

Boating Booms

Motorized Launch Reasonable Luxury For Mid-Income Family

In the past few years pleasure boating has been booming and ownership of a motorized launch has become a reasonable luxury for middle-income families. Behind this burgeoning growth is a story of efforts to curb the sharp operator and keep the industry healthy.

Before leaving on vacation I interviewed a select group of America's leading industrialists on problems of real pocketbook interest to many of you. Today's interview is with FRED L. HEWITT, JR., PRESIDENT OF THE NATIONAL ASSN. OF ENGINE AND BOAT MANUFACTURERS AND ALSO PRESIDENT OF TWO LARGE BOAT BUILDING COMPANIES.

Q., PORTER: To what extent have the swindlers and "fast money" boys entered the pleasure boating industry?

A., HEWITT: The pleasure boating industry is currently in the midst of a crucial phase and, in a very real sense, is batting for its life.

Before World War II, boat builders generally operated in the same fashion as Noah: specifications were laid down by the buyer and the craft was built to house so many people and so many facilities.

Among these builders there existed a handful of pioneers who believed in the future of stock boats — craft built in quantity to the same specifications, and consequently less expensive to construct. Their faith burst into the great industry boom of the last decade.

Enter the profiteer. Every industry has them, every industry fights them, and boating is no exception. The battlefield is at the point of sale to the consumer, everywhere. The weapons are numerous: unscrupulous advertising and publicity, premiums, and price-cutting, brought to such extremes that the honest merchant must think more than twice before he takes on a line.

Fraudulent elements operate basically the same in all industries, but in boating the specific techniques used are doubly vicious because of the nature of the product. It is tremendous folly to compare buying a boat with buying a refrigerator, to depend solely on warrantics or guarantees. There is no recourse in Fiddler's Green.

Our objective is to prevent anyone in the trade from producing and selling unsinkable boats that sink; maintenance - free hulls that need maintenance; 15-foot-long boats that are less than 15 feet; mahogany craft that are not mahogany — the list goes on. Get rich and get out is sometimes considered sole portfolio, and let the devil take the hindmost, usually the public and always the honest dealer.

Q., PORTER: What are you doing to stop the swindlers?

A., HEWITT: We struck the first blow against them a few weeks ago in Chicago. There, the Federal Trade Commission held a trade practice conference initiated at our request, to work out reasonable rules based on existing law for the advertising and sale of pleasure boats. In January the public will get an opportunity to be heard on the subject at a special hearing during the National Motor Boat Show in New York.

The results of these industry efforts will deprive the price magicians of their illegal sales pitches, their near truths and exaggerations, without which their dubious output cannot survive.

You might say since many household appliances can be bought under list price, why not boats? Why shouldn't the consumer save money?

The answer is that a boat is an unusual product, produced by unusual manufacturers. A great deal of design, care and quality control must go into a good boat, and no matter what anyone may say, it requires a certain amount of experience and knowledge to build one.

The dealer selling the line of a reputable manufacturer knows that the craft will perform to its specifications. He can thus advise a new owner on the proper use of his boat, its limitations, and the basic requirements for safe and sane operation.

Too many of the growing number of off-boat dealers know little or nothing about boating. They sell overpowered units, unsuitable hulls and inadequate safety equipment. Too often the results are tragic and magnify the over-emphasis which already has been placed on boating accidents.

A., HEWITT: Boating fatalities are not increasing as some hysterical and uninformed writers would lead us to believe. Attention is being focused on the accident rate because for the first time accurate statistics are being compiled by the United States Coast Guard under the new federal and state boat registration laws. The facts are far from alarming and indicate that the accident rate actually is decreasing in view of the tremendous growth in ownership of boats.

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

The letter signed by "Alan Shivers" and published last Sunday in the "Views of Our Readers" department of the Morning World does not merit the dignity of a response by Congressman Passman, whose exceptionally commendable record of public service through 14 years as a member of Congress — and as a citizen of Louisiana, the South, and America — is well known and strongly approved by the overwhelming majority of the people of this District. In Washington, as well as here at home, our veteran U. S. Representative is recognized — and respected — as one of the staunchest advocates and most effective fighters in Congress in the cause of Federal fiscal solvency, a balanced budget, THE PROTECTION OF STATES' RIGHTS, LIMITATION OF CENTRAL GOVERNMENT AUTHORITY, and a realistic foreign policy which protects our Nation's own self interests, first of all, and also meets international responsibilities. The record on these and other important points is crystal - clear and irrefutable, so there is no need for me to comment further relative to those facts. I believe, however, that you and your readers will be interested in the information that diligent effort on my part to find a person named "Alan Shivers," of "Ferry Road," West Monroe — the identification which was given by last week's letter - writer in his crude attempt at misrepresentation — was unsuccessful.

I addressed a letter to "Mr. Alan Shivers, Ferry Road, West Monroe," and it was returned by the postoffice marked "Unknown," with these additional notations: "Unknown, Postmaster; Unknown, General Delivery; Unknown, Box Section; Unknown, Routs 1, 2, 3, 4; Unknown, Clerks 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 6 8 9 10 11." Next I called the only "Shivers" number listed in the monroe - West Monroe telephone directory, and the lady there with whom I spoke had never head of an "Alan Shivers" in the Twin Cities area. The latest edition of the Monroe - West Monroe City Directory does not list an "Alan Shivers." I asked a West Monroe police officer and a Ouachita parish sheriff's officer about an "Alan Shivers" — any "Alan Shivers" in this community — and neither had ever heard of such a person. Later, an automobile ride along the White's Ferry Road (I was unable to locate a "Ferry Road," West Monroe, including stops and conversations with several residents, yielded no information as to "Alan Shivers." So, obviously there is no conclusion to be reached but that the letter-writing "Alan Shivers" of last Sunday's paper is a fictitious character, an anonymous nonentity.

The "Public Forum" departments of our newspapers serve an especially useful purpose, and I hope that our citizens will always have opportunity to express their views therein, pro and con, on issues of interest and importance. It is certainly regrettable, though, that there are some people — although, fortunately, relatively few of them — who abuse this privilege, by such means, for example, hiding behind a pseudonym and then deliberately proceeding to engage in misrepresentation. But, those people and their expressions usually receive of course, just about the type of reception they deserve: Contempt for their petty viciousness or, as the case may be, pity for their warped minds and personalities.

Having formerly been a working newspaperman for some 22 years, I understand the problems with which you have to deal in handling your "Letters" department, and my sympathies are with you in the troubles which are yours as a result of vindictive or selfish efforts on the part of a very small minority of the people. But, along with my sympathies you also have my commendation for the fine job you are doing, as well as for the constructive contributions our citizens — on the whole — are making, and my best wishes that this department of the News-Star—World will continue to develop — and increase in interest and service to the people of Northeast Louisiana.

Huttig, Ark.

To the Editor:

I want to protest, and vigorously, the inference contained in your cutlines of Sunday, November 13th, under a picture of Huttig's new Post Office, that "poor mail service" was all that was obtainable at this new, modern facility.

Not only did your ill-advised news-story arouse the ire of the undersigned, who is Postmaster at this office, but the two women to whom your reporter talked, as well. They immediately identified themselves to me as the source of your photographer's information, and were highly critical of the manner in which he twisted their statements to reflect on service at this office. One of the women stated that she told the reporter that first class mail dispatched from your city, as well as from Shreveport, generally required two to three days to reach this office, and went on to emphasize that she and the other party DID NOT complain of poor service at this office.

You can readily appreciate that we as postal personnel, cannot effect delivery of mail at this office until it arrives here, and until it does, constitutes a fact over which we have no control. If any complaints are to be made about the manner in which the postmaster here, or anywhere else for that matter, handles his local mail, they should be lodged with the proper inspector in charge, who will, I can assure you, institute corrective measures, and at once.

Doesn't it seem odd to you that one of your news reporters - photographers, would journey all the way up here to take a snap shot of our new post office and then limit his story to derogatory statements from information at the hands of two women? Why didn't he interview some business men, and-or at least, more patrons? And while here, why not pay a social call on postal personnel, any one of whom would have gladly given information that would no doubt led to increased circulation, which to me would have been the obvious reason for his visit.

I am proud of my position as postmaster, and have striven continually to render the highest type of srvice, to which I think my people are entitled, hence the justified indignation registered through the medium of this letter.

To the Editor:

In Sunday's issue, November 27th, there was a column on Integration Views by F. L. Wright, Monroe, La., stating that we of the South (should abide by the ruling of Federal Judge Wright) and go along with the program of token integration of the first grades. I wonder if F. L. Wright's daughter that is attending school is ahead of the first grade proposal of integration. He stated he was a yankee and we would probably resent his views on the subject.

I also wonder would he want his daughter to start in the first grade with the Negro children and be associated with them on through school.

Sure we resent his views or anyone else' on integration that contradicts our Southern way of life. We have schools for the Negroes and I think that interference from yankees and anyone else that tries to break down the Southern way of life is wrong.

I think if F. L. Wright wants the Negro children to attend the same school as his daughter he would move to the North or the yankee country and not try to help tear down peace and goodwill in the South that we Southerners are trying so hard to keep clean and respectful to both races.

As for the Federal Judges they are too old to have children in the first grade thereby no causing too much personal difference to their views or cares

In my opinion, F. L. Wright o anyone that takes the stand a he on integration is trying t help some foreign force or probably paid by N.A.A.C.P. backers to express his or he views in the newspapers to tr to tear down all the things th both races hold dear to old family traditions.

Majority Is Helpless

Under our amazing presidential election system we find four things so flagrantly in violation of majority rule that it seems inconceivable that the system has prevailed so long.

In these four astounding violations we find that:

1. Thirty-nine states may vote against the man who is elected president, with only 11 states voting for him.

2. The man who is elected president may receive less than half of the total votes.

3. The president may be elected both by less than half of the total number of votes and far less than half of the states.

4. Votes cast by minorities in any state do not count for anything, even though those minorities added to majorities in other states might mean the other candidate would receive both the majority of popular votes and the highest vote of most of the states.

Electoral votes are based on the number of house seats any given state has in congress. House seats have just been reapportioned on the basis of the 1960 federal census of population.

It is interesting to note that 11 states have enough electoral votes to elect a president, no matter what the other 29 states may do. In the 1964 presidential election these 11 states will have a total of 268 electoral votes, which gives them a bare majority out of the 535 national total.

The 11 states which hold the presidential election in the hollow of their hands and the number of electoral votes they have are: New York, 43; California, 40; Pennsylvania, 29; Illinois, 26; Texas, 25; Michigan, 21; New Jersey, 17; Massachusetts, 14; Florida,14, and either Indiana or North Corolina 13.

Big cities thus have moved into the position of rulers of the nation. Medium-sized and smaller cities and towns and the rural areas have lost their voices because the massed population in a few states control the election of our national president.

Needless to say, this situation puts the election of our highest executive in the hands of the so-called minorities and the foreign elements, leaving the farmers, the long-time white Protestants families of the nation and the smaller cities and the towns impotent at the ballot boxes.

In New York some of the huge burroughs, including the once-elite Manhattan, have more Negro and Puerto Rican votes alone than all the others combined. This does not include the huge foreign element which usually votes with the largely-illiterate Negroes and Puerto Ricans. Thus we have New York's 43 electoral votes determined by the most illiterate and most irresponsible elements in that state.

The same is true of some of the other states, including Illinois, where the Negro population is tremendous, having virtually taken over the city of Chicago; Michigan, where foreign elements and Negroes have been attracted by the big automobile manufacturing industries, with labor unions there demanding and getting equal jobs for Negroes, and in California, the state with the most restless, roving and polyglot population in the world, with the exception of New York.

By giving all the electoral votes of a state to the candidate who gets a margin of victory, no matter how small, we have taken the election of a president away from the so-called "most solid citizens of the nation" and have turned it over to Negroes, foreign elements and so-called "minority" blocs.

As the people study the situation, the demand grows for a change in which the number of electoral votes going to each candidate from each state would be in proportion to the number of votes he received in that state.

One disadvantage about seeking any change is that the number of congressmen in the 11 states now capable of controlling the election is so great. However, these congressmen at least are not blocvoted, each vote counting no matter what state the representative is from.

We know that before the electoral system can be changed by constitutional amendment there must be tremendous public sentiment in favor of it. The present situation may develop that sentiment.

Labors Welfare Fund

Almost anyone who looks at his regular pay check and sees the amount taken out each time for social security would conclude that Uncle Sam surely must be far ahead of anyone or anything else in the business of social security. Figures show he would be wrong, because the American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations unions are outdoing the federal government.

More than $42 billion is in the various funds of the A.F.L.-C.I.O. unions. About $2 billion of this is in strike funds, general funds and the like, with vast sums available for political pushes like the recent presidential campaign. Some $40 million is in welfare funds, an amount double the reserve fund of the national social security system.

Now the A.F.L.-C.I.O. is holding conferences to consider how all this money should be invested. Most of it is in government bonds.

Unions are taking two positions in regard to their investments that are contrary to what they recommend as national policy.

First, they say that their money should be re-invested because government bonds produce to little. Yet, in their political pronouncements the unions have contended that the government was guilty of paying interest rates that are "too high."

Interest on government obligations has been inching up generally for some time. The reason is that the rates must be high enough to attract and hold investments, such as the unions' billions. Any interest rate that won't do that is too low to accomplish the desired purpose.

The second change in stance is a little more subtle. Unions have contended that the government is responsible for full employment and that government spending is the way to force employment. Yet, in determining to pull their money out of government investment and making it available to the capital market, they stress that this influx of capital will make more jobs in private enterprise.

Is it possible that the unions at last are seeing the light and are turning to private industry, instead of socialism, to lead this country along the road to prosperity?

Kennedy Will Seek Changes

Proposes To Revise Set-Ups And Activities of Many Regulatory Agencies, Possibly Merging Some

President-elect John F. Kennedy sometime next year plans to suggest to Congress some major changes in the set-ups and activities of the many federal regulatory agencies, possibly even recommending establishment of one commission to regulate all interstate transportation operations.

This latter proposal, if made, would mean the abolition of the Interstate Commerce Commission, first of all the regulatory bodies established and with authority over interstate rail, bus and truck operations; the Civil Aeronautics Board, with authority over routes and rates of the airlines; the Federal Maritime Board, with somewhat similar regulation over shipping.

Whether such a drastic recommendation will be made by Kennedy, as well as potential changes in the many other independent regulatory commissions and agencies which have been created by Congress over the years, may depend on the report to be made by him sometime early in 1961 by James M. Landis, Harvard dean and one of the early braintrusters of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt and later chairman of the CAB for a time.

But whatever changes Landis proposes and Kennedy recommends will have rough sledding in Congress, even though for the first time in eight years the President and the Congress will be of the same party.

Despite the fact that several of the regulatory agencies have come under Congressional fire during the past two years, Congress is extremely jealous of any attempt by the White House to interfere or try to assume control over their activities.

Congress takes the position that these agencies, while designated as independent, are primarily the creatures of the national legislative body and if they have any answering to do to anyone, it is to the Congress and not the President.

Almost invariably, when a newly appointed member to one of these commissions or agencies is questioned by a Senate committee prior to action upon his confirmation, one of the first questions asked is:

"Do you feel that you could withhold information from a member of Congress or a Congressional committee even though you owe your appointment to the President?" And invariably the answer is "no" with the further explanation by the appointee that he realizes the commission is a creature of Congress, and not a party of the executive branch of the government.

Nevertheless, Kennedy, due to dates and the refusal of the Democratic controlled Senate this year to confirm several nominations submitted by President Dwight D. Eisenhower, without the necessity of new legislation will be able to name controlling members of several important commissions during his first year in office.

Best example is the Federal Power Commission, which has been and will continue to be involved for sometime in the controversial issue of price regulations of natural gas at the production level.

In this case, Kennedy will not only be able to appoint two new members to the five man commission almost immediately after he takes office, but can name a third new one next June if he so desires.

When two vacancies concurred this year, President Eisenhower appointed Paul A. Sweeney of Maryland and Thomas J. Donegan of New York to fill them. When, through the apparent intervention of Senate Majority Leader and Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson, no action was taken by the Senate on their confirmation, Sweeney accepted a recess appointment but Donegan did not even do that. The five-year term of another member, Arthur Kline, expires June 22, 1961. Under the law only three of the five members can be of the same party, but this will give Kennedy plenty of leeway.

Boating Booms

In the past few years pleasure boating has been booming and ownership of a motorized launch has become a reasonable luxury for middle-income families. Behind this burgeoning growth is a story of efforts to curb the sharp operator and keep the industry healthy.

Before leaving on vacation I interviewed a select group of America's leading industrialists on problems of real pocketbook interest to many of you. Today's interview is with FRED L. HEWITT, JR., PRESIDENT OF THE NATIONAL ASSN. OF ENGINE AND BOAT MANUFACTURERS AND ALSO PRESIDENT OF TWO LARGE BOAT BUILDING COMPANIES.

Q., PORTER: To what extent have the swindlers and "fast money" boys entered the pleasure boating industry?

A., HEWITT: The pleasure boating industry is currently in the midst of a crucial phase and, in a very real sense, is batting for its life.

Before World War II, boat builders generally operated in the same fashion as Noah: specifications were laid down by the buyer and the craft was built to house so many people and so many facilities.

Among these builders there existed a handful of pioneers who believed in the future of stock boats — craft built in quantity to the same specifications, and consequently less expensive to construct. Their faith burst into the great industry boom of the last decade.

Enter the profiteer. Every industry has them, every industry fights them, and boating is no exception. The battlefield is at the point of sale to the consumer, everywhere. The weapons are numerous: unscrupulous advertising and publicity, premiums, and price-cutting, brought to such extremes that the honest merchant must think more than twice before he takes on a line.

Fraudulent elements operate basically the same in all industries, but in boating the specific techniques used are doubly vicious because of the nature of the product. It is tremendous folly to compare buying a boat with buying a refrigerator, to depend solely on warranties or guarantees. There is no recourse in Fiddler's Green.

Our objective is to prevent anyone in the trade from producing and selling unsinkable boats that sink; maintenance - free hulls that need maintenance; 15-foot-long boats that are less than 15 feet; mahogany craft that are not mahogany — the list goes on. Get rich and get out is sometimes considered sole portfolio, and let the devil take the hindmost, usually the public and always the honest dealer.

Q., PORTER: What are you doing to stop the swindlers?

A., HEWITT: We struck the first blow against them a few weeks ago in Chicago. There, the Federal Trade Commission held a trade practice conference initiated at our request, to work out reasonable rules based on existing law for the advertising and sale of pleasure boats. In January the public will get an opportunity to be heard on the subject at a special hearing during the National Motor Boat Show in New York.

The results of these industry efforts will deprive the price magicians of their illegal sales pitches, their near truths and exaggerations, without which their dubious output cannot survive.

You might say since many household appliances can be bought under list price, why not boats? Why shouldn't the consumer save money?

The answer is that a boat is an unusual product, produced by unusual manufacturers. A great deal of design, care and quality control must go into a good boat, and no matter what anyone may say, it requires a certain amount of experience and knowledge to build one.

The dealer selling the line of a reputable manufacturer knows that the craft will perform to its specifications. He can thus advise a new owner on the proper use of his boat, its limitations, and the basic requirements for safe and sane operation.

Too many of the growing number of off-boat dealers know little or nothing about boating. They sell overpowered units, unsuitable hulls and inadequate safety equipment. Too often the results are tragic and magnify the over-emphasis which already has been placed on boating accidents.

A., HEWITT: Boating fatalities are not increasing as some hysterical and uninformed writers would lead us to believe. Attention is being focused on the accident rate because for the first time accurate statistics are being compiled by the United States Coast Guard under the new federal and state boat registration laws. The facts are far from alarming and indicate that the accident rate actually is decreasing in view of the tremendous growth in ownership of boats.

A Little Known Fact About Eileen Farrell Is Revealed

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—When soprano Eilene Farrell makes her long-awaited Metropolitan Opera debut in Gluck's "Alcestis" this coming Tuesday, the critics are certain to miss one little-known milestone in her musical development.

They may hail her as the greatest living dramatic soprano, a sort of supersoprano, the likes of which the world hasn't seen or heard since the days of Rosa Ponselle and Giannini.

They may salute her Met appearance as the crowning work of a career already distinguished by her superb solo soprano work with the Bach Aria Group her triumph with Toscanini in Beethoven's Ninth, her miraculous—so the Italian critics said—Verdi "Requiem" at the Spoleto Festival, her magnificent American revival of "Medea"—even her rowdy, rollicking jam sessions with Louis Armstrong's unclassical cats.

They may dwell appreciatively on her singular lack of artistic temperament, her un-prima donna-like approach to perfection, her tender devotion to her husband and children, her unfailing good humor, her booming, boisterous vocabulary that could sometimes make a stevedore blush, her staggering concert schedule, her failure to make the grade in auditioning for the Major Bowes Amateur Hour and her ultimate vindication in a highly successful radio and television career.

But one thing they won't mention, and you can bet your old player piano on it, is that Eileen Farrell once sang a duet with Hugh A. (for Andante) Mulligan, the basso profundo of the E train.

It started out as a quartet, with Miss Farrell—or more properly, Mrs. Reagan—at the piano surrounded by her husband, Bob Reagan, a retired Staten Island cop, and her two bubbly, ebullient children, 13-year-old Robbie and Kathi, 7.

You see, it was this way. The photographer wanted a shot of the whole family around the piano, and, well, you know how kids are. . . .

"Mr. Mulligan," Eileen called out. "Why don't you join us and maybe the children will settle down a bit. These characters are such hams. They always make such a big deal out of picture-taking."

Miss Farrell announced the selection would be "Jingle Bells," a traditional English air of limited vocal range. Lifting the piano lid warily, she trilled a few warm-up cadenzas:

"It's liable to be dusty-y-y-y-y. Awfully dusty-y-y-y-y."

"It better not be-e-e-e-e!" sang back Bob in a lusty tenor that had done its duty with the Police Department Glee Club. "I just paid a man $90 to have it tu-u-u-uned."

From there Miss Farrell went on to a highly lucrative concert career, giving an average 60 concerts a year, but always in two-week bursts so she could return to her family. She hit the big time with her concert version of "Medea," the lung-busting part that had launched Maria Callas' career at La Scala but never had been done in America.

Only grand opera was left. After years of pleading her busy schedule, her family, her waistline, Miss Farrell finally screwed up her courage and took the big step. In March 1956, at Tampa, Fla., she made her operatic debut in "Cavalleria Rusticana," and followed with "Medea" and a "Il Trovatore" in San Francisco and "L Gicond" in Chicago.

At last, the secret was out. The cop's wife could act as well as sing. Maria Callas confirmed the suspicion when she flounced out of the Met after heated words with General Manager Rudolf Bing and haughtily told reporters: "Who needs the Met? They don't have any big names. They haven't got Farrell, have they?"

The music world gradually began to suspect that somewhere out there—out there on Staten Island in New York Harbor—was a voice as great and maybe greater than Callas or Renata Tebaldi. Still, the question remained: "Why isn't she singing at the Met if she's so good?" And, always, came Miss Farrell's stock answer: "I've never been asked, and I was taught that it's polite to wait until you're asked."

Early this spring, Bing did the polite thing. He asked Eileen Farrell to make her debut in "Alcestis" and then to do "La Giaconda." The Gluck opera was a particularly happy choice. It was in the role of Alcestis that Kirsten Flagstad, one of the last great supersopranos, made her farewell appearance at the Met in 1956.

The fact that Eileen Farrell, perhaps more than any other artist, has mastered the secret of blending art with life, of building a career without tearing up a family, was brought home when Bob bounced back from the kitchen to tell about their love affair.

With or without music, it was worthy of a Johann Strauss or a Franz Lehar. He was assigned to investigate a forgery in a dress shop. She was shopping for a dress and emerged with a husband. All that was needed for a rousing finale was for the police department glee club to join with the Bach aria group in a medley of popular and classical airs. That was in 1942.

Bob stayed with the force until his retirement two years ago, mainly because he loved police work. Now he runs the house and helps organize her career. Although Eileen still does much of the cooking, irons his shirts and helps with the kids' homework.

Her devotion to her family has not diminished her love for music. She still takes lessons three times a week from Eleanor McLellan, her voice teacher since 1944. She already knows dozens of opera roles in four languages but still struggles with her own homework —"Right now, I'm on irregular Italian verbs. It's not so bad. I understand there are only 7,642 of them." She still sobs uncontrollably at the emotions generated by a Puccini aria, almost as uncontrollably as when Kathi is hurt or Robbie is sick.

"Music," says Aileen Farrell. "is everything to me, everything. I wouldn't want to live without it. My family is everything and everything more. Hell, let's face it, I'm a woman!"

Navy Nurse Chief Recalls December 7th

Editor's Note — Nineteen years ago next Wednesday, Cmdr. Gertrude Arnest, of Hague, Va., experienced war at first hand when the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor. She was chief of nurses at the naval hospital there. The weekly Northern Neck News of Warsaw, Va., this week sent Hugh Ferguson to record her eye-witness story of the tragedy. The News made the story available to The Associated Press.

By GERTRUDE ARNEST
As Told to Hugh Ferguson

HAGUE, VA. (AP)—I heard the first explosions at 8:05 a.m. The engineers had been blasting six days a week, building a new dry-dock, and my first reaction was: "Those boys shouldn't be blasting on a Sunday."

Then I looked out the window and saw three Jap planes skimming the tree tops, so close I could see the great big rising suns on them. I watched them fly over the ships and drop their bombs.

I called the OD's (officer of the day) office. It was the real thing, he said. I called my nurses then and told them to get over to the hospital right away. I had half a cup of coffee, got into my uniform, went over, reported to the OD and Capt. Reynolds, who was in command of the hospital, then started getting the different crews together—operating crews, and so on. I went by the pharmacy and told them to make up plenty of morphine. I called the commissary and told them to concentrate on soup and crackers.

I went back to the emergency ward. As I got there a car drove up and two men jumped out, reached in and brought out a sailor. The Japs had riddled him with machine-gun bullets, but he was still conscious. He was our first casualty. The time was exactly 8:25 a.m. From then on they poured in.

We had a second raid at 9:30. During that one I looked out the window and saw a Jap plane that had been hit coming straight for the center of the hospital building. As I watched, it veered a little to the left, hit the top of our laboratory, fell over into the tennis court, bounced over some empty buildings, and set them on fire.

Casualties kept pouring in. First the ones that had been hit by shrapnel and machine-gun bullets. Then the burned cases began coming in off the ships. They were the worst. A lot of them had been fished out of the water, horribly burned and covered with oil and tar.

Most of them were burned so badly you couldn't put a sheet over them. I knew it would be chilly by night so I told a chief pharmacist's mate what we'd need—metal "cradles" or frames that covered the beds. He left and I went to the storeroom to get all the dark blankets we had.

Twenty minutes later I looked out and up came a truck loaded with metal strips. The military and civilians went to work and fastened the strips together into cradles and sent them in, and we got all the burned cases protected before night. A cradle went over the patient, and a dark blanket over the cradle. Then we got extension cords and put an electric light under the blanket for warmth. We had to use dark blankets, because the hospital did not have any blackout curtains.

Before it was over we had more than 400 patients. We just had to attend to the worst cases first. I remember one boy came in whose leg had been blown off. He had a belt around it for a tourniquet. I told someone to get him to the operating room as soon as possible. "Oh," he said, "take someone who's worse off than I am."

Cap. Reynolds told me to make up a schedule of nurses. I had 28 of them. Some of our wards were outside the main building, and if another raid came it would be impossible to get to them, so I wanted to keep two nurses in each ward all the time. I didn't know what in thunder to do, but I finally figured out a schedule.

Those girls worked eight hours and were off four, round the clock, day and night without a break until the 18th of December. And they didn't complain. They worked.

Before dark we knew the blackout was going to be a problem. We had no blackout curtains in the wards, so when it got dark we had to use flashlights with two thicknesses of blue paper taped over the lens.

I walked into one ward where the doctors were working on one patient who started hemorraging. Another man was sitting up in bed. "Can't you sleep?" I asked him. "Is that disturbing you?" I said, indicating the work going on next to him.

"No," he said, "but every time I'm about ready to drop off I think about those dirty so-and-sos and it makes me so mad I wake up again."

He was dead before morning. He wasn't the only one, either. I looked out the second floor window just after dawn and saw 39 bodies wrapped in blankets out there on the grass. There wasn't room for them in our little morgue building.

There weren't any more raids after Sunday, of course, but for the next few days we never did know what was going to happen. The ships were still burning out in the harbor, and casualties kept coming in. The Utah, you may remember, had turned over in the initial blitz. Four days later they heard knocking from inside, cut a hole in her and got 30-some sailors out, still alive.

It seemed to me we always got an airraid warning at about 2 o'clock in the morning. I'd circulate around and see how everybody was standing up under it. We had one little patient with an arm so mutilated that, even though it was broken, we couldn't put it in a cast. When we heard that alarm he'd get to shaking all over, so bad that he'd hurt his arm if no one was there with him.

And there were always rumors. You kept hearing that the Japs were coming in. One night I walked into a ward and a chief pharmacist's mate, when he heard the door open, said: "Here! Here come the Japs now!" I found out that he had been talking like this for days. I got the captain to transfer him the next morning.

We wanted to move all the patients—the worst ones—back to the States as soon as we could.

Finally, on the 18th of December, we were able to send some back aboard the USS Coolidge. She'd come to Pearl Harbor from a world cruise. Two giant pandas were aboard, presents from Madame Chiang Kai-shek to the people of the United States.

We loaded down the Coolidge with about 140 patients. I had to send three of my nurses along, too, to take care of them on the way.

But on Christmas Eve I heard over the radio that a ship had docked on the West Coast with two giant pandas aboard.

"Thank the Lord for that," I said to myself. Because that was the first way I knew that our casualties and my nurses had gotten through safely.

Countdown For Decision Is Excellent

COUNTDOWN FOR DECISION By Major General J. B. Medaris (Putnam, $5).

This is a book that every American should read because it is written by the man who was for five years, the Army's top missile commander.

For decades, the American people had taken as a matter of fact and natural pride the technological supremacy of the United States over the rest of the world. Then the Russians sent their Sputnik I into orbit around the earth and followed it in rapid succession with other satellites and space probes far larger than anything the United States could put into space. Since then there has been nothing but controversy and disagreement as both sides have claimed superiority in the space race.

The basic purpose of the book is to eliminate the confusion that now exists in the public mind where our space and missile program is concerned. Certain changes in our present setup are essential for our survival, General Medaris says, and these can only be brought about by a public opinion that is better motivated and better informed than it has been in the past.

Author Gives Castro's Side

LISTEN YANKEE — The Revolution in Cuba. By C. Wright Mills. McGraw Hill. Hardbound $3.95. Ballantine. Paperbound 50 cents.

Mills relates at length the argument for Fidel Castro's revolution in Cuba without giving the other side of the case.

Mills had long talks in Havana with Castro, President Osvaldo Dorticos, Ernesto Guevara, president of the National Bank of Cuba, and others who are guiding Cuba's nationalization of industry and her agrarian reform.

Their main arguments:

The Cuban revolution was necessary because the country had been crushed under the weight of a combine made up of corrupt politicians and U. S. capital.

The revolution, they say, isn't Communist but purely Cuban. They argue the revolution went as far left as it did because of U.S opposition to it.

They contend that Cuba took Russian, Red Chinese and satellite support and help because it had to but that the revolutionary leaders won't accept Soviet domination.

"The Communist party of Cuba has never been very large or very strong . . . This party did not play any part at all in the making of our revolution . . . Our revolution has outdone the Communists on every score . . . Always at every turn of event and policy, the revolution is always faster than the Cuban Communist party, or individual Communists. In all objective facts, then, we are much more radical, much more revolutionary than they. And that is why we are using them, rather than the reverse. . ."

Mills sees the Cuban revolution as essentially one of undernourished, poorly housed, hungry people. The Cuban revolution, he writes, has been "far more thorough, rapid and successful than Mexico's or Bolivia's . . . The Cuban revolution has swiftly destroyed the economic basis of capitalism — both foreign and, Cuban."

One of the most interesting and valuable reference books which has just been added to the library collections is "Worldmark Encyclopedia of the Nations." This book contains valuable and useful information about all of the countries which belong to the United Nations. It is a distinct addition.

Wedding Train Fairly Good Reading Book

WEDDING TRAIN By Margaret Scherf (Doubleday, $4.50) Merifield, Montana, in 1902 was a brassy, robust small town occupied with its own affairs: local gossip, church politics, the growth of the railroad. But it was more than ready to take an interest in pretty, redheaded Nellie Thompson and her adventures when she arrived to marry, sight unseen, her cousin Tom.

Tom, however, proved less than an ideal husband, having recently murdered a neighbor in a fued, and a few days after their marriage was unceremoniously carted off to jail. And Nellie suddenly found herself being clucked over by the town's ladies and openingly admired by the twon's men. Nevertheless, she was anxious to do well by her newly acquired independence and thus embarked herself on a career of country schoolteaching.

RUNNING THE SCALES
With JOHN CALE

This quotation was not penned too many years ago, but times change. There is no longer a shortage of oboes in the red hill southland. The difficult double reed instrument has found its way into high school and junior high bands all over the nation, not to mention the many civic symphony orchestras.

HONESTY PROVED

Still, Menken's observation holds true in that the music and folk traditions of the Bible Belt simply do not include the more delicate symphonic instruments.

Dr. Harry Oster of the LSU faculty, a nationally known folk music collector, visited northeast Louisiana last weekend at the invitation of Oland Silk, News Star telegraph editor who also collects folklore as a hobby.

Dr. and Mrs. Oster brought along recording equipment and spent a number of hours taping country fiddlin' tunes along with banjo, guitar and mandolin music by representatives from several parishes.

The professor will have a tremendous editing job in order to adhere strictly to music with its roots in this area. But when the final tapes are run through, there probably won't be an oboe player in the crowd.

DRAMA AFTER MUSIC

With last week's "three-operas-in-five-days" rush completed, the Monroe Little Theatre will open a run of the comedy-mystery, "The Gazebo," at Selman Field Playhouse Thursday.

The three operas last week were "Amahl and the Night Visitors," which played in Monroe Monday; Mozart's "Don Govanni," at Ruston on Tuesday, and the musical comedy, "Fiorello," another event on the Northeast Concerts series in Monroe on Friday. All three were well attended, a fact which attests to the cultural interest in the area surpassing that of five years ago. Incidentally, there were oboes in all three pit orchestras.

With the local dramatic scene moving towards the day when the footlights will go up in the new Little Theatre on Lamy Lane, it is appropriate to look around the country to see what the other amateur theatricals are doing.

According to a recent article in Cosmopolitan magazine, there are as many as 150,000 community projects throughout the United States.

MOTIVATION

In Memphis, the Little Theatre group turned speculative eyes on the empty swimming pool of a mansion that had become city property. They finally ripped out one end wall and installed seats on the floor of the cement pool for an amphitheatre.

Why face all this hard work for no pay? Herman Shonbrun, past president of the Gainesville, Florida, Community Theatre thinks he has the answer. "Jobs today," he says, "whether in the $5,000 or $50,000 bracket, furnish less and less responsibility. People actually enjoy the discipline and responsibility. When you rehearse a play you know that eventually you'll have to get out under the spotlight. You'll begin to measure up. There's no way to hedge. You've got to face that 'moment of truth.'"

Whether a "moment of truth" or just plain footlight fever has been the motive, the Monroe Little Theatre has more than 30 year's growth behind it. The new Strauss Theatre represents a landmark as well as a challenge to the local community theatre scene.

Japanese Geisha Girls Start Training Early

By KENNETH ISHII

KYOTO, Japan (AP)—From the age of 6 the gaily kimonoed darlings of Japan's geisha world dedicate their lives to pleasing and entertaining men.

To the foreigner, the outsider and the uninitiated, a geisha may mean anything from a dancer to a woman of easy virtue.

Yet the morals of the geisha world are strait-laced and puritanical and a girl will rarely venture on a date without a chaperone.

Thousands of geisha throughout Japan now enjoy legal freedom from the near bondage in which they lived before the postwar emancipation of Japanese women. But much of the feudal tradition remains.

TRADITION

Nowhere is tradition so closely guarded as in the Gion, largest and most famous of the six licensed geisha districts in the ancient capital of Kyoto.

Chieju is 18, which makes her a maiko. This means dancing girl. But in practice a maiko is an apprentice geisha who becomes a full-fledged geisha when she's about 20.

"There's really no set age," said Chieju, a pixish smile wreathing her heavy makeup as she sat in the "Teahouse of the Protected Fountain."

"Actually girls who go into this business must start when they are 6 or 7," Fusa said. "This is the age from which they must begin training if they are to acquire enough proficiency. You might call it tradition, but girls who become maiko and geisha are girls who've lived most of their lives in the teahouse districts."

HAD DOUBTS

"In my case," said Chieju, "my mother, grandmother and great-grandmother were geisha, and my family has a teahouse, so it seemed right I should do the same work. But I had doubts.

"I became a maiko at 15 and had been training all my life, but I seriously thought of giving it up and going to college, or maybe even getting married."

"That's one big change that's come over the Gion girls since the war," interjected Fusa. "Before, it never occurred to us to think so independently.

"And before we hardly ever got two days off a month under the labor laws.

"And there are other changes, too. For example in the olden days every geisha just about had to have a patron who would provide money for her to buy the kimonos she needed.

"Kimonos cost 30,000 yen ($83.33) and up and a complete wardrobe runs into millions of yen. Now, it's a little different. A girl can get a loan or she can buy her kimonos on an installment basis."

What about romance?

"Here," said Fusa, "there's been little change since the war."

"Yes," Chieju rejoined. "Unless there are very special circumstances, we always ask another older geisha to accompany us when we are invited out on a private date."

COMMUTE

A maiko or geisha's working hours usually begin around five or six in the evening. They live in residential quarters in the Gion and commute to the various teahouses, as they are called, by customers.

"I average three or four teahouses an evening," said Chieju. "Many of my customers are foreigners who are invited to the teahouses by their Japanese hosts. I usually have no trouble talking to them because they usually bring an interpreter. And we don't talk about difficult subjects."

Maiko and geisha-destined girls, in beginning their training at the age of 6, study the arts of Japanese dancing, tea ceremony, flower arranging, brush writing and music.

In order officially to become a maiko, a girl must pass examinations given by a special Gion proficiency committee and receive a license.

Finally comes one of the most feudal customs of all. She must select an official "elder sister" who is a geisha, who will be responsible for her as her guardian and foster parent.

WAGES

Now, at last, the maiko is ready to earn her own living as an entertainer and receive the equivalent of about 20 cents per working hour. Wages increase with the years but exact figures are not disclosed.

The Gion maiko is also now eligible to enroll in the Gion women's training school to continue her education as an entertainer.

"We keep up attendance at the school for years and years," said Fusa, "for no one is ever good enough to graduate. Some geisha 60 years old still attend.

"Not many of us ever get out of the business. Less than 10 per cent get married. The rest of us just stay on, though when we become older we stay more in the background doing such things as playing the samisen (a three-stringed instrument) and singing to provide an accompaniment for the girls who dance.

"If I don't marry I guess I'll remain a geisha forever, spending my days off at the movies.

FOR NIXON

Illinois Recount Whittles Deficit

CHICAGO (UPI) — GOP National Chairman Sen. Thruston B. Morton got an on - the - scene report of alleged Chicago vote frauds Friday and said there is still a "remote possibility" that Vice President Richard M. Nixon will be inaugurated president.

But he said there was no chance that Nixon or any top Republicans would agree to modifying the party's stand on civil rights in a bid to woo Southern electors into the GOP camp.

Morton flew to Chicago in the first step of his campaign for vote recounts and inquiries in the presidential balloting of Illinois, Missouri, Texas, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New Mexico.

Of all these states, Republican hopes are highest of overturning the 8,656-vote majority by which President-elect John F. Kennedy captured Illinois' 27 electoral votes.

Morton got a first-hand report their charges that Chicago Democrats stole the Illinois election for Kennedy by counting 100,000 phony votes.

The Republicans filled Morton in on their latest allegations that a GOP-sponsored check of Chicago voting machine tallies showed Nixon picking up 1,214 votes. The Democratic - dominated Chicago Election Commission has announced a Nixon pickup of only 377 votes.

Morton then told a news conference "I am most concerned with disclosing the irregularities that have occurred here. I am satisfied that if a full recount were permitted, Nixon would be shown as carrying Illinois."

As to whether Nixon could actually win the presidency, the Kentucky senator said the possibility is "remote, but anything can happen up to the time the electoral board submits its report."

Most speculation on the possibility of Nixon's winning the electoral college vote has hinged on first overturning the Illinois result and then persuading uncommitted electors in Southern states to vote Republican.

Morton said "as far as I know, no one in our shop has given any thought to that situation. We're certainly not going to modify our platform."

Morton held his news conference in the vacated offices of the Illinois Volunteers for Nixon Committee. Just 100 yards away in City Hall, a recount of the contested Chicago vote was in progress and the kingpin of Chicago's Democrats, Mayor Richard J. Daley, was firing off blasts at Morton.

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—When soprano Eilene Farrell makes her long-awaited Metropolitan Opera debut in Gluck's "Alcestis" this coming Tuesday, the critics are certain to miss one little-known milestone in her musical development.

They may hail her as the greatest living dramatic soprano, a sort of supersoprano, the likes of which the world hasn't seen or heard since the days of Rosa Ponselle and Giannini.

They may salute her Met appearance as the crowning work of a career already distinguished by her superb solo soprano work with the Bach Aria Group her triumph with Toscanini in Beethoven's Ninth, her miraculous—so the Italian critics said—Verdi "Requiem" at the Spoleto Festival, her magnificent American revival of "Medea"—even her rowdy, rollicking jam sessions with Louis Armstrong's unclassical cats.

They may dwell appreciatively on her singular lack of artistic temperament, her un-prima donna-like approach to perfection, her tender devotion to her husband and children, her unfailing good humor, her booming, boisterous vocabulary that could sometimes make a stevedore blush, her staggering concert schedule, her failure to make the grade in auditioning for the Major Bowes Amateur Hour and her ultimate vindication in a highly successful radio and television career.

But one thing they won't mention, and you can bet your old player piano on it, is that Eileen Farrell once sang a duet with Hugh A. (for Andante) Mulligan, the basso profundo of the E train.

It started out as a quartet, with Miss Farrell—or more properly, Mrs. Reagan—at the piano surrounded by her husband, Bob Reagan, a retired Staten Island cop, and her two bubbly, ebullient children, 13-year-old Robbie and Kathi, 7.

You see, it was this way. The photographer wanted a shot of the whole family around the piano, and, well, you know how kids are. . . .

"Mr. Mulligan," Eileen called out. "Why don't you join us and maybe the children will settle down a bit. These characters are such hams. They always make such a big deal out of picture-taking."

Miss Farrell announced the selection would be "Jingle Bells," a traditional English air of limited vocal range.Lifting the piano lid warily, she trilled a few warm-up cadenzas:

"It better not be-e-e-e-e!" sang back Bob in a lusty tenor that had done its duty with the Police Department Glee Club. "I just paid a man $90 to have it tu-u-u-uned."

From there Miss Farrell went on to a highly lucrative concert career, giving an average 60 concerts a year, but always in two-week bursts so she could return to her family. She hit the big time with her concert version of "Medea," the lung-busting part that had launched Maria Callas' career at La Scala but never had been done in America.

Only grand opera was left. After years of pleading her busy schedule, her family, her waistline, Miss Farrell finally screwed up her courage and took the big step. In March 1956, at Tampa, Fla., she made her operatic debut in "Cavalleria Rusticana," and followed with "Medea" and a "Il Trovatore" In San Francisco and "L Gicond" in Chicago.

At last, the secret was out. The cop's wife could act as well as sing. Maria Callas confirmed the suspicion when she flounced out of the Met after heated words with General Manager Rudolf Bing and haughtily told reporters: "Who needs the Met? They don't have any big names. They haven't got Farrell, have they?"

The music world gradually began to suspect that somewhere out there—out there on Staten Island in New York Harbor—was a voice as great and maybe greater than Callas or Renata Tebaldi. Still, the question remained: "Why isn't she singing at the Met if she's so good?" And, always, came Miss Farrell's stock answer: "I've never been asked, and I was taught that it's polite to wait until you're asked."

Early this spring, Bing did the polite thing. He asked Eileen Farrell to make her debut in "Alcestis" and then to do "La Giaconda.' The Gluck opera was a particularly happy choice. It was in the role of Alcestis that Kirsten Flagstad, one of the last great supersopranos, made her farewell appearance at the Met in 1956.

The fact that Eileen Farrell, perhaps more than any other artist, has mastered the secret of blending art with life, of building a career without tearing up a family, was brought home when Bob bounced back from the kitchen to tell about their love affair.

With or without music, it was worthy of a Johann Strauss or a Franz Lehar. He was assigned to investigate a forgery in a dress shop. She was shopping for a dress and emerged with a husband. All that was needed for a rousing finale was for the police department glee club to join with the Bach aria group in a medley of popular and classical airs. That was in 1942.

Bob stayed with the force until his retirement two years ago, mainly because he loved police work. Now he runs the house and helps organize her career. Although Eileen still does much of the cooking, irons his shirts and helps with the kids' homework.

Her devotion to her family has not diminished her love for music. She still takes lessons three times a week from Eleanor McLellan, her voice teacher since 1944. She already knows dozens of opera roles in four languages but still struggles with her own homework —"Right now, I'm on irregular Italian verbs. It's not so bad. I understand there are only 7,642 of them." She still sobs uncontrollably at the emotions generated by a Puccini aria, almost as uncontrollably as when Kathi is hurt or Robbie is sick.

"Music," says Aileen Farrell. "is everything to me, everything. I wouldn't want to live without it. My family is everything and everything more. Hell, let's face it, I'm a woman!"

Navy Nurse Chief Recalls December 7th

Editor's Note — Nineteen years ago next Wednesday, Cmdr. Gertrude Arnest, of Hague, Va., experienced war at first hand when the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor. She was chief of nurses at the naval hospital there. The weekly Northern Neck News of Warsaw, Va., this week sent Hugh Ferguson to record her eye-witness story of the tragedy. The News made the story available to The Associated Press.

By GERTRUDE ARNEST
As Told to Hugh Ferguson

HAGUE, VA. (AP)—I heard the first explosions at 8:05 a.m. The engineers had been blasting six days a week, building a new dry-dock, and my first reaction was: "Those boys shouldn't be blasting on a Sunday."

Then I looked out the window and saw three Jap planes skimming the tree tops, so close I could see the great big rising suns on them. I watched them fly over the ships and drop their bombs.

I called the OD's (officer of the day) office. It was the real thing, he said. I called my nurses then and told them to get over to the hospital right away. I had half a cup of coffee, got into my uniform, went over, reported to the OD and Capt. Reynolds, who was in command of the hospital, then started getting the different crews together—operating crews, and so on. I went by the pharmacy and told them to make up plenty of morphine. I called the commissary and told them to concentrate on soup and crackers.

I went back to the emergency ward. As I got there a car drove up and two men jumped out, reached in and brought out a sailor. The Japs had riddled him with machine-gun bullets, but he was still conscious. He was our first casualty. The time was exactly 8:25 a.m. From then on they poured in.

We had a second raid at 9:30. During that one I looked out the window and saw a Jap plane that had been hit coming straight for the center of the hospital building. As I watched, it veered a little to the left, hit the top of our laboratory, fell over into the tennis court, bounced over some empty buildings, and set them on fire.

Casualties kept pouring in. First the ones that had been hit by shrapnel and machine-gun bullets. Then the burned cases began coming in off the ships. They were the worst. A lot of them had been fished out of the water, horribly burned and covered with oil and tar.

Most of them were burned so badly you couldn't put a sheet over them. I knew it would be chilly by night so I told a chief pharmacist's mate what we'd need—metal "cradles" or frames that covered the beds. He left and I went to the storeroom to get all the dark blankets we had.

Twenty minutes later I looked out and up came a truck loaded with metal strips. The military and civilians went to work and fastened the strips together into cradles and sent them in, and we got all the burned cases protected before night. A cradle went over the patient, and a dark blanket over the cradle. Then we got extension cords and put an electric light under the blanket for warmth. We had to use dark blankets, because the hospital did not have any blackout curtains.

Before it was over we had more than 400 patients. We just had to attend to the worst cases first. I remember one boy came in whose leg had been blown off. He had a belt around it for a tourniquet. I told someone to get him to the operating room as soon as possible. "Oh," he said, "take someone who's worse off than I am."

Cap. Reynolds told me to make up a schedule of nurses. I had 28 of them. Some of our wards were outside the main building, and if another raid came it would be impossible to get to them, so I wanted to keep two nurses in each ward all the time. I didn't know what in thunder to do, but I finally figured out a schedule.

Those girls worked eight hours and were off four, round the clock, day and night without a break until the 18th of December. And they didn't complain. They worked.

Before dark we knew the blackout was going to be a problem. We had no blackout curtains in the wards, so when it got dark we had to use flashlights with two thicknesses of blue paper taped over the lens.

I walked into one ward where the doctors were working on one patient who started hemorraging. Another man was sitting up in bed. "Can't you sleep?" I asked him. "Is that disturbing you?" I said, indicating the work going on next to him.

"No," he said, "but every time I'm about ready to drop off I think about those dirty so-and-sos and it makes me so mad I wake up again."

He was dead before morning. He wasn't the only one, either. I looked out the second floor window just after dawn and saw 39 bodies wrapped in blankets out there on the grass. There wasn't room for them in our little morgue building.

There weren't any more raids after Sunday, of course, but for the next few days we never did know what was going to happen. The ships were still burning out in the harbor, and casualties kept coming in. The Utah, you may remember, had turned over in the initial blitz. Four days later they heard knocking from inside, cut a hole in her and got 30-some sailors out, still alive.

It seemed to me we always got an airraid warning at about 2 o'clock in the morning. I'd circulate around and see how everybody was standing up under it. We had one little patient with an arm so mutilated that, even though it was broken, we couldn't put it in a cast. When we heard that alarm he'd get to shaking all over, so bad that he'd hurt his arm if no one was there with him.

And there were always rumors. You kept hearing that the Japs were coming in. One night I walked into a ward and a chief pharmacist's mate, when he heard the door open, said: "Here! Here come the Japs now!" I found out that he had been talking like this for days. I got the captain to transfer him the next morning.

We wanted to move all the patients—the worst ones—back to the States as soon as we could.

Finally, on the 18th of December, we were able to send some back aboard the USS Coolidge. She'd come to Pearl Harbor from a world cruise. Two giant pandas were aboard, presents from Madame Chiang Kai-shek to the people of the United States.

We loaded down the Coolidge with about 140 patients. I had to send three of my nurses along, too, to take care of them on the way.

But on Christmas Eve I heard over the radio that a ship had docked on the West Coast with two giant pandas aboard.

"Thank the Lord for that," I said to myself. Because that was the first way I knew that our casualties and my nurses had gotten through safely.

Countdown For Decision Is Excellent

COUNTDOWN FOR DECISION By Major General J. B. Medaris (Putnam, $5).

This is a book that every American should read because it is written by the man who was for five years, the Army's top missile commander.

For decades, the American people had taken as a matter of fact and natural pride the technological supremacy of the United States over the rest of the world. Then the Russians sent their Sputnik I into orbit around the earth and followed it in rapid succession with other satellites and space probes far larger than anything the United States could put into space. Since then there has been nothing but controversy and disagreement as both sides have claimed superiority in the space race.

The basic purpose of the book is to eliminate the confusion that now exists in the public mind where our space and missile program is concerned. Certain changes in our present setup are essential for our survival, General Medaris says, and these can only be brought about by a public opinion that is better motivated and better informed than it has been in the past.

Author Gives Castro's Side

LISTEN YANKEE — The Revolution in Cuba. By C. Wright Mills. McGraw Hill. Hardbound $3.95. Ballantine. Paperbound 50 cents.

Mills relates at length the argument for Fidel Castro's revolution in Cuba without giving the other side of the case.

Mills had long talks in Havana with Castro, President Osvaldo Dorticos, Ernesto Guevara, president of the National Bank of Cuba, and others who are guiding Cuba's nationalization of industry and her agrarian reform.

Their main arguments:

The Cuban revolution was necessary because the country had been crushed under the weight of a combine made up of corrupt politicians and U. S. capital.

The revolution, they say, isn't Communist but purely Cuban. They argue the revolution went as far left as it did because of U.S opposition to it.

They contend that Cuba took Russian, Red Chinese and satellite support and help because it had to but that the revolutionary leaders won't accept Soviet domination.

"The Communist party of Cuba has never been very large or very strong . . . This party did not play any part at all in the making of our revolution . . . Our revolution has outdone the Communists on every score . . . Always at every turn of event and policy, the revolution is always faster than the Cuban Communist party, or individual Communists. In all objective facts, then, we are much more radical, much more revolutionary than they. And that is why we are using them, rather than the reverse. . ."

Mills sees the Cuban revolution as essentially one of undernourished, poorly housed, hungry people. The Cuban revolution, he writes, has been "far more thorough, rapid and successful than Mexico's or Bolivia's . . . The Cuban revolution has swiftly destroyed the economic basis of capitalism — both foreign and, Cuban."

Wedding Train Fairly Good Reading Book

WEDDING TRAIN By Margaret Scherf (Doubleday, $4.50) Merifield, Montana, in 1902 was a brassy, robust small town occupied with its own affairs: local gossip, church politics, the growth of the railroad. But it was more than ready to take an interest in pretty, redheaded Nellie Thompson and her adventures when she arrived to marry, sight unseen, her cousin Tom.

Tom, however, proved less than an ideal husband, having recently murdered a neighbor in a fued, and a few days after their marriage was unceremoniously carted off to jail. And Nellie suddenly found herself being clucked over by the town's ladies and openingly admired by the twon's men. Nevertheless, she was anxious to do well by her newly acquired independence and thus embarked herself on a career of country schoolteaching.

RUNNING THE SCALES

With JOHN CALE

This quotation was not penned too many years ago, but times change. There is no longer a shortage of oboes in the red hill southland. The difficult double reed instrument has found its way into high school and junior high bands all over the nation, not to mention the many civic symphony orchestras.

HONESTY PROVED

Still, Menken's observation holds true in that the music and folk traditions of the Bible Belt simply do not include the more delicate symphonic instruments.

Dr. Harry Oster of the LSU faculty, a nationally known folk music collector, visited northeast Louisiana last weekend at the invitation of Oland Silk, News Star telegraph editor who also collects folklore as a hobby.

Dr. and Mrs. Oster brought along recording equipment and spent a number of hours taping country fiddlin' tunes along with banjo, guitar and mandolin music by representatives from several parishes.

The professor will have a tremendous editing job in order to adhere strictly to music with its roots in this area. But when the final tapes are run through, there probably won't be an oboe player in the crowd.

DRAMA AFTER MUSIC

With last week's "three-operas-in-five-days" rush completed, the Monroe Little Theatre will open a run of the comedy-mystery, "The Gazebo," at Selman Field Playhouse Thursday.

The three operas last week were "Amahl and the Night Visitors," which played in Monroe Monday; Mozart's "Don Govanni," at Ruston on Tuesday, and the musical comedy, "Fiorello," another event on the Northeast Concerts series in Monroe on Friday. All three were well attended, a fact which attests to the cultural interest in the area surpassing that of five years ago. Incidentally, there were oboes in all three pit orchestras.

With the local dramatic scene moving towards the day when the footlights will go up in the new Little Theatre on Lamy Lane, it is appropriate to look around the country to see what the other amateur theatricals are doing.

According to a recent article in Cosmopolitan magazine, there are as many as 150,000 community projects throughout the United States.

MOTIVATION

In Memphis, the Little Theatre group turned speculative eyes on the empty swimming pool of a mansion that had become city property. They finally ripped out one end wall and installed seats on the floor of the cement pool for an amphitheatre.

Why face all this hard work for no pay? Herman Shonbrun, past president of the Gainesville, Florida, Community Theatre thinks he has the answer. "Jobs today," he says, "whether in the $5,000 or $50,000 bracket, furnish less and less responsibility. People actually enjoy the discipline and responsibility. When you rehearse a play you know that eventually you'll have to get out under the spotlight. You'll begin to measure up. There's no way to hedge. You've got to face that 'moment of truth.'"

Whether a "moment of truth" or just plain footlight fever has been the motive, the Monroe Little Theatre has more than 30 year's growth behind it. The new Strauss Theatre represents a landmark as well as a challenge to the local community theatre scene.

Japanese Geisha Girls Start Training Early

By KENNETH ISHII

KYOTO, Japan (AP)—From the age of 6 the gaily kimonoed darlings of Japan's geisha world dedicate their lives to pleasing and entertaining men.

To the foreigner, the outsider and the uninitiated, a geisha may mean anything from a dancer to a woman of easy virtue.

Yet the morals of the geisha world are strait-laced and puritanical and a girl will rarely venture on a date without a chaperone.

Thousands of geisha throughout Japan now enjoy legal freedom from the near bondage in which they lived before the postwar emancipation of Japanese women. But much of the feudal tradition remains.

TRADITION

Nowhere is tradition so closely guarded as in the Gion, largest and most famous of the six licensed geisha districts in the ancient capital of Kyoto.

Chieju is 18, which makes her a maiko. This means dancing girl. But in practice a maiko is an apprentice geisha who becomes a full-fledged geisha when she's about 20.

"There's really no set age," said Chieju, a pixish smile wreathing her heavy makeup as she sat in the "Teahouse of the Protected Fountain."

"Actually girls who go into this business must start when they are 6 or 7," Fusa said. "This is the age from which they must begin training if they are to acquire enough proficiency. You might call it tradition, but girls who become maiko and geisha are girls who've lived most of their lives in the teahouse districts."

HAD DOUBTS

"In my case," said Chieju, "my mother, grandmother and great-grandmother were geisha, and my family has a teahouse, so it seemed right I should do the same work. But I had doubts.

"I became a maiko at 15 and had been training all my life, but I seriously thought of giving it up and going to college, or maybe even getting married."

"That's one big change that's come over the Gion girls since the war," interjected Fusa. "Before, it never occurred to us to think so independently.

"And before we hardly ever got two days off a month under the labor laws.

"And there are other changes, too. For example in the olden days every geisha just about had to have a patron who would provide money for her to buy the kimonos she needed.

"Kimonos cost 30,000 yen ($83.33) and up and a complete wardrobe runs into millions of yen. Now, it's a little different. A girl can get a loan or she can buy her kimonos on an installment basis."

What about romance?

"Here," said Fusa, "there's been little change since the war."

"Yes," Chieju rejoined. "Unless there are very special circumstances, we always ask another older geisha to accompany us when we are invited out on a private date."

COMMUTE

A maiko or geisha's working hours usually begin around five or six in the evening. They live in residential quarters in the Gion and commute to the various teahouses, as they are called, by customers.

"I average three or four teahouses an evening," said Chieju. "Many of my customers are foreigners who are invited to the teahouses by their Japanese hosts. I usually have no trouble talking to them because they usually bring an interpreter. And we don't talk about difficult subjects."

Maiko and geisha-destined girls, in beginning their training at the age of 6, study the arts of Japanese dancing, tea ceremony, flower arranging, brush writing and music.

In order officially to become a maiko, a girl must pass examinations given by a special Gion proficiency committee and receive a license.

Finally comes one of the most feudal customs of all. She must select an official "elder sister" who is a geisha, who will be responsible for her as her guardian and foster parent.

WAGES

Now, at last, the maiko is ready to earn her own living as an entertainer and receive the equivalent of about 20 cents per working hour. Wages increase with the years but exact figures are not disclosed.

The Gion maiko is also now eligible to enroll in the Gion women's training school to continue her education as an entertainer.

"We keep up attendance at the school for years and years," said Fusa, "for no one is ever good enough to graduate. Some geisha 60 years old still attend.

"Not many of us ever get out of the business. Less than 10 per cent get married. The rest of us just stay on, though when we become older we stay more in the background doing such things as playing the samisen (a three-stringed instrument) and singing to provide an accompaniment for the girls who dance.

"If I don't marry I guess I'll remain a geisha forever, spending my days off at the movies.

FOR NIXON

Illinois Recount Whittles Deficit

CHICAGO (UPI) — GOP National Chairman Sen. Thruston B. Morton got an on - the - scene report of alleged Chicago vote frauds Friday and said there is still a "remote possibility" that Vice President Richard M. Nixon will be inaugurated president.

But he said there was no chance that Nixon or any top Republicans would agree to modifying the party's stand on civil rights in a bid to woo Southern electors into the GOP camp.

Morton flew to Chicago in the first step of his campaign for vote recounts and inquiries in the presidential balloting of Illinois, Missouri, Texas, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New Mexico.

Of all these states, Republican hopes are highest of overturning the 8,656-vote majority by which President-elect John F. Kennedy captured Illinois' 27 electoral votes.

Morton got a first-hand report their charges that Chicago Democrats stole the Illinois election for Kennedy by counting 100,000 phony votes.

The Republicans filled Morton in on their latest allegations that a GOP-sponsored check of Chicago voting machine tallies showed Nixon picking up 1,214 votes. The Democratic - dominated Chicago Election Commission has announced a Nixon pickup of only 377 votes.

Morton then told a news conference "I am most concerned with disclosing the irregularities that have occurred here. I am satisfied that if a full recount were permitted, Nixon would be shown as carrying Illinois."

As to whether Nixon could actually win the presidency, the Kentucky senator said the possibility is "remote, but anything can happen up to the time the electoral board submits its report."

Most speculation on the possibility of Nixon's winning the electoral college vote has hinged on first overturning the Illinois result and then persuading uncommitted electors in Southern states to vote Republican.

Morton said "as far as I know, no one in our shop has given any thought to that situation. We're certainly not going to modify our platform."

Morton held his news conference in the vacated offices of the Illinois Volunteers for Nixon Committee. Just 100 yards away in City Hall, a recount of the contested Chicago vote was in progress and the kingpin of Chicago's Democrats, Mayor Richard J. Daley, was firing off blasts at Morton.

Market Greets Month With Sharp Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned the corner into December this week with its sharpest weekly decline on average in a month and a half.

Prices were rising as the week ended, however, and the question along Wall Street was: Is it a technical rally or, hopefully, the start of a "traditional" year-end rally?

Brokers seemed to think the former was more likely. For one thing, the business news was mostly bad and therefore provided no real springboard for an advance. For another, they noted that the rally started just above the level in the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, one of the street's so-called "resistance" levels. For the week the Dow average was off 10.47 at 596.00.

The Associated Press 60-stock average declined 2.20 to 2.14.10, making it the largest drop since one of 4.90 in the week ended Oct. 22. The week's decline contrasted with an 8-point gain during the month of November.

BROKERS

Brokers professed to like the way the market acted in the face of the gloomy business news, the uncertain economic outlook and the equally uncertain plans of the new Kennedy administration regarding business and finance.

Selling to establish tax losses, and subsequent replacement buying, also tugged at the market. The extent of such transactions was illustrated by Monday's total of 1,266 issues traded, the greatest number since 1,269 issues changed hands last Jan. 6.

Brokers also liked the way volume tended to contract as prices declined early in the week and tended to expand as the market firmed later on. Total turnover on the week came to 16.81 million shares compared with 12.71 million in the previous four-day week. The daily average was 3.36 million shares against 3.17 million the previous week.

The total was the highest since the week ended Oct. 1 and the average the highest since the week ended Nov. 12.

The most active stock on the American Stock Exchange was Lefcourt Realty, off ⅛ at 2⅛ on 103,400 shares.

Bond prices coasted lower in November for the second consecutive month.

For corporates the decline was 50 per cent steeper than October and measured up as the second worst of the year behind September. Treasure issues fell ¼ to almost 2 points, finally steadying this week after four of retreat.

T.. tight election, a flood of new financing in the middle of the .onth, bewilderment over the possible fiscal policies of the new administration and increased concern over the balance of payments and gold problem were cited as causes for the lower prices.

Volume totaled $30.91 million par value on the New York Stock Exchange, compared with $21.55 million the previous week. The total was the third best of 1960. The daily average increased to over $6 million compared with $5.39 million.

Fewer Wells Drilled, Less Oil Is Found

Total completions for the year may be the lowest since 1952.

Most forecasts for 1960 drilling operations had indicated a minor increase of from 1 to 2 per cent over 1959. Recent surveys, however, indicate a decline that could exceed the sharp 9 per cent setback experienced in 1958.

Adding to the discouragement has been a decline in the success ratio of exploratory of wildcat wells.

One survey this week reported only 9.6 per cent of the wildcats drilled the first nine months of 1960 were productive. Some 11 per cent of the wildcats drilled in the same 1959 period were successful.

Most of the slowdown in drilling operations is attributed to continued problems of oversupply. The resulting depressed status of demand for domestic crude has dictated caution. Domestic crude utage only 7,017,000 barrels a day, compared to 7,034,000 in 1959 and the record 7,170,000 of 1957.

Projections of three late surveys indicate 1960 well completions will fall somewhere between 46,189 and 46,902, compared to 50,902 last year and a record of 58,259 in 1956.

SURVEYS

All three of the surveys indicate the 1960 total will be the lowest since 45,895 wells were completed in 1952.

The three surveys:

American Petroleum Institute—An estimated 37,898 wells drilled through October 29, compared to 41,818 the same 1959 period. This is equivalent to a 9.3 per cent decline that would indicate a 1960 total of about 46,189.

World Oil Magazine — An astimated 34,550 wells drilled the first nine months of the year, compared to 37,518 the same 1959 period. This is a 7.9 per cent drop that would place the year-end total at about 46,902.

Oil and Gas Journal — An estimated 40,850 wells drilled through No. 19, compared to 45,033 the same 1959 period. This is equivalet to a 9.2 per cent decline that, when projected for the full 12 months, would indicate a year-end estimate of 46,239.

There also was indication this week a normal upturn in drilling operations for November and December may not materialize this year. Rotary drilling rigs in operation last week were estimated at only 1,816, compared to 1,858 a week earlier and 2,213 for the comparble 1959 week.

World Oil reported a 5.3 per cent decline in January-September wildcats. The nine-month total of 6,868 compared with a year earlier 7,254. Total wildcat discoveries declined 17 per cent while dry wildcats declined only 3.9 per cent.

The January-September drilling operations ranged from a 116 per cent increase in Alaska to a 53 per cent decline in Alabama. Alaska had 13 completions compared to 6 the same 1959 period. Alabama dropped from 83 to 30.

Among the three largest oil states, Texas operations dropped 14 per cent, Louisiana declined 9 per cent, and California operations increased 1.7 per cent.

Eight New Wells Highlight District Oil-Gas Activity

By RICHARD GREENE
Oil Editor

A total of eight new oil and gas well completions highlighted the drilling activities in the Monroe district last week.

This was reported by Duncan S. Cook, manager of the 14-parish Monroe district of the Louisiana Department of Conservation.

Also listed in the report were seven new locations of possible oil or gas well producers, which is quite a decline in the number of new permits from the previous several weeks. However, this is not unusual it was learned, as a drop of this nature is expected during this time of year.

There were 27 rigs reported active in the fields of the district and four declared dry and abandoned.

Investment Bankers Hold Annual Meet In Florida

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP)—The word "recession" was used quite frequently this week in speeches and committee reports to America's investment bankers, but it lacked the ring of conviction.

On the other hand, cautious confidence was reflected in private interviews with men at the heads of huge investment funds. Their real opinion of prospects for both the economy and the stock market was reflected by the fact that they have been buying stocks.

The 49th annual convention of the Investment Bankers Association of America (IBA) was held at the Hollywood Beach Hotel. The record number of 1,325 delegates and wives and the off-hour gaiety in lush Floridian atmosphere seemed to belie any lack of confidence in the economy.

BOMBSHELL

True, some delegates were disconcerted by the biggest convention bombshell: the proposal of Henry C. Alexander, board chairman of Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., that the requirement of a 25 per cent backing against Federal Reserve notes and deposits be repealed.

The Alexander proposal came after the U.S. gold reserve dropped below $18 billion for the first time since 1940. Many bankers, however, saw the proposal as logical.

The word "recession" was used by, among others, the IBA's Federal Taxation Committee, which said flatly that the Kennedy administration was taking office under recession conditions and that it would be desirable to liberalize taxes on business in order to spur the economy.

ROSIER

On the other hand, a rosier outlook was expressed in an interview with Walter S. Morgan, president and founder of the 31-year-old Wellington Fund, a balanced mutual fund with assets of more than a billion dollars.

Morgan was favorably impressed by the present record level of personal income, a gross national product topping half a trillion dollars and the fact that capital expenditures this year "are holding up quite well," and are not much below 1959.

The "Balanced" fund he represents—a portfolio both of stocks and fixed income securities—has been buying rather than selling common stocks recently, Morgan disclosed

Experts Say '61 Should Show Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — Business eased into the last lap of the 1960 dollar race at hardly more than a trot the past week, but some economic leaders saw prospects of a quickened pace next year.

In the first week of the Christmas shopping season retail trade failed to live up to the level of a year ago. Volume was unchanged to four per cent lower.

Shoppers were out in good numbers but were reported more price - conscious and selective than last year.

RALLY ENDS

The government reported new orders received by manufacturers dropped four per cent in October, ending a two-month rise.

However, there were expressions of optimism for the future.

Chairman Henry C. Alexander of the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York City said at the Investment Bankers Association convention: "I think we're going sidewise with a slight downward tilt. I'm certainly not looking for any deep rececession. We have a pretty good level of business activity. I think there's a good chance that within a matter of months there will be a slight upturn."

Chairman Ralph J. Cordiner of General Electric Co. said he was confident of a business revival in 1961 but added that "it's anybody's guess" when it comes.

UPTURN

Tom Campbell, editor-in chief of the trade publication Iron Age, said he looks for an upturn in steel production next March and a boom in 1962.

Steel output the past week edged up only to an estimated level of 49.3 per cent of capacity from the previous week's 48 per cent. Steel executives forecast further decline in December, traditionally a slow month.

Pay raises of 7 to 13 cents an hour went into effect for 500,000 basic steel workers as a result of the contract which settled last year's strike. There were no indications that an increase in steel prices is imminent. Keen competition and slow demand are working against the likelihood of a boost in the near future.

By contrast, the automobile industry was a bright spot in the economic picture.

Production jumped back from the holiday week with an estimated output of 141,000 passenger cars. The previous week's total was 111,181.

The automakers rolled out 597,116 cars in November, bringing the year's total so far to 6,172,075, more than a million ahead of a year ago.

New car sales in the middle third of November totaled 165,200, second best on record for the period.

New construction rose one per cent in November to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $55.781 billion from $54.781 billion in October. Spending for private residential buildings advanced to an annual rate of $21.169 billion from $21.134 billion the previous month.

Briefly around the business scene: The Navy awarded a $70.1-million contract to Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp. For production of A2F1 intruder aircraft ....At least 25 per cent of the 1960-61 citrus juice production will be packed in aluminum cans.... A new juke box announces only commercials until someone puts in a dime for music....The Pennsylvania Railroad kept its dividend payment record unbroken for 113 years by paying 25 cents a share for the fourth quarter.... Ownership of U.S. corporate securities by life insurance companies has exceeded the $50 billion mark.

Cotton Futures Show Mixed On N. Y. Exchange

NEW YORK (AP) — Following an indecisive start, cotton futures turned firmer on the New York Cotton Exchange this week. On the final trading day, prices again softened.

At the close of the week futures were $1.05 a bale higher to 5 cents down from a week previous. The only net loss was in the distant March contract.

A sustaining factor during the week was short covering in the December delivery. Commission houses bought the deferred months on belief 1961 crop price supports might be higher than originally anticipated.

Offerings came mainly from those accepting profits on the advance. On Friday there also were some sales which represented undoing of long hedges.

Exports again slowed in the week ended Tuesday. The New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau placed them at 85,000 bales compared with 118,000 in the previous week and 104,000 in the like 1959 week.

For the current season through Nov. 29 exports totaled 1,155,000 bales against 11372,000 in the same period last season.

The five-day session, conducted last week, was a course in "electric training for distributor personnel" and was held at the development laboratory of the Linde Company, a division of Union Carbide Corp., in Newark.

The training sessions were presented to better acquaint distributors from all over the United States with the fundamentals and superiority of heriiarc, sigma and unionmelt welding processes and other apparatus that have recently been developed.

Market Greets Month With Sharp Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned the corner into December this week with its sharpest weekly decline on average in a month and a half.

Prices were rising as the week ended, however, and the question along Wall Street was: Is it a technical rally or, hopefully, the start of a "traditional" year-end rally?

Brokers seemed to think the former was more likely. For one thing, the business news was mostly bad and therefore provided no real springboard for an advance. For another, they noted that the rally started just above the level in the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, one of the street's so-called "resistance" levels. For the week the Dow average was off 10.47 at 596.00.

The Associated Press 60-stock average declined 2.20 to 2.14.10, making it the largest drop since one of 4.90 in the week ended Oct. 22. The week's decline contrasted with an 8-point gain during the month of November.

BROKERS

Brokers professed to like the way the market acted in the face of the gloomy business news, the uncertain economic outlook and the equally uncertain plans of the new Kennedy administration regarding business and finance.

Selling to establish tax losses, and subsequent replacement buying, also tugged at the market. The extent of such transactions was illustrated by Monday's total of 1,266 issues traded, the greatest number since 1,269 issues changed hands last Jan. 6.

Brokers also liked the way volume tended to contract as prices declined early in the week and tended to expand as the market firmed later on. Total turnover on the week came to 16.81 million shares compared with 12.71 million in the previous four-day week. The daily average was 3.36 million shares against 3.17 million the previous week.

The total was the highest since the week ended Oct. 1 and the average the highest since the week ended Nov. 12.

The most active stock on the American Stock Exchange was Lefcourt Realty, off ⅛ at 2⅛ on 103,400 shares.

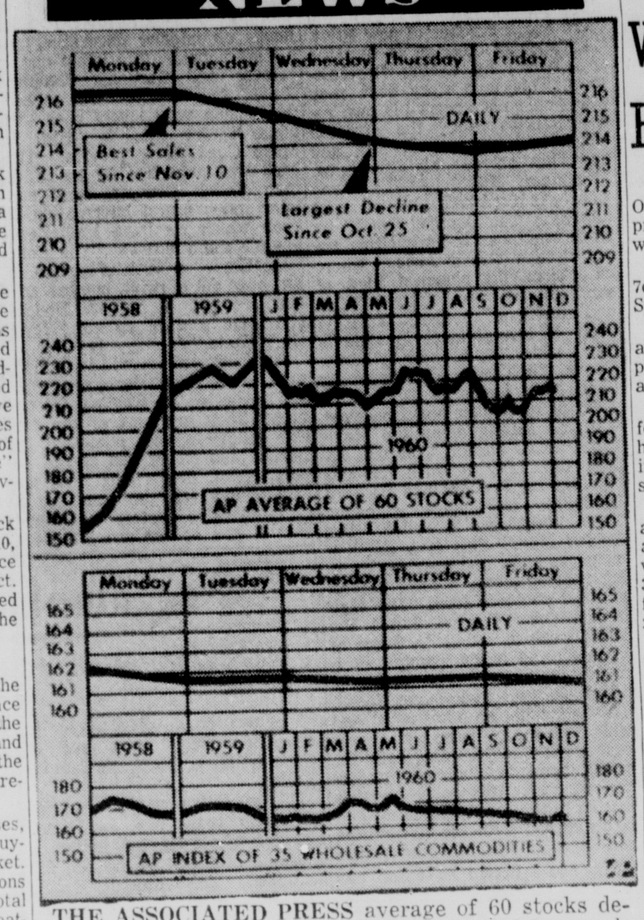

Bond prices coasted lower in November for the second consecutive month.

For corporates the decline was 50 per cent steeper than October and measured up as the second worst of the year behind September. Treasure issues fell ¼ to almost 2 points, finally steadying this week after four of retreat.

The tight election, a flood of new financing in the middle of the month, bewilderment over the possible fiscal policies of the new administration and increased concern over the balance of payments and gold problem were cited as causes for the lower prices.

Volume totaled $30.91 million par value on the New York Stock Exchange, compared with $21.55 million the previous week. The total was the third best of 1960. The daily average increased to over $6 million compared with $5.39 million.

FINANCIAL $ OIL-GAS NEWS

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS average of 60 stocks declined sharply this week to 214.1 from 216.3 a week earlier. The commodity index also moved lower this week to 161.0 from 162.1 in the preceding period. Food and livestock were major losers. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

Fewer Wells Drilled, Less Oil Is Found

Total completions for the year may be the lowest since 1952.

Most forecasts for 1960 drilling operations had indicated a minor increase of from 1 to 2 per cent over 1959. Recent surveys, however, indicate a decline that could exceed the sharp 9 per cent setback experienced in 1958.

Adding to the discouragement has been a decline in the success ratio of exploratory of wildcat wells.

One survey this week reported only 9.6 per cent of the wildcats drilled the first nine months of 1960 were productive. Some 11 per cent of the wildcats drilled in the same 1959 period were successful.

Most of the slowdown in drilling operations is attributed to continued problems of oversupply. The resulting depressed status of demand for domestic crude has dictated caution. Domestic crude utage only 7,017,000 barrels a day, compared to 7,034,000 in 1959 and the record 7,170,000 of 1957.

Projections of three late surveys indicate 1960 well completions will fall somewhere between 46,189 and 46,902, compared to 50,902 last year and a record of 58,259 in 1956.

SURVEYS

All three of the surveys indicate the 1960 total will be the lowest since 45,895 wells were completed in 1952.

The three surveys:

American Petroleum Institute—An estimated 37,898 wells drilled through October 29, compared to 41,818 the same 1959 period. This is equivalent to a 9.3 per cent decline that would indicate a 1960 total of about 46,189.

World Oil Magazine — An astimated 34,550 wells drilled the first nine months of the year, compared to 37,518 the same 1959 period. This is a 7.9 per cent drop that would place the year-end total at about 46,962.

Oil and Gas Journal — An estimated 40,850 wells drilled through No. 19, compared to 45,033 the same 1959 period. This is equivalet to a 9.2 per cent decline that, when projected for the full 12 months, would indicate a year-end estimate of 46,239.

There also was indication this week a normal upturn in drilling operations for November and December may not materialize this year. Rotary drilling rigs in operation last week were estimated at only 1,816, compared to 1,853 a week earlier and 2,213 for the comparble 1959 week.

World Oil reported a 5.3 per cent decline in January-September wildcats. The nine-month total of 6,868 compared with a year earlier 7,254. Total wildcat discoveries declined 17 per cent while dry wildcats declined only 3.9 per cent.

The January-September drilling operations ranged from a 116 per cent increase in Alaska to a 53 per cent decline in Alabama. Alaska had 13 completions compared to 6 the same 1959 period. Alabama dropped from 83 to 30.

Among the three largest oil states, Texas operations dropped 14 per cent, Louisiana declined 9 per cent, and California operations increased 1.7 per cent.

This was reported by Duncan S. Cook, manager of the 14-parish Monroe district of the Louisiana Department of Conservation.

Also listed in the report were seven new locations of possible oil or gas well producers, which is quite a decline in the number of new permits from the previous several weeks. However, this is not unusual it was learned, as a drop of this nature is expected during this time of year.

RECORD 1325 ATTEND

Investment Bankers Hold Annual Meet In Florida

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP)—The word "recession" was used quite frequently this week in speeches and committee reports to America's investment bankers, but it lacked the ring of conviction.

On the other hand, cautious confidence was reflected in private interviews with men at the heads of huge investment funds. Their real opinion of prospects for both the economy and the stock market was reflected by the fact that they have been buying stocks.

The 49th annual convention of the Investment Bankers Association of America (IBA) was held at the Hollywood Beach Hotel. The record number of 1,325 delegates and wives and the off-hour gaiety in lush Floridian atmosphere seemed to belie any lack of confidence in the economy.

BOMBSHELL

True, some delegates were disconcerted by the biggest convention bombshell: the proposal of Henry C. Alexander, board chairman of Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., that the requirement of a 25 per cent backing against Federal Reserve notes and deposits be repealed.

The Alexander proposal came after the U.S. gold reserve dropped below $18 billion for the first time since 1940. Many bankers, however, saw the proposal as logical.

The word "recession" was used by, among others, the IBA's Federal Taxation Committee, which said flatly that the Kennedy administration was taking office under recession conditions and that it would be desirable to liberalize taxes on business in order to spur the economy.

ROSIER

On the other hand, a rosier outlook was expressed in an interview with Walter S. Morgan, president and founder of the 31-year-old Wellington Fund, a balanced mutual fund with assets of more than a billion dollars.

Morgan was favorably impressed by the present record level of personal income, a gross national product topping half a trillon dollars and the fact that capital expenditures this year "are holding up quite well," and are not much below 1959.

The "Balanced" fund he represents—a portfolio both of stocks and fixed income securities—has been buying rather than selling common stocks recently, Morgan disclosed

Experts Say '61 Should Show Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — Business eased into the last lap of the 1960 dollar race at hardly more than a trot the past week, but some economic leaders saw prospects of a quickened pace next year.

In the first week of the Christmas shopping season retail trade failed to live up to the level of a year ago. Volume was unchanged to four per cent lower.

Shoppers were out in good numbers but were reported more price - conscious and selective than last year.

RALLY ENDS

The government reported new orders received by manufacturers dropped four per cent in October, ending a two-month rise.

However, there were expressions of optimism for the future.

Chairman Henry C. Alexander of the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York City said at the Investment Bankers Association convention: "I think we're going sidewise with a slight downward tilt. I'm certainly not looking for any deep rececession. We have a pretty good level of business activity. I think there's a good chance that within a matter of months there will be a slight upturn."

Chairman Ralph J. Cordiner of General Electric Co. said he was confident of a business revival in 1961 but added that "it's anybody's guess" when it comes.

UPTURN

Tom Campbell, editor-in chief of the trade publication Iron Age, said he looks for an upturn in steel production next March and a boom in 1962.

Steel output the past week edged up only to an estimated level of 49.3 per cent of capacity from the previous week's 48 per cent. Steel executives forecast further decline in December, traditionally a slow month.

Pay raises of 7 to 13 cents an hour went into effect for 500,000 basic steel workers as a result of the contract which settled last year's strike. There were no indications that an increase in steel prices is imminent. Keen competition and slow demand are working against the likelihood of a boost in the near future.

By contrast, the automobile industry was a bright spot in the economic picture.

Production jumped back from the holiday week with an estimated output of 141,000 passenger cars. The previous week's total was 111,181.

The automakers rolled out 597,116 cars in November, bringing the year's total so far to 6,172,075, more than a million ahead of a year ago.

New car sales in the middle third of November totaled 165,200, second best on record for the period.

New construction rose one per cent in November to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $55.781 billion from $54.781 billion in October. Spending for private residential buildings advanced to an annual rate of $21.169 billion from $21.134 billion the previous month.

Briefly around the business scene: The Navy awarded a $70.1-million contract to Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp. For production of A2F1 intruder aircraft . . . .At least 25 per cent of the 1960-61 citrus juice production will be packed in aluminum cans. . . . A new juke box announces only commercials until someone puts in a dime for music. . . .The Pennsylvania Railroad kept its dividend payment record unbroken for 113 years by paying 25 cents a share for the fourth quarter. . . . Ownership of U.S. corporate securities by life insurance companies has exceeded the $50 billion mark.

Cotton Futures Show Mixed On N. Y. Exchange

NEW YORK (AP) — Following an indecisive start, cotton futures turned firmer on the New York Cotton Exchange this week. On the final trading day, prices again softened.

At the close of the week futures were $1.05 a bale higher to 5 cents down from a week previous. The only net loss was in the distant March contract.

A sustaining factor during the week was short covering in the December delivery. Commission houses bought the deferred months on belief 1961 crop price supports might be higher than originally anticipated.

Offerings came mainly from those accepting profits on the advance. On Friday there also were some sales which represented undoing of long hedges.

Exports again slowed in the week ended Tuesday. The New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau placed them at 85,000 bales compared with 118,000 in the previous week and 104,000 in the like 1959 week.

For the current season through Nov. 29 exports totaled 1,155,000 bales against 11372,000 in the same period last season.

Editor's Note—Mary Martin's exultant "I'm Flying" will once more be heard on TV this week, when she returns as Peter Pan. It may sound like drudgery, but Mary, a kind of Peter Pan herself, looks at it another way.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—In the short history of television, few truly durable properties have emerged. Among them "I Love Lucy," "December Bride," and another dramatic property which has been a classic since it was written almost 60 years ago, "Peter Pan."

The original play was written and produced in 1904 by Sir James Barrie. The charming fairy tale about the boy who refused to grow up was such a success with young and older audiences that it still is given a Christmas production every year in London. Now it looks as though this pleasant custom will be adopted by American television.

THIS WEEK

On Thursday night of this week—7:30-9:30 Eastern Standard Time—Mary Martin will play Peter on television for the third time, since 1955. And this time the delightful musical adaptation of the Barrie play has been captured in all its color, on long-wearing magnetic tape which may be rerun again and again.

Miss Martin already has been seen in the title role by many more millions of children and grown-ups than ever were dreamed of by the first great Peter, Maude Adams, star of the 1905 American production. Mary started training like an athlete months ago for the rigors of the two-hour musical fantasy. This schedule was complicated by the fact that she is also currently the star of a hit Broadway musical, "The Sound of Music," in a most demanding part.

"Quite frankly, I was quite worried about Mary's strength holding out," confessed her husband, executive producer Richard Halliday. "But after the first day's rehearsal, Mary came out glowing, danced through the performance that night and then announced it had been the most fulfilling day of her life."

AGREEMENT

"It's hard work, but it is exhilerating," she said. "It has come like a tonic to me—I love the part, of course, and I've been playing in "The Sound of Music" for a long time without a break. Doing this show has been a sort of refresher for the other one, too."

Halliday, who produced the adaptation of the Barrie play first on Broadway and then twice on NBC, says that putting on the TV program this time "takes as much serious planning and rehearsing as is put into a new play or motion picture."

Fortunately, Halliday was able to round up many of the performers who had played in the previous versions, including Cyril Ritchard, the ferocious and bumbling Captain Hook. One important new part to be a cast is Lize, Hitherto played by Mary and Richard's daughter, Heller Halliday, now a grown-up college student. There also will be a new Wendy, the original young actress having outgrown the part.

"We're not planning to make any real changes but we certainly can do something about better lighting and camera work."

The final shooting of the long program took place in NBC's big studio in Brooklyn, where almost unlimited space permits Mary's breath-taking flying scenes to be completely uninhibited by the proscenium or wings of the usual stage. And it is the flying scenes, which require great muscular coordination and strength to hold a position in the air, for which she had to train.

Famous Movie To Come From Television Dog

Arthur Lake, famed Dagwood of one of the movies' most profitable series, "Blondie," is now producing and directing "Jimmy and Me," a TV series about a boy and his dog.

The dog was hailed out of a dog pound for $1.50 and will talk in the series. A number of actors were tested for the voice but none projected the whimsical, crackling voice of the great American underdog as did Dagwood.

FAMED NOVEL

'Studs Lonigan' Coming To Jim

Twenty-eight years after the first book was published, "Studs Lonigan" has reached the screen. The James T. Farrell classic has long been a challenge to Hollywood, but its content has always seemed too daring to bring to the screen and oft times impossible. Now that the books (a trilogy) have reached the status of being recognized as one of the greatest contributions to American literature, Hollywood has brought to the screen this honest insight into the mind and problem of a young man growing up in a Chicago of the Prohibition era. The picture, starring newcomer Christopher Knight in the title role, will open Thursday at the Jim Theatre through United Artist release.

OPPOSITION

In past years, pressure groups have fought against the books on grounds of indecency, but America has been growing up. Now that the public is accepting those phases of heretofore unmentionable subjects in artistic moral concepts of story telling, our movies are beginning to keep pace with those turned out by our international neighbors for so many years past.

United Artists, recognizing the artistic values of "Studs Lonigan," managed to get famed producer-writer Philip Yordan the film rights. Yordan's successes in bringing to the screen such controversial literary masterpieces as "Anna Lucasta" and "God's Little Acre" and making them reflect the moods and concepts of their original forms has won him critical acclaim both in this country and abroad.

Working under the production banner of Longridge Enterprises, Inc., Yordan brought in Leon Chooluck as associate producer and Irving Lener as director. He turned over to them his script which dramatically mirrored the turbulent mind of a boy growing into manhood with a frustrated love and an inability to adjust himself to life against the background of the Roaring 20s and ending in the '29 crash when, with a world going crazy about him, the boy suddenly becomes a man.

The actor who plays Studs was born twenty-one years ago in St. Louis, Mo. A six foot, handsome genius who had won a four year tuition paid scholarship to Harvard while still a high school junior, he broke away from studies after three years at the famed university to plunge into acting in stock and finaly in an off-Broadway drama.

CAST

Studs' gang includes nightclub entertainer Frank Gorshin making his dramatic debut in his second movie appearance, Robert Casper, appearing in his first film after a successful stage background, and Jack Nicholson, a star of many films who continues to bid for more film honors.

Dick Foran, as Studs' father, enacts his best role in recent years and it may be one of the outstanding acting gems in the film.

Editor's Note—Mary Martin's exultant "I'm Flying" will once more be heard on TV this week, when she returns as Peter Pan. It may sound like drudgery, but Mary, a kind of Peter Pan herself, looks at it another way.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—In the short history of television, few truly durable properties have emerged, among them "I Love Lucy," "December Bride," and another dramatic property which has been a classic since it was written almost 60 years ago, "Peter Pan."

The original play was written and produced in 1904 by Sir James Barrie. The charming fairy tale about the boy who refused to grow up was such a success with young and older audiences that it still is given a Christmas production every year in London. Now it looks as though this pleasant custom will be adopted by American television.

THIS WEEK

On Thursday night of this week—7:30-9:30 Eastern Standard Time—Mary Martin will play Peter on television for the third time, since 1955. And this time the delightful musical adaptation of the Barrie play has been captured in all its color, on long-wearing magnetic tape which may be rerun again and again.

Miss Martin already has been seen in the title role by many more millions of children and grown-ups than ever were dreamed of by the first great Peter, Maude Adams, star of the 1905 American production. Mary started training like an athlete months ago for the rigors of the two-hour musical fantasy. This schedule was complicated by the fact that she is also currently the star of a hit Broadway musical, "The Sound of Music," in a most demanding part.

"Quite frankly, I was quite worried about Mary's strength holding out," confessed her husband, executive producer Richard Halliday. "But after the first day's rehearsal, Mary came out glowing, danced through the performance that night and then announced it had been the most fulfilling day of her life."

AGREEMENT

"It's hard work, but it is exhilerating," she said. "It has come like a tonic to me—I love the part, of course, and I've been playing in "The Sound of Music' for a long time without a break. Doing this show has been a sort of refresher for the other one, too."

Halliday, who produced the adaptation of the Barrie play first on Broadway and then twice on NBC, says that putting on the TV program this time "takes as much serious planning and rehearsing as is put into a new play or motion picture."

Fortunately, Halliday was able to round up many of the performers who had played in the previous versions, including Cyril Ritchard, the ferocious and bumbling Captain Hook. One important new part to be a cast is Lize. Hitherto played by Mary and Richard's daughter, Heller Halliday, now a grown-up college student. There also will be a new Wendy, the original young actress having outgrown the part.

"We're not planning to make any real changes but we certainly can do something about better lighting and camera work."

The final shooting of the long program took place in NBC's big studio in Brooklyn, where almost unlimited space permits Mary's breath-taking flying scenes to be completely uninhibited by the proscenium or wings of the usual stage. And it is the flying scenes, which require great muscular coordination and strength to hold a position in the air, for which she had to train.

Famous Movie To Come From Television Dog

Arthur Lake, famed Dagwood of one of the movies' most profitable series, "Blondie," is now producing and directing "Jimmy and Me," a TV series about a boy and his dog.

The dog was bailed out of a dog pound for $1.50 and will talk in the series. A number of actors were tested for the voice but none projected the whimsical, crackling voice of the great American underdog as did Dagwood.

FAMED NOVEL

'Studs Lonigan' Coming To Jim

Twenty-eight years after the first book was published, "Studs Lonigan" has reached the screen. The James T. Farrell classic has long been a challenge to Hollywood, but its content has always seemed too daring to bring to the screen and oft times impossible. Now that the books (a trilogy) have reached the status of being recognized as one of the greatest contributions to American literature, Hollywood has brought to the screen this honest insight into the mind and problem of a young man growing up in a Chicago of the Prohibition era. The picture, starring newcomer Christopher Knight in the title role, will open Thursday at the Jim Theatre through United Artist release.

OPPOSITION

In past years, pressure groups have fought against the books on grounds of indecency, but America has been growing up. Now that the public is accepting those phases of heretofore unmentionable subjects in artistic moral concepts of story telling, our movies are beginning to keep pace with those turned out by our international neighbors for world markets for so many years past.

United Artists, recognizing the artistic values of "Studs Lonigan," managed to get famed producer-writer Philip Yordan the film rights. Yordan's successes in bringing to the screen such controversial literary masterpieces as "Anna Lucasta" and "God's Little Acre" and making them reflect the moods and concepts of their original forms has won him critical acclaim both in this country and abroad.

Working under the production banner of Longridge Enterprises, Inc., Yordan brought in Leon Chooluck as associate producer and Irving Lener as director. He turned over to them his script which dramatically mirrored the turbulent mind of a boy growing into manhood with a frustrated love and an inability to adjust himself to life against the background of the Roaring 20s and ending in the '29 crash when, with a world going crazy about him, the boy suddenly becomes a man.

The actor who plays Studs was born twenty-one years ago in St. Louis, Mo. A six foot, handsome genius who had won a four year tuition paid scholarship to Harvard while still a high school junior, he broke away from studies after three years at the famed university to plunge into acting in stock and finaly in an off-Broadway drama.

CAST

Studs' gang includes nightclub entertainer Frank Gorshin making his dramatic debut in his second movie appearance, Robert Casper, appearing in his first film after a successful stage background, and Jack Nicholson, a star of many films who continues to bid for more film honors.

Dick Foran, as Studs' father, enacts his best role in recent years and it may be one of the outstanding acting gems in the film.

Named Director

NEW YORK (AP) — The League of New York Theaters, the business association of Broadway producers, has named Irving W. Cheskin as executive director.

Cheskin previously held the same position with the Film Producers Association of New York. He succeeds James F. Reilly, who had been with the theatrical organization since 1938.

LINDA CRISTAL and George Marchal are shown in a scene from the CinemaScope-color production of "Legions of the Nile," that opens today at the Paramount Theatre.

'Legions Of Nile' Now At Paramount

"Legions Of The Nile," an explosive chapter from the life of the famed beauty Cleopatra, breathtakingly filmed in Cinema-Scope and DeLuxe Color, a Twentieth Century - Fox release starring Linda Cristal, and Georges Marchal opens today at the Paramount Theatre.

Boldly etched on the big screen this action-filled tale combines the warm and tender loves of the beauty called Cleopatra with the warring and jealous men who sought her affections. Headlining the stellar international cast is Linda Cristal, a stunning brunette who has captured the hearts of the Latin American movie public and recently crashed the American market in "The Perfect Furlough" and 20th Fox's "Rope Law."

Georges Marchal, veteran French star is a renowned favorite among European movie fans and brings to his role of Mark Anthony the acting wisdom of years of experience. Ettore Manni, handsome leading man in many foreign productions plays the young lover of "Legions of the Nile" with fire and vigor.

Set in the year 50 B.C. the plot unfolds with Mark Antony (Georges Marchal) torn between his overwhelming love for the beautiful Cleopatra and his impending war with Augustus Caesar. Cleopatra shows her true love as she begs Augustus to spare Antony's life. Shamed by his defeat on the battlefield, Antony falls upon his sword and dies. Cleopatra, realizing that he was the only man she ever loved kills herself and falls across the body of her lover.

Stress Theme Of Religion In Christmas

By JAMES LOH
Associated Press Writer

How many shopping days remained when it came to pass that Mary and Joseph went up from Galilee unto the city of David to be enrolled?

The question sounds sacrilegious—which points up the problem confronting persons, especially parents, who are anxious to stress religious aspects of the Christmas season in a world dominated by commercialism.

Fortunately there are a number of customs—ages old, most of them—which capture the imagination of children at home as much as the window displays downtown.

Perhaps the best known is the Advent wreath. Similar to it is the Advent house. Both teach the liturgical significance of the days leading up to Christmas.

The Advent wreath probably had its origin in the pagan fire wheel, used in pre-Christian times to celebrate the month of Yule (December).

In the 16th century the Lutherans of eastern Germany adapted the ancient custom to the Christian season of Advent. The practice spread among Protestants and Catholics throughout the country, and German immigrants brought it to America.

CONSISTS

The wreath consists of a circle of evergreens fastened to a hoop or loop of wire, with four candles standing upright on the rim.

One candle is lighted on each of the four Sundays of

Police Roundup Leftists In Riots

CARACAS (UPI)—Police Saturday pressed an intensive roundup of Communists and leftists involved in week-long anti-government rioting that killed 15 persons and injured more than 200 others.

The nationwide search was ordered by federal police headquarters in Caracas where Friday, after more than a week of battle, 1,000 leftist and Communist students gave up an improvised "Stalingrad" fortress in an unfinished pharmacy school building in University City.

Officials in Washington reported that it has been discovered that Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's regime supplied the student rioters with money and arms in their attempt to overthrow the government of President Romulo Betancourt.)

Police reported that they arrested several Cubans in the capital city.

In the port city of Maracaibo Friday night police rounded up 20 Communist leaders and members of the leftist revolutionary movement, an offshoot of the ruling Democratic Action Party. Police said that they found a cache of 100 "Molotov cocktails" in the revolutionary movement and Communist headquarters.

In Bachaquero, in the Bolivar district of Caracas the National Guard searched the Radio Progreso office, discovered a quantity of subversive leaflets and arrested the director and two technicians.

The Venezuelan navy patrolled the coastline to protect against any unauthorized landing, particulary by Cubans or Dominicans.

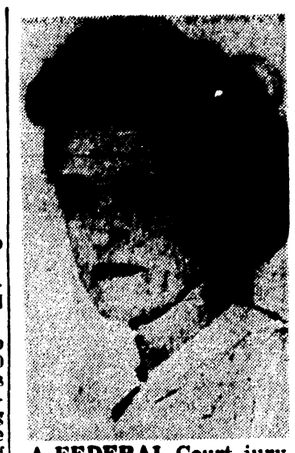

The government said Saturday that it had learned that the plan for the insurrection that had been organized by leftist extremists and supporters of deposed rightist dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez. They said it was uncovered in Barquisimeto.

Caracas itself was quiet in the wake of Friday's surrender by the barficaded students and the burning of two buses in a residential section. But the city was still in a state of emergency.

Colfax Parade Set Saturday

COLFAX (Special) — James Reese Lions Club Christmas planning chairman announced a gala parade will mark the official opening of the Christmas season here Saturday.

The parade will feature school bands, floats and will be highlighted by the arrival of Santa Claus to this central Louisiana town.

Laos Airlift Is Launched By Russians

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The first flight of the Soviet airlift to Laos landed in Vientiane Saturday with 16 extra pilots and navigators aboard but no Soviet aid

The plane was a trail blazer to familiarize pilots with the route. The pilot said the airlift will start shortly with twin-engined Ilyushin 14 transport planes.

The first plane was a week behind scheduled.

More than 2,000 other flights, stretching far into the future, will be needed to airlift the 5,000 tons of petroleum products the Russians have promised as a "good-will gift" to the divided Laotian government. Later flights are expected to bring milk, flour and sugar to relieve acute shortages in areas under this government's control.

An American-made flatbed tractor, part of the multimillion-dollar U.S. aid program in Laos, stood by to unload. American-made planes lined the runway and American-built cars filled the parking lot.

The promise of Soviet aid followed complaints from Laotian officials that America was dragging its feet on deliveries of military and economic aid. The United States maintains its aid program has been delayed and obstructed because of the civil war that has splintered this Southeast Asian kingdom since August.

Kilmer, Smith Lead UCLA In 27-6 Pounding Of Duke

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hard-running halfbacks Bill Kilmer and Bobby Smith led UCLA to a 27-6 romp over the Cotton Bowl-bound Duke Blue Devils to wind up the regular college football season in Memorial Coliseum Saturday.

Kilmer gained 200 yards and won in the 1960 total offense championship with a 10-game total of 1,339 yards.

A crowd of 23,357 saw the Bruins score a touchdown in each quarter and blank Duke, the only team to whip Navy this year, until late in the fourth period.

It was Duke's first appearance in California since 1939 when its great outfit, undefeated, untied and unscored upon, was beaten 7-3 in the Rose Bowl by Southern California.

STATISTICS	Duke	UCLA

Passing yardage	121	55
Passes	12-25	3-8
Passes intercepted by	0	3
Punts	4-39.0	4-39.2

Kilmer led UCLA on its first scoring drive, gaining 42 yards in seven runs and capping it with a nine-yard touchdown pass to Don Vena.

Kilmer scored a touchdown on a four-yard plunge in the fourth quarter, after gaining 45 yards in five trips.

Quarterback Don Altman guided the Blue Devils 61 yards in eight plays in the closing moments with Dean Wright scoring from two yards out. Duke, which plays Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas Jan. 2, wound up the season with a 7-3 record and UCLA with 7-2-1.

A hard-hitting Bruin defense time and again thwarted Duke in the nationally televised game. In the second quarter the Blue Devils, with Walt Rappold passing, swept 65 yards but with first down on the 8. Duke got no farther than the 4.

Kilmer's alternate, Bobby Smith, carried the ball nine straight times for 61 yards to set up another touchdown on the 1, with fullback Almose Thompson going over.

In his farewell performance as a senior, Kilmer ran 27 times for 147 yards and completed three out of eight passes for 53 yards and one touchdown.

His net gain for the year rushing was 803 yards in 163 carries and 64 passes completed out of 129 for 1,036 yards.

Halfback Jim Johnson's brilliant 24-yard run down the sideline to the Duke 2 set up the second UCLA touchdown, with Skip Smith scoring from the 1.

On Kilmer's second personally conducted tour into Duke territory, Bill ripped off 45 yards in five plays, including key 22 and 13-yard runs to set up his own scoring play.

Kilmer was almost a goat. He fumbled three times and Duke recovered two of them.

Altman completed eight of 16 passes for 63 yards but three were intercepted. Rappold completed four out of 10 for 48 yards.

Duke's leading pass catcher was Claude (Tee) Moorman with six receptions and 53 yards.

Elliott Awarded

LONDON (AP) — Herb Elliott, world champion miler, won his first full blue with a deadheat finish for second place as Cambridge defeated Oxford 27-57 in a cross-country duel.

The Australian ace crossed the finish line with teammate D. M. Turner, about a half-minute behind team Capt. Tom Briault, who completed the rainswept, 7½-mile course in 39 minutes, 30 seconds.

Elliott, timed in 40:02 along with Turner, said, "I did not expect to do nearly so well, but I will not be doing any more serious cross-country running this season."

Elliott had to finish among the first three runners, or ahead of all eight Oxford runners, to win a full blue, the traditional award for representing Cambidge in a major sports event.

LAST DAY

Bowling Tourney In Home Stretch

The star-studded Louisiana Bowling Tournament comes to a close at Bowlero and Western Lanes today and such standouts as E. B. Peddy, in singles; P. Gautreaux and C. Adreon, in doubles; W. H. "Sonny" Durham and Robert Creighton, in ragtime doubles; H. Rosbottom, in all-events; and the Monroe Post Office five in team bowling were leaning heavily toward top honors going into last night's final shift.

With another invasion of bowling talent due on the lanes for today's last-leg competition the leaders won't be doing any trophy polishing until the last pin falls this afternoon. More of the state's finest, from New Orleans to Shreveport, will be shooting for honors today and they have their work cut out.

Monroe's Post Office team, an outfit that came up with the group lead last week while it was switching hands between Shreveport and Monroe teams, was still holding on going into the last shift at Western Lanes last night.

E. B. Peddy, of West Monroe, found the 693 series mark he rolled last week still in place at the head of the pack in singles, but a new leader came to the front in doubles action. The doubles lead, for the past two weekends held by J. Tilly and H. Thistlewaite of Opelousas and beginning to look like a sure thing, was picked off by a pair from Lafayette last night, P. Gautreaux and C. Adreon. They held the lead with 1313 series going into the last shift last night. Tilly and Thistlewaite hold a 1282 mark.

The all - events and ragtime doubles lists remained about the same as last weekend's results, with H. Rosbottom, Shreveport, holding the all - events lead on a 1963 score and a local team, W. H. "Sonny" Durham and Robert Creighton in command in ragtime doubles with a shift left on last night's slate.

Team bowling was pretty much the same going into the last shift at Western Lanes last night. Two new members moved up into the top ten but not high enough to cause the leaders much worry. Falstaff Beer, from New Iberia, knocked Kinnaird Small Engine of Bastrop out of the number five spot and another team from the southern bowling city of New Iberia gained the number seven spot with a 3020 score. Falstaff had a 3036 mark and Kinnaird, 3025.

Two singles bowlers moved into recognition after two shifts yesterday. Monroe's T. Tolar took over seventh place with a 672 score, and Bogalusa's W. Walker gained the eighth spot with 669.

Other than the new leader in doubles, only one team climbed into top ten at Bowlero. J. Chimeno and A. LeBato, from Lake Charles, bowled 1270 to take over sixth place.

The all - events list, remaining the same as last week, still read H. Rosbottom, Shreveport; D. Horlander, Shreveport; and L. Tylock, Lafayette in the first three places, late last night.

Following Durham and Creighton in rag - time doubles were G. Parker and B. Roan of Monroe with 1356; B. Owens and M. E. Smith, of New Orleans with 1337 and J. Knipping and G. Paylor, from Monroe with 1312.

Today's action marks the end of the three week - end meet for Monroe, with next year's tourney shifting to New Iberia.

Savages Top Tech Cagers By 77-61 Count

RUSTON La (Special) — Four Southeast Oklahoma State cagers hit in double figures as the Savages defeated Louisiana Tech, 77-61, in the first game of the season for the Bulldogs.

It was the fifth win of the campaign for the Savages, who have lost two.

Max Yarbrough, a 6-5 center, paced the Oklahoma attack, scoring 20 points before fouling out early in the second half. Gauard Delmas Buckmaster chipped in with 17 points while Marvin Adams had 14 and Richard Muldrew had 12.

Veterans Ron Futrell and Joe Daigle carried the offensive load for Tech with Futrell bucketing 24 and Daigle 19. Southeast Oklahoma led at the half and the closest the Techmen came after the intermission was four points at 47-43.

Futrell and Daigle tallied all but three of Tech's 31 points in the first half. Daigle hit a hot streak midway of the first half and rang up 17 points before another Bulldog could score. Futrell earlier had a ten point streak.

Split Decision In Vicious Bout

It was a split decision that drew loud reactions from the crowd in the Sports Arena at the end of one of the most vicious and bruising fights seen here in many a night and probably as rough as the 39-year-old Robinson ever weathered in his 20 years in the ring.

Referee Tommy Hart scored it 11-4 for Robinson, Judge George Latka had it even 8-8 and Judge Lee Grossman scored it 9-5 for Fullmer.

Fullmer weighed 159, Robinson 158¾.

A crowd estimated at more than 10,000 stood for several minutes after the decision was announced in the nationally televised fight.

The pro-Robinson people outnumbered the Fullmer backers but both fighters, who quit the 15th round bleeding from face wounds, drew boos and cheers that shook the rafters.

There were no knockdowns in this third meeting between the two, and the issue is still even—Fullmer won the title from Robinson in 15 rounds Jan. 2, 1957, and Robinson won it back the following May with a fifth round knockout.

The big round belonged to Robinson. The Harlem dandy put on a spurt in the fourth, fifth and sixth rounds and unquestionably his biggest round was in the bloody 11th.

In the 11th, Robinson rattled numerous rights off the granite-like jaw and chin of Fullmer, and it seemed impossible for the 29-year-old champion from West Jordan, Utah, to survive the attack.

But the raw courage of Fullmer even made the Robinson people cheer him as the bell sounded, and he even belted away in the final seconds of the round.

There were cries against Fullmer from the Robinson corner that he was holding, but the Robinson camp was also imploring in loud screams for the Sugar Man to "tie him up, tie him up."

It was hard to say who was tying whom up—but it was certain that Fullmer with his constant attack to the body, as he kept crowding in, was damaging Robinson by eroding his stamina.

Robinson slowed down in the 12th, stalking Fullmer around the ring. But it was Fullmer who landed what few blows there were and the Utah boxer started Robinson's eye bleeding again.

In the sixth, Robinson connected with two straight rights flush to the Fullmer chin. They were hard enough to fell an ox but Gene's expression did not change and he waded back in.

The Associated Press had Fullmer ahead 7-6.

Kilmer, Smith Lead UCLA In 27-6 Pounding Of Duke

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hard-running halfbacks Bill Kilmer and Bobby Smith led UCLA to a 27-6 romp over the Cotton Bowl-bound Duke Blue Devils to wind up the regular college football season in Memorial Coliseum Saturday.

Kilmer gained 200 yards and won in the 1960 total offense championship with a 10-game total of 1,889 yards.

A crowd of 23,357 saw the Bruins score a touchdown in each quarter and blank Duke, the only team to whip Navy this year, until late in the fourth period.

It was Duke's first appearance in California since 1939 when its great outfit, undefeated, untied and unscored upon, was beaten 7-3 in the Rose Bowl by Southern California.

Kilmer led UCLA on its first scoring drive, gaining 42 yards in seven runs and capping it with a nine-yard touchdown pass to Don Vena.

Kilmer scored a touchdown on a four-yard plunge in the fourth quarter, after gaining 45 yards in five trips.

Quarterback Don Altman guided the Blue Devils 61 yards in eight plays in the closing moments with Dean Wright scoring from two yards out. Duke, which plays Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas Jan. 2, wound up the season with a 7-3 record and UCLA with 7-2-1.

A hard-hitting Bruin defense time and again thwarted Duke in the nationally televised game. In the second quarter the Blue Devils, with Walt Rappold passing, swept 65 yards but with first down on the 8. Duke got no farther than the 4.

Kilmer's alternate, Bobby Smith, carried the ball nine straight times for 61 yards to set up another touchdown on the 1, with fullback Almose Thompson going over.

In his farewell performance as a senior, Kilmer ran 27 times for 147 yards and completed three out of eight passes for 53 yards and one touchdown.

His net gain for the year rushing was 803 yards in 163 carries and 64 passes completed out of 129 for 1,086 yards.

Halfback Jim Johnson's brilliant 24-yard run down the sideline to the Duke 2 set up the second UCLA touchdown, with Skip Smith scoring from the 1.

On Kilmer's second personally conducted tour into Duke territory, Bill ripped off 45 yards in five plays, including key 22 and 13-yard runs to set up his own scoring play.

Kilmer was almost a goat. He fumbled three times and Duke recovered two of them.

Altman completed eight of 16 passes for 63 yards but three were intercepted. Rappold completed four out of 10 for 48 yards.

Duke's leading pass catcher was Claude (Tee) Moorman with six receptions and 58 yards.

Elliott Awarded

LONDON (AP) — Herb Elliott, world champion miler, won his first full blue with a deadheat finish for second place as Cambridge defeated Oxford 27-57 in a cross-country duel.

The Australian ace crossed the finish line with teammate D. M. Turner, about a half-minute behind team Capt. Tom Briault, who completed the rainswept, 7½-mile course in 39 minutes, 30 seconds.

Elliott, timed in 40:02 along with Turner, said, "I did not expect to do nearly so well, but I will not be doing any more serious cross-country running this season."

Elliott had to finish among the first three runners, or ahead of all eight Oxford runners, to win a full blue, the traditional award for representing Cambidge in a major sports event.

LAST DAY

Bowling Tourney In Home Stretch

The star-studded Louisiana Bowling Tournament comes to a close at Bowlero and Western Lanes today and such standouts as E. B. Peddy, in singles; P. Gautreaux and C. Adreon, in doubles; W. H. "Sonny" Durham and Robert Creighton, in ragtime doubles; H. Rosbottom, in all-events; and the Monroe Post Office five in team bowling were leaning heavily toward top honors going into last night's final shift.

With another invasion of bowling talent due on the lanes for today's last-leg competition the leaders won't be doing any trophy polishing until the last pin falls this afternoon. More of the state's finest, from New Orleans to Shreveport, will be shooting for honors today and they have their work cut out.

Monroe's Post Office team, an outfit that came up with the group lead last week while it was switching hands between Shreveport and Monroe teams, was still holding on going into the last shift at Western Lanes last night.

E. B. Peddy, of West Monroe, found the 693 series mark he rolled last week still in place at the head of the pack in singles, but a new leader came to the front in doubles action. The doubles lead, for the past two weekends held by J. Tilly and H. Thistlewaite of Opelousas and beginning to look like a sure thing, was picked off by a pair from Lafayette last night, P. Gautreaux and C. Adreon. They held the lead with 1313 series going into the last shift last night. Tilly and Thistlewaite hold a 1282 mark.

The all - events and ragtime doubles lists remained about the same as last weekend's results, with H. Rosbottom, Shreveport, holding the all - events lead on a 1963 score and a local team, W. H. "Sonny" Durham and Robert Creighton in command in ragtime doubles with a shift left on last night's slate.

Team bowling was pretty much the same going into the last shift at Western Lanes last night. Two new members moved up into the top ten but not high enough to cause the leaders much worry. Falstaff Beer, from New Iberia, knocked Kinnaird Small Engine of Bastrop out of the number five spot and another team from the southern bowling city of New Iberia gained the number seven spot with a 3020 score. Falstaff had a 3036 mark and Kinnaird, 3025.

Two singles bowlers moved into recognition after two shifts yesterday. Monroe's T. Tolar took over seventh place with a 672 score, and Bogalusa's W. Walker gained the eighth spot with 669.

Other than the new leader in doubles, only one team climbed into top ten at Bowlero. J. Chimeno and A. LeBato, from Lake Charles, bowled 1270 to take over sixth place.

The all - events list, remaining the same as last week, still read H. Rosbottom, Shreveport; D. Horlander, Shreveport; and L. Tylock, Lafayette in the first three places, late last night.

Following Durham and Creighton in rag - time doubles were G. Parker and B. Roan of Monroe with 1356; B. Owens and M. E. Smith, of New Orleans with 1337 and J. Knipping and G. Paylor, from Monroe with 1312.

Today's action marks the end of the three week - end meet for Monroe, with next year's tourney shifting to New Iberia.

Savages Top Tech Cagers By 77-61 Count

RUSTON La (Special) — Four Southeast Oklahoma State cagers hit in double figures as the Savages defeated Louisiana Tech, 77-61. in the first game of the season for the Bulldogs.

It was the fifth win of the campaign for the Savages, who have lost two.

Max Yarbrough, a 6-5 center, paced the Oklahoma attack, scoring 20 points before fouling out early in the second half. Gauard Delmas Buckmaster chipped in with 17 points while Marvin Adams had 14 and Richard Muldrew had 12.

Veterans Ron Futrell and Joe Daigle carried the offensive load for Tech with Futrell bucketing 24 and Daigle 19. Southeast Oklahoma led at the half and the closest the Techmen came after the intermission was four points at 47-43.

Futrell and Daigle tallied all but three of Tech's 31 points in the first half. Daigle hit a hot streak midway of the first half and rang up 17 points before another Bulldog could score. Futrell earlier had a ten point streak.

To Share Award

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Cardinals' Ernie Broglio and Lindy McDaniel will share the annual award as St. Louis' "Baseball Player of the Year" at the St. Louis Baseball Writers' dinner Jan. 23, it was announced Saturday.

Split Decision In Vicious Bout

It was a split decision that drew loud reactions from the crowd in the Sports Arena at the end of one of the most vicious and bruising fights seen here in many a night and probably as rough as the 39-year-old Robinson ever weathered in his 20 years in the ring.

Referee Tommy Hart scored it 11-4 for Robinson, Judge George Latka had it even 8-8 and Judge Lee Grossman scored it 9-5 for Fullmer.

Fullmer weighed 159, Robinson 158¾.

A crowd estimated at more than 10,000 stood for several minutes after the decision was announced in the nationally televised fight.

The pro-Robinson people outnumbered the Fullmer backers but both fighters, who quit the 15th round bleeding from face wounds, drew boos and cheers that shook the rafters.

There were no knockdowns in this third meeting between the two, and the issue is still even—Fullmer won the title from Robinson in 15 rounds Jan. 2, 1957, and Robinson won it back the following May with a fifth round knockout.

The big round belonged to Robinson. The Harlem dandy put on a spurt in the fourth, fifth and sixth rounds and unquestionably his biggest round was in the bloody 11th.

In the 11th, Robinson rattled numerous rights off the granite-like jaw and chin of Fullmer, and it seemed impossible for the 29-year-old champion from West Jordan, Utah, to survive the attack.

But the raw courage of Fullmer even made the Robinson people cheer him as the bell sounded, and he even belted away in the final seconds of the round.

There were cries against Fullmer from the Robinson corner that he was holding, but the Robinson camp was also imploring in loud screams for the Sugar Man to "tie him up, tie him up."

It was hard to say who was tying whom up—but it was certain that Fullmer with his constant attack to the body, as he kept crowding in, was damaging Robinson by eroding his stamina.

Robinson slowed down in the 12th, stalking Fullmer around the ring. But it was Fullmer who landed what few blows there were and the Utah boxer started Robinson's eye bleeding again.

In the sixth, Robinson connected with two straight rights flush to the Fullmer chin. They were hard enough to fell an ox but Gene's expression did not change and he waded back in.

In the California scoring system, the winner of a round gets from one to five points, the loser none and the even rounds are scoreless.

The Associated Press had Fullmer ahead 7-6.

Irish Top Forest In Bastrop Meet

BASTROP, La. (Special) —Defending class A champion St. Matthew's handed Forest its first defeat of the season and gained revenge for an earlier licking with a 65-53 triumph here last night in the finals of the Bastrop Tournain the girls' final.

a 40-38 victory over West Monroe ment.

Betty Johnson's layup with sec-30-65 decision to Forest at Monroe earlier this year, couldn't hold down all-state candidate Larry Butler, who scored 35 points, but did muffle Mike Vining and Raymond Mariche, who scored 19 each in the first game. Vining and Mariche got only eight apiece last night.

John Varino led St. Matthew's with 18 points and was named the meet's most valuable player. Charlie Biggar got 15 for the Irish.

Neville edged Bastrop, 57-56, in the boys' division and Neville beat Bastrop girls, 43-28, in consolation games. Frank Keith got 32 points for Neville boys and Brenda Cobb Bastrop.

27 for the girls. Bonnie Hardy led Bastrop girls with 14 and George Madison bucketed 23 for the local boys.

Truett Nolan of Neville, St. Matthew's Buddy Embanato, Forest's Butler and Mariche, Willie Capers of Kilbourne and George Madison of Bastrop were named on the boy s'all-tourney team.

St. Matthew's tripped Neville, 74-53, in the semifinals as Frankie Accardo led the way with 22 points and Embanato got 18. Butch Cerniglia got 19 for Neville.

Forest gained the finals with a 76-62 nod over Bastrop, led by Butler's 42-point production. Madison hit 28 for Bastrop.

Lake Providence girls toppled Neville, 58-32, and West Monroe beat Bastrop, 44-30, in the girls' semifinals. Miss Johnson got 35 for Lake Providence, Brenda Cobb 25 for Neville, Donna Parker 16 and Nancy Smith 15 for West Monroe and Kathy Dowdy 20 for Bastrop.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT

Giles, Cronin Optimistic About Expansion To Ten

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Prospects for the American League's prompt expansion to 10 teams grew even brighter when Warren Giles and Joe Cronin expressed optimism Saturday that the two major leagues will settle their differences within the next day or two.

Giles, the National League president, and Cronin, who heads the American League, met with Commissioner Ford Frick for two days in New Yory during the past week to work out an amendment to Rule One, which covers expansion procedure.

Frick said, "several amendments" had been worked out and they will be presented to the major leagues for approval on Monday.

"I'm pledged to secrecy so I can't say anything about the amendments," Frick said.

Giles and Cronin, however, both voiced their belief that an agreement will be reached.

"I would have to say that the atmosphere for possible agreement between the two leagues is far better now as a result of the two-day meeting we had in New York," Giles said.

"Our league is meeting on Monday, and the amendments may be taken up at that time. I think there is a good chance the two leagues may get together this time."

"Cronin was of the same opinion.

"I'm much more hoepful than I was a week ago," said the American League president. "Maybe this entire business can be settled satisfactorily within the next couple of days."

Under Rule One, as it is written in the books now, no major league team may move into the territory of another without the unanimous consent of all 16 clugs. Frick would give no hint as to the amendments he, Cronin, and Giles agreed upon, but one of the new proposals may call for only majority consent rather than unanimous consent.

In the event Rule One is rewritten so that only majority consent is required for a team to move into another's territory, the American League still would be able to move a franchise into Los Angeles in 1961, even should the National League vote against such a move.

Frick would hold the deciding vote in such an eventuality and he has said repeatedly he is in favor of expansion, provided it is done "in orderly fashion."

Up to now, the chief stumbling block in the way of the American League's entry into Los Angeles has been Dodger owner Walter O'Malley.

While Giles did not say so, it was learned that he has had several recent conferences with O'Malley and the Dodger president may now be more open-minded about the American League's move into what he considers his backyard.

As soon as a satisfactory amendment is agreed upon by both major leagues, the wheels automatically will go into motion toward putting an A. L. team in Los Angeles. The two new A. L. franchises — Los Angeles and Washington — then would choose their players from a pool which has been set aside by the other eight A. L. teams.

Mizell Signed

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday night signed left-hander Wilmer (Vinegar) Bend Mizell for a reported $25,000, a slight increase over last season.

Mizell won 14 games, lost eight and posted a 3.50 earned run average last year.

Arkansas A&M Tops Delta State

MONTICELLO, Ark. (AP) Arkansas A&M held a steady lead for a 70-57 basketball victory over Delta State Saturday night.

The Aggies, leading by four or five points most of the game, pulled away in the closing minutes. Danny Chambers, second high scorer for A&M with 15 points, hit 10 points on free throws to spark the final push.

Marshall Day of A&M led all scoring with 21 points. John Long had 20 and Dave Belford 14 for Delta.

FIRST DEAL

Giants Get Harvey Kuenn For Antonelli, Kirkland

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Harvey Kuenn, Cleveland's former American League batting champion, was traded Saturday to the San Francisco Giants for lefty Johnny Antonelli, one-time pitching ace, and hard-hitting outfielder Willie Kirkland, in the first deal of the major league meetings.

The blond -haired, articulate Kuenn—here as American League player representative — learned of the trade in a telephone call from his wife, Dixie, from their home in West Allis, Wis. Called out of a meeting, Kuenn's first words when he learned of the trade were:

"Oh, my goodness!" he told bystanders, "she was thrilled — she has been after me for three years to take us to San Francisco for a visit. Now I hope we stay there permanently."

Kuenn's wife, formerly Miss Wisconsin, told him she heard of the trade from an Associated Press report on radio.

The deal was scheduled to be announced Sunday night, but after it was disclosed by The Associated Press, it was announced officially.

Told that he would be given a shot at third base, Kuenn said, "I'll give it a try. My left foot (suffered a hairline fracture in August) is strong now—I've been playing golf every day.

"I know the Giants have a good team. They tell me their park is suited to my kind of hitting but I won't know until I play there."

Frank Lane, Cleveland general manager, said "it's always my lot to trade the fellows I like the most. Harvey was one of the finest gentlemen I've ever met. But we needed more pitching and power and I think Antonelli and Kirkland will provide both."

The 2-for-1 inter-league transaction involving top-flight performers ranks as one of the most important in recent years and could play a vital role in shaping up the pennant races of both leagues in 1961.

Kuenn, oddly enough, figured in one of the biggest trades of the 1960 season when the Indians acquired him from the Detroit Tigers in a straight swap for outfielder Rocky Colavito.

Sunday is Harvey's birthday—his 30th.

The blond-haired Kuenn, generally regarded as one of the most scientific batters in the game, has been one of the top-drawer stars of the American League ever since he won rookie of the year honors with the Tigers in 1953. He batted .308 that year and topped all shorstops in his league in total fielding chances.

A former University of Wisconsin all-around star, he was given a $55,000 bonus by Detroit in June 1952. After hitting over .300 in all but one of his seven years with the Tigers and capping his Detroit stay by winning the batting championship with a .353 mark in 1959 he was traded to the Indians. In his only year with Cleveland Kuenn batted .308 to lead his club in hitting. A bone fracture in his left foot kept him out of the lineup the final month of the season. He owns a lifetime batting average of .313.

Antonelli, one of the pitching mainstays of the National League, suffered his poorest season as a Giant last year, winning 6 and losing 7. After a poor start he was relegated to the bullpen where he regained his form in the final months of the campaign.

The 30-year-old left-hander, like Kuenn, was a bonus boy. He was 18 in June 1948 when the then Boston Braves, gave him $65,000 to sign. No sooner did he begin to pay back dividends with a 12-12 record in 1953 than he was traded to the Giants along with pitcher Don Liddle, catcher Ebba St. Clair and infielder Billy Klaus for 1951 pennant hero Bobby Thomson, catcher Sam Calderone and $50,000.

Antonelli, in his first year with the Giants, captured all pitching laurels with a 21-7 won-lost record and 2.29 earned run average.

The Giants won the pennant that year, 1954, and the world championship, sweeping the Indians in four straight. Antonelli won one game and saved another.

It is no secret that Antonelli was unhappy in San Francisco in his last year and asked to be traded. A native of Rochester, N.Y., he had hoped to be dealt to the Yankees, but the American League champions refused to part with catcher Johnny Blanchard, the Giants' target.

Kirkland, 26 last February, batted .252 last season but slammed 21 home runs, 10 triples and 21 doubles.

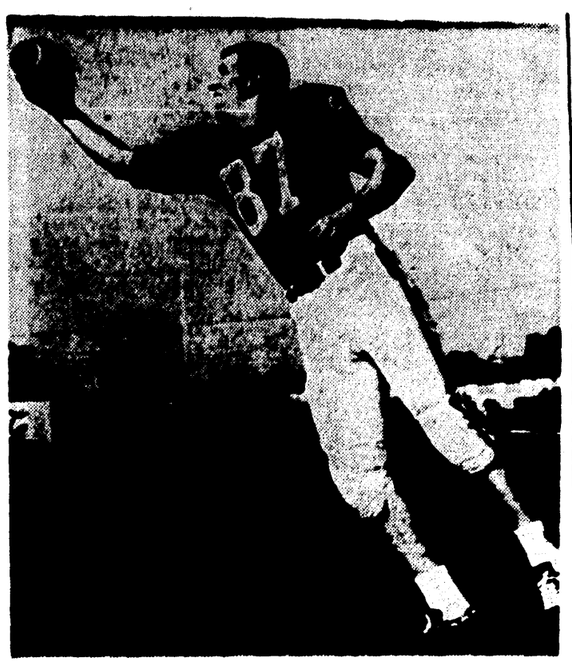

A strong-armed right-fielder, he stole 12 bases, indicating good speed for a 6-foot-1, 212-pounder. In three years with the Giants he has never hit higher than .272, but he owns 57 homers and has driven in 189 runs in that period. He was hitting well over .300 last year until gripped by a severe mid-season slump.

Alvin Dark, new manager of the Giants, plans to give Kuenn a shot at third base. Originally a shortstop, Kuenn switched to the outfield in 1956 and was named to the All-Star team in four of the last five years.

If Kuenn fails, he will be moved either to left or right field, depending on the showing of McCovey and Alou.

Antonelli will be given an opportunity as a starting pitcher next spring, rounding out a Cleveland staff that includes Jim Perry, Gary Bell, Jim Grant, Bobby Locke, Barry Latman and Dick Stigman. If Antonelli fails to make it as a starter, he will be returned to the bullpen. Indians Manager Jimmy Dykes plans to open with Kirkland in right field.

NORRIS BEATS EILAND

Northeast Takes Conference Title

NATCHITOCHES, La. (Special) — Northeast captured the team title easily and oldster Fred Norris of McNeese jogged home 210 yards ahead of the pack to win the individual title in the Gulf States Conference cross country run here yesterday afternoon.

Bob Groseclose's Northeast team, reclaiming the title it won in 1958, bested defending champion Louisiana Tech by 21 points, 35 to 56, in the team standings. The team with the lowest score wins in cross country competition.

Northeast's Don "Buddy" Eiland, the defending individual champ, finished second to the amazing Norris, a 39-year-old feshman from England. Norris recorded a 13:24.1 clocking over the three - mile course while Eiland came in at 13:58.5.

A fourth - place finish by Jack Williams at 14:28.1, Bill Frye's fifth - place windup at 14:34.0, an eight - place finish by Charlie McCullen at 14:51.0, and George Abbott's 16th place at 15:31 gave Northeast its 35 points.

The top five finishers from each school are counted in the standings. The other Tribe runners, Jimmy Ezell, was 21st with a 15.50 time.

McNeese was third in team standings with 69 points and Southeastern fourth with 104.

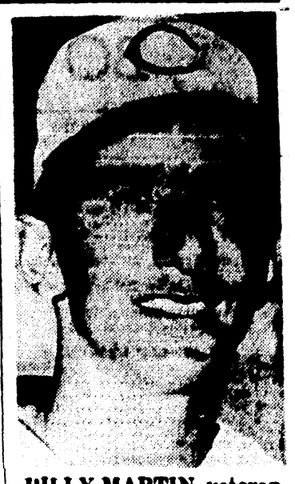

Neither Northwestern nor Southwestern qualified enough runners, five, for the meet and thus were not eligible for the championship.

There were 40 entries and 38 finishers in the meet.

The first ten:

1—Fred Norris, McNeese, 13:24.1.
2—Don Eiland, Northeast, 13:58.5.

BILLY MARTIN, veteran second baseman, was sold by the Cincinnati Reds to the Milwaukee Braves yesterday for $40,000 in a straight cash deal. (AP Wirephoto)

Redlegs Sell Billy Martin To Milwaukee

S. LOUIS (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves Saturday purchased Billy Martin, veteran second baseman, from the Cincinnati Reds for $40.000. It was a straight cash deal with no other players involved.

To make room for Martin, the Braves assigned first baseman Frank Torre outright to Louisville of the American Association.

Martin, 32, batted .246 in 103 games with Cincinnati last season. He went to the Reds last spring from Cleveland along with rookie first baseman Gordon Coleman and pitcher Cal McLish in exchange for Johnny Temple.

The announcement was made by John McHale, general manager of the Braves, here for the major league meetings.

"Charlie Dressen, (Braves' manager) who had Martin on the Pacific Coast, recommended him highly," said McHale. "This doesn't alter the fact that we're still trying to make a deal, but it does give us another veteran infielder."

POTT SECOND

Snead Increases Tournament Lead

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — They tried to catch old Sam Snead in the third round of the $15,000 West Palm Beach Open Golf Tournament Saturday, but all they could do was make him run faster.

The erstwhile hillbilly started Saturday at 138 with a two-stroke lead on the field. When the shooting had ceased over the rolling fairways swept by a tricky wind, Sam was leading by three strokes with a three-round total of 207. He carded a 3-under-par 69 Saturday.

In second place was surprising Johnny Pott of Shreveport, La., who had a 5-under-par 67 for the best round of the day and a 210 total.

Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa. had a great chance to overtake Snead when he went out with a 4-under-par 32 after starting the round at 142, four strokes back of Snead. However, he ran into a four-way tie for third place at 212.

Also at 212 was the pre-tournament favorite, Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., who came through with a 69. Bobby Nichols of Midland, Tex., and Jim Ferree of Crystal River, Fla. were the others in the 212 bracket. Ferree had 71 Saturday and Nichols a 69.

Barnum had a 73 and dropped into a tie with Howie Johnson of Coghill, Ill. at 213, and Bayer, who led the opening play with a 65, blew to a big 78 and a 218 total. Bayer was just too strong, time after time putting his second shot over the green.

Julius Boros of Mid-Pines, N.C., former National Open champion, started at 141 only three strokes off the pace. He had a 78 Saturday and withdrew.

Bert Weaver of Beaumont, Tex., had a fine 68 to hold the 215 spot by himself. Ted Kroll of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. and Bob Goetz of Tulsa, Okla. were tie, one stroke back of Weaver. The final 18 holes will be played Sunday.

The 6-3 Kerwin pushed in 31 points to pace the Greenie scoring attack. Earlier this week, Kerwin started the season as the Southeastern Conference's top scorer. The Long Branch, N. J., native was the night's top rebounder with 15.

Texas Wesleyan's Bill White got 23 points in the free-wheeling offensive duel. Both teams appeared weak on defense.

Greenie players also added points on the free throw line, hitting for 74 per cent of their shots. Besides Kerwin, four other players shot in double figures.

The Neville - Pineville contest will be a semifinal battle while the Waterproof - Oberlin tilt is a second-round scrap.

Neville's game will be held in Bolton Stadium in Alexandria at 8 o'clock next Friday.

N. Michigan, Lenoir Rhyne Battle To Tie

HICKORY, N.C. (AP)—Northern Michigan and Lenoir Rhyne battled to a 20-20 deadlock in their Eastern NAIA playoff game Saturday, but Lenoir Rhyne was awarded the game on the basis of net yardage gained.

The decision to decide the game on a yardage basis, made by NAIA officials on the spot, means that Lenoir Rhyne will be one of the teams in the Holiday Bowl game at St. Petersburg, Fla., next Saturday when the NAIA small college national title will be decided.

Humboldt State and Whitworth of Washington met Saturday night in the Western playoff to determine Lenoir Rhyne's opponent.

The Lenoir Rhyne Bears, unbeaten in 11 games this season, outgained the Wildcats of Michigan 294 yards to 269, a net of 25 yards. Part of this overage was indirectly accounted for on the last play of the game, when a Lenoir Rhyne tackle threw Dick Novak, Northern Michigan quarterback, for a 21-yard loss.

The Westerners had come from behind with three last half touchdowns to go ahead 20-13. A 38-yard touchdown pass from sub tailback Tony McClamboch to wingback Marcus Midgett and Marion Kirby's prefect placement for the extra point put Lenoir Rhyne even with about a minute remaining.

The Bears grabbed a 13-0 first half lead on a 28-yard touchdown dash by fullback Tony Simmons and a 30-yard scoring play from the old single wing Statue of Liberty play by Marcus Midgett.

Northern Michigan got its first touchdown on the last play of the third period, a six-yard dash by Paul D'Arras. Early in the fourth, a 14-yard pass from Novak to end Mike Sickler tied it up, and the Wildcats went ahead on a 30-yard scoring run by Dick Koski.

The battle kept the 11,500 fans in an uproar. Neither team ever held a commanding lead. However, with Florida State leading 58-52 and 3:30 to play, it was evident the Seminoles would win.

Duke Defeats LSU Cagers In Overtime

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Johnny Frye, who makes a specialty of winning Duke games with his free throw shooting, came through again Saturday night as the Blue Devils whipped Louisiana State 80-74 in overtime.

Frye's two charity tosses in the first minute of overtime put the Blue Devils into a lead they never relinquished. In the regulation game, Frye had hit on two free tosses to pull Duke to within two points, 66-64, paving the way for Howard Hurt's jumper which fashioned the 66-66 tie that sent the game into the extra period.

A crowd of 6,500 whooped it up as Frye's free throws pulled the Blue Devils in front. Art Heyman came through with two field goals and a free throw to put the game out of reach.

Heyman led the Blue Devil scorers with 23 in his varsity debut Hurt had 18, and 6-9 Doug Kistler, the Duke captain, had 16. George Nattin, one of the best jump shot artists to show here in years, paced LSU with 25 points. Ellis Cooper contributed 16 for the Tigers.

The first half was nip and tuck, with Nattin's two jumpers in the last minute giving LSU a 39-38 halftime edge.

FIRST DEAL

Giants Get Harvey Kuenn For Antonelli, Kirkland

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Harvey Kuenn, Cleveland's former American League batting champion, was traded Saturday to the San Francisco Giants for lefty Johnny Antonelli, one-time pitching ace, and hard-hitting outfielder Willie Kirkland, in the first deal of the major league meetings.

The blond -haired, articulate Kuenn—here as American League player representative — learned of the trade in a telephone call from his wife, Dixie, from their home in West Allis, Wis. Called out of a meeting, Kuenn's first words when he learned of the trade were:

"Oh, my goodness!" he told bystanders, "she was thrilled — she has been after me for three years to take us to San Francisco for a visit. Now I hope we stay there permanently."

Kuenn's wife, formerly Miss Wisconsin, told him she heard of the trade from an Associated Press report on radio.

The deal was scheduled to be announced Sunday night, but after it was disclosed by The Associated Press, it was announced officially.

Told that he would be given a shot at third base, Kuenn said, "I'll give it a try. My left foot (suffered a hairline fracture in August) is strong now—I've been playing golf every day.

"I know the Giants have a good team. They tell me their park is suited to my kind of hitting but I won't know until I play there."

Frank Lane, Cleveland general manager, said "it's always my lot to trade the fellows I like the most. Harvey was one of the finest gentlemen I've ever met. But we needed more pitching and power and I think Antonelli and Kirkland will provide both."

The 2-for-1 inter-league transaction involving top-flight performers ranks as one of the most important in recent years and could play a vital role in shaping up the pennant races of both leagues in 1961.

Kuenn, oddly enough, figured in one of the biggest trades of the 1960 season when the Indians acquired him from the Detroit Tigers in a straight swap for outfielder Rocky Colavito.

Sunday is Harvey's birthday—his 30th.

The blond-haired Kuenn, generally regarded as one of the most scientific batters in the game, has been one of the top-drawer stars of the American League ever since he won rookie of the year honors with the Tigers in 1953. He batted .308 that year and topped all shorstops in his league in total fielding chances.

A former University of Wisconsin all-around star, he was given a $55,000 bonus by Detroit in June 1952. After hitting over .300 in all but one of his seven years with the Tigers and capping his Detroit stay by winning the batting championship with a .358 mark in 1959 he was traded to the Indians. In his only year with Cleveland Kuenn batted .308 to lead his club in hitting. A bone fracture in his left foot kept him out of the lineup the final month of the season. He owns a lifetime batting average of .313.

Antonelli, one of the pitching mainstays of the National League, suffered his poorest season as a Giant last year, winning 6 and losing 7. After a poor start he was relegated to the bullpen where he regained his form in the final months of the campaign.

The 30-year-old left-hander, like Kuenn, was a bonus boy. He was 18 in June 1948 when the then Boston Braves, gave him $65,000 to sign. No sooner did he begin to pay back dividends with a 12-12 record in 1953 than he was traded to the Giants along with pitcher Don Liddle, catcher Ebba St. Clair and infielder Billy Klaus for 1951 pennant hero Bobby Thomson, catcher Sam Calderone and $50,000.

Antonelli, in his first year with the Giants, captured all pitching laurels with a 21-7 won-lost record and 2.29 earned run average.

The Giants won the pennant that year, 1954, and the world championship, sweeping the Indians in four straight. Antonelli won one game and saved another.

It is no secret that Antonelli was unhappy in San Francisco in his last year and asked to be traded. A native of Rochester, N.Y., he had hoped to be dealt to the Yankees, but the American League champions refused to part with catcher Johnny Blanchard, the Giants' target.

Kirkland, 26 last February, batted .252 last season but slammed 21 home runs, 10 triples and 21 doubles.

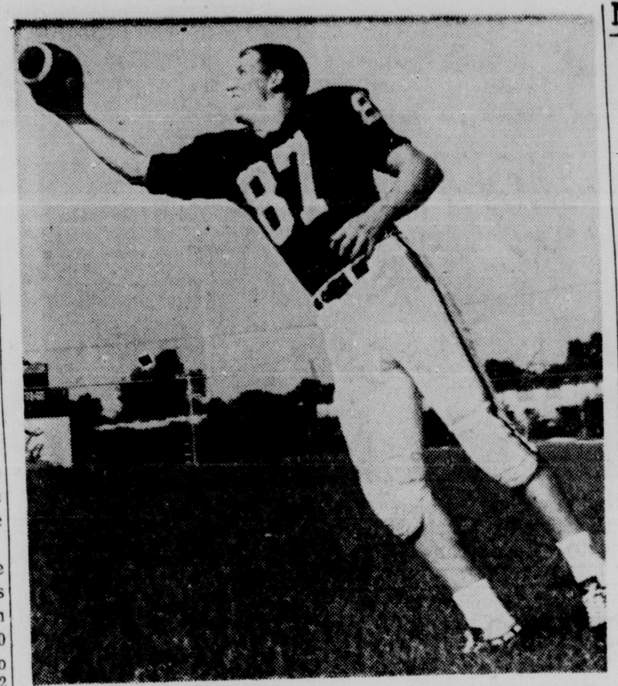

A strong-armed right-fielder, he stole 12 bases, indicating good speed for a 6-foot-1, 212-pounder. In three years with the Giants he has never hit higher than .272, but he owns 57 homers and has driven in 189 runs in that period. He was hitting well over .300 last year until gripped by a severe mid-season slump.

Alvin Dark, new manager of the Giants, plans to give Kuenn a shot at third base. Originally a shortstop, Kuenn switched to the outfield in 1956 and was named to the All-Star team in four of the last five years.

If Kuenn fails, he will be moved either to left or right field, depending on the showing of McCovey and Alou.

Antonelli will be given an opportunity as a starting pitcher next spring, rounding out a Cleveland staff that includes Jim Perry, Gary Bell, Jim Grant, Bobby Locke, Barry Latman and Dick Stigman. If Antonelli fails to make it as a starter, he will be returned to the bullpen. Indians Manager Jimmy Dykes plans to open with Kirkland in right field.

Snead Increases Tournament Lead

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — They tried to catch old Sam Snead in the third round of the $15,000 West Palm Beach Open Golf Tournament Saturday, but all they could do was make him run faster.

The erstwhile hillbilly started Saturday at 138 with a two-stroke lead on the field. When the shooting had ceased over the rolling fairways swept by a tricky wind, Sam was leading by three strokes with a three-round total of 207. He carded a 3-under-par 69 Saturday.

In second place was surprising Johnny Pott of Shreveport, La., who had a 5-under-par 67 for the best round of the day and a 210 total.

Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa. had a great chance to overtake Snead when he went out with a 4-under-par 32 after starting the round at 142, four strokes back of Snead. However, he ran into a four-way tie for third place at 212.

Also at 212 was the pre-tournament favorite, Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., who came through with a 69. Bobby Nichols of Midland, Tex., and Jim Ferree of Crystal River, Fla. were the others in the 212 bracket. Ferree had 71 Saturday and Nichols a 69.

John Barnum of Grand Rapids, Mich. and George Bayer of South Pasadena, Calif., who were tied for second at the start of the round at 140, had disastrous days.

Barnum had a 73 and dropped into a tie with Howie Johnson of Coghill, Ill. at 213, and Bayer, who led the opening play with a 65, blew to a big 78 and a 218 total. Bayer was just too strong, time after time putting his second shot over the green.

Julius Boros of Mid-Pines, N.C., former National Open champion, started at 141 only three strokes off the pace. He had a 78 Saturday and withdrew.

Bert Weaver of Beaumont, Tex., had a fine 68 to hold the 215 spot by himself. Ted Kroll of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. and Bob Goetz of Tulsa, Okla. were tie, one stroke back of Weaver. The final 18 holes will be played Sunday.

A fourth - place finish by Jack Williams at 14:28.1, Bill Frye's fifth - place windup at 14:34.0, an eight - place finish by Charlie McCuHen at 14:51.0, and George Abbott's 16th place at 15:31 gave Northeast its 35 points.

McNeese was third in team standings with 69 points and Southeastern fourth with 104. Neither Northwestern nor Southwestern qualified enough runners, five, for the meet and thus were not eligible for the championship.

The 6-3 Kerwin pushed in 31 points to pace the Greenie scoring attack. Earlier this week, Kerwin started the season as the Southeastern Conference's top scorer. The Long Branch, N. J., native was the night's top rebounder with 15.

Texas Wesleyan's Bill White got 28 points in the free-wheeling offensive duel. Both teams appeared weak on defense.

Greenie players also added points on the free throw line, hitting for 74 per cent of their shots. Besides Kerwin, four other players shot in double figures.

Redlegs Sell Billy Martin To Milwaukee

S. LOUIS (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves Saturday purchased Billy Martin, veteran second baseman, from the Cincinnati Reds for $40,000. It was a straight cash deal with no other players involved.

To make room for Martin, the Braves assigned first baseman Frank Torre outright to Louisville of the American Association.

Martin, 32, batted .246 in 103 games with Cincinnati last season. He went to the Reds last spring from Cleveland along with rookie first baseman Gordon Coleman and pitcher Cal McLish in exchange for Johnny Temple.

The announcement was made by John McHale, general manager of the Braves, here for the major league meetings.

"Charlie Dressen, (Braves' manager) who had Martin on the Pacific Coast, recommended him highly," said McHale. "This doesn't alter the fact that we're still trying to make a deal, but it does give us another veteran infielder."

WATERPROOF AT HOME

Neville, Tallulah On Road Friday

Northeast Louisiana's three prep football teams still on the trail of state championships — class AA Neville, class A Tallulah and class B Waterproof — take on playoff opponents Friday night with only one of the games scheduled for this area.

Waterproof will host Oberlin at 8 o'clock Friday night in Waterproof but Neville and Tallulah travel, unbeaten Neville meeting Pineville in Alexandria and Tallulah facing Lockport in the state finals at Lockport.

The Neville - Pineville contest will be a semifinal battle while the Waterproof - Oberlin tilt is a second-round scrap.

Neville's game will be held in Bolton Stadium in Alexandria at 8 o'clock next Friday.

Tickets go on sale for the class AA game Monday morning in the Neville High School office. The office will be open for sales from 8 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. every day except Friday when sales will end at 2 o'clock.

Advance ticket prices are $2.00 for box seats, $1.50 for reserved seats and 50 cents for student tickets. Prices will be higher for tickets purchased at the game, Neville officials said.

N. Michigan, Lenoir Rhyne Battle To Tie

HICKORY, N.C. (AP)—Northern Michigan and Lenoir Rhyne battled to a 20-20 deadlock in their Eastern NAIA playoff game Saturday, but Lenoir Rhyne was awarded the game on the basis of net yardage gained.

The decision to decide the game on a yardage basis, made by NAIA officials on the spot, means that Lenoir Rhyne will be one of the teams in the Holiday Bowl game at St. Petersburg, Fla., next Saturday when the NAIA small college national title will be decided.

Humboldt State and Whitworth of Washington met Saturday night in the Western playoff to determine Lenoir Rhyne's opponent.

The Lenoir Rhyne Bears, unbeaten in 11 games this season, outgained the Wildcats of Michigan 294 yards to 269, a net of 25 yards. Part of this overage was indirectly accounted for on the last play of the game, when a Lenoir Rhyne tackle threw Dick Novak, Northern Michigan quarterback, for a 21-yard loss.

The Westerners had come from behind with three last half touchdowns to go ahead 20-13. A 38-yard touchdown pass from sub tailback Tony McClamboch to wingback Marcus Midgett and Marion Kirby's prefect placement for the extra point put Lenoir Rhyne even with about a minute remaining.

The Bears grabbed a 13-0 first half lead on a 28-yard touchdown dash by fullback Tony Simmons and a 30-yard scoring play from the old single wing Statue of Liberty play by Marcus Midgett.

Northern Michigan got its first touchdown on the last play of the third period, a six-yard dash by Paul D'Arras. Early in the fourth, a 14-yard pass from Novak to end Mike Sickler tied it up, and the Wildcats went ahead on a 30-yard scoring run by Dick Koski.

Florida State Upsets Kentucky

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Florida State wove an intriciate offensive web of basketball destruction Saturday night and upset Kentucky 63-58.

Using a well-executed shuffle offense, the deliberate Seminoles continually broke men into the open to provide the points that spelled victory.

The battle kept the 11,500 fans in an uproar. Neither team ever held a commanding lead. However, with Florida State leading 58-52 and 3:30 to play, it was evident the Seminoles would win.

Duke Defeats LSU Cagers In Overtime

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Johnny Frye, who makes a specialty of winning Duke games with his free throw shooting, came through again Saturday night as the Blue Devils whipped Louisiana State 80-74 in overtime.

Frye's two charity tosses in the first minute of overtime put the Blue Devils into a lead they never relinquished. In the regulation game, Frye had hit on two free tosses to pull Duke to within two points, 66-64, paving the way for Howard Hurt's jumper which fashioned the 66-66 tie that sent the game into the extra period.

A crowd of 6,500 whooped it up as Frye's free throws pulled the Blue Devils in front. Art Heyman came through with two field goals and a free throw to put the game out of reach.

Heyman led the Blue Devil scorers with 23 in his varsity debut Hurt had 18, and 6-9 Doug Kistler, the Duke captain, had 16. George Nattin, one of the best jump shot artists to show here in years, paced LSU with 25 points. Ellis Cooper contributed 16 for the Tigers.

The first half was nip and tuck, with Nattin's two jumpers in the last minute giving LSU a 39-38 halftime edge.

Ole Miss Star Says Baseball 'First Love'

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Jake quarterback, said Saturday his "first love" was baseball.

The Ole Miss senior, who also is an All-American third baseman, said in a television interview that he would have to pick baseball as his "first love" because he had been playing it longer than he had football.

Gibbs is expected to receive handsome offers from professional football and baseball teams alike. He will play professionally, he said, and the choice of sports will be based on "what kind of deal I get."

Gibbs predicted Ole Miss will have another fine football season next year despite the loss of 14 seniors from 1960's unbeaten squad.

He said Perry Lee Dunn, who was one of Mississippi's most publicized prep players of all time, will move from the freshman squad to a varsity quarterback berth next season.

"The coaches are expecting a real good season from him next year," Gibbs said. "He's a refine football player."

Six Monroe Players Earn Tribe Letters

Home town talent has played an important part in Northeast State College's football program as demonstrated by the fact that six lettermen of the 1960 squad are graduates of Neville High School.

Keith, Nolan and Love were a big help in filling in holes in the Indian line this season and all three saw plenty of action with the exception of Nolan. The 240 pound tackle was slowed all season with a pulled muscle and saw limited action.

Devone Payne and Willie Ragan took turns alternating at the fullback position in the Tribe backfield. Ragan came to the Tribe just out of the Marines and Payne directly from Neville's powerful Tiger squad.

Both backfield men play offense and defense and are regarded as top flight prospects for the upcoming seasons.

Keith transferred to Northeast from Southern Methodist University and Jim Love came directly from high school competition. Nolan is a sophomore and is in his second year as an Indian.

Halfback Terry Reeves will receive his third letter this season while tackle Ross Nolan gets his second and Devone Payne, Jim Love, Dan Keith and Willie Ragan their first.

Reeves, the lightest man on the squad at 150 pounds and one of the fastest, has been a standout runner and pass receiver for Northeast this season.

Hoover, Stars To Be Honored By Hall Of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover and nine new members of Football's Hall of Fame will be honored here Tuesday night. Two of the inductees will be cited at the third annual National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame dinner.

Lou Little, former Columbia University coach, is the only member of the coaching fraternity among the nine new Hall of Famers. The others all players, are Charles (Ki) Aldrich, TCU; Fred (Buzz) Borries, Navy; Gordon Locke, Iowa; Johnny Lujack, Notre Dame; Sid Luckman, Columbia; Clyde (Bulldog) Turner, Hardin-Simmons, and the late Charles Gelbert, Penn, and Neil Worthington Snow, Michigan.

National champion Minnesota also will receive the MacArthur Bowl, and the foundation's scholar-athlete certificates and Earl Blaik Fellowships for graduate studies will be presented to one player from each NCAA district.

John Thomas Back In Action

MEDFORD, Mass. (AP)—John Thomas cleared 7 feet on his first try, then had three eyelash misses at 7-2 Saturday as the record-breaking high jumper returned to competition.

Idle since he won the bronze medal for third place at the Rome Olympics, Thomas had been working less than a week when he took part in an informal meet at Tufts.

Jumping off a new wood takeoff, the 19-year-old Boston University junior started assaulting the bar at 6-6. He needed just one try at heights of 6-6, 6-8, 6-10 and 7-0.

Thomas also won the 45-yard high hurdles and was second in the 45-yard low hurdles.

THREE OF the six local footballers who earned grid letters at Northeast this season are Devone Payne (30), Ross Nolan (74) and Jim Love (80). The other three are Terry Reeves, Dan Keith and Willie Ragan. (Northeast Photo)

Six Monroe Players Earn Tribe Letters

Home town talent has played an important part in Northeast State College's football program as demonstrated by the fact that six lettermen of the 1960 squad are graduates of Neville High School.

Keith, Nolan and Love were a big help in filling in holes in the Indian line this season and all three saw plenty of action with the exception of Nolan. The 240 pound tackle was slowed all season with a pulled muscle and saw limited action.

Devone Payne and Willie Ragan took turns alternating at the fullback position in the Tribe backfield. Ragan came to the Tribe just out of the Marines and Payne directly from Neville's powerful Tiger squad.

Both backfield men play offense and defense and are regarded as top flight prospects for the upcoming seasons.

Keith transferred to Northeast from Southern Methodist University and Jim Love came directly from high school competition. Nolan is a sophomore and is in his second year as an Indian.

Halfback Terry Reeves will receive his third letter this season while tackle Ross Nolan gets his second and Devone Payne, Jim Love, Dan Keith and Willie Ragan their first.

Reeves, the lightest man on the squad at 150 pounds and one of the fastest, has been a standout runner and pass receiver for Northeast this season.

Hoover, Stars To Be Honored By Hall Of Fame

Lou Little, former Columbia University coach, is the only member of the coaching fraternity among the nine new Hall of Famers. The others all players, are Charles (Ki) Aldrich, TCU; Fred (Buzz) Borries, Navy; Gordon Locke, Iowa; Johnny Lujack, Notre Dame; Sid Luckman, Columbia; Clyde (Bulldog) Turner, Hardin-Simmons, and the late Charles Gelbert, Penn, and Neil Worthington Snow, Michigan.

National champion Minnesota also will receive the MacArthur Bowl, and the foundation's scholar-athlete certificates and Earl Blaik Fellowships for graduate studies will be presented to one player from each NCAA district.

John Thomas Back In Action

MEDFORD, Mass. (AP)—John Thomas cleared 7 feet on his first try, then had three eyelash misses at 7-2 Saturday as the record-breaking high jumper returned to competition.

Idle since he won the bronze medal for third place at the Rome Olympics, Thomas had been working less than a week when he took part in an informal meet at Tufts.

Jumping off a new wood takeoff, the 19-year-old Boston University junior started assaulting the bar at 6-6. He needed just one try at heights of 6-6, 6-8, 6-10 and 7-0.

Thomas also won the 45-yard high hurdles and was second in the 45-yard low hurdles.

Ole Miss Star Says Baseball 'First Love'

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Jake quarterback, said Saturday his "first love" was baseball.

The Ole Miss senior, who also is an All-American third baseman, said in a television interview that he would have to pick baseball as his "first love" because he had been playing it longer than he had football.

Gibbs is expected to receive handsome offers from professional football and baseball teams alike. He will play professionally, he said, and the choice of sports will be based on "what kind of deal I get."

Gibbs predicted Ole Miss will have another fine football season next year despite the loss of 14 seniors from 1960's unbeaten squad.

He said Perry Lee Dunn, who was one of Mississippi's most publicized prep players of all time, will move from the freshman squad to a varsity quarterback berth next season.

"The coaches are expecting a real good season from him next year," Gibbs said. "He's a real fine football player."

Gaitors, Atkins Switch Spots In Grid Statistics

Gaiters scored 145 points on 23 touchdowns and seven extra points and gained 1,338 yards rushing for a 6.79 average.

GIBBS DISTANT SECOND

Bellino Landslide Choice As UPI's 'Back Of Year'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joe Bellino, Navy's record-breaking halfback, placed another major award into his sea bag Saturday when he was named college football's back of the year in a nationwide poll conducted by United Press International.

The 22-year-old Middie marvel from Winchester, Mass., garnered 223 of the 422 votes cast by the nation's sports broadcasters to win the award by a landslide.

Jake Gibbs, Mississippi's All-America halfback, finished a distant second in the balloting with 41 votes. Bill Kilmer of U.C.L.A. was third with 27 while Ed Dyas of Auburn (19) and John Hadl of Kansas (11) were the only other players who polled more than 10 votes.

Ernie Davis of Syracuse and Bob Ferguson of Ohio State, who were named on the UPI All-America team earlier this week with Bellino and Gibbs, finished among the also-rans. Davis drew eight votes, one more than Ferguson.

Bellino scored 18 touchdowns and gained 749 yards from scrimmage this season. Regarded as one of the most explosive runners in college football history, Bullet Joe also was used as a passer, a pass catcher, a punter and defender in stellar fashion.

The stocky, 181-pounder played a major role in the 17-12 victory over Army last Saturday that earned Navy a berth opposite Missouri in the Orange Bowl game at Miami on Jan. 2. He scored Navy's first touchdown on a four-yard sweep, turned in two long runs from deep in Middle territory, and made a last-minute goal-line pass interception.

Others who received votes in the back-of-the-year poll:

Eight—Roman Gabriel, North Carolina State.

Seven—Tom Matte, Ohio State.

Five—Pervis Atkins, New Mexico State.

Three — Bob Schloredt, Washington.

HINTON NAMED

Blue-Gray Grid Stars Announced

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Plenty of aerial tactics are on tap when two classy squads of college all-stars collide in the annual Blue-Gray football game Dec. 31.

Complete rosters announced Saturday forecast potent passing offensives in a high-scoring thriller, but both teams also pack the power to launch a formidable ground attack if the passing fails to pay off.

Led by three talented passing quarterbacks — Georgia's Francis Tarkenton, Norman Snead of Wake Forest and Jerry Eisaman of Kentucky—the Rebels will be after a comeback in the nationally televised clash.

Although the Southerners have won 13 of the 21 games in the intersectional series, they have dropped the last two to rugged Yankee invaders—and this year's Blue team appears no less fearsome.

With such passers as quarterbacks Bernie Allen of Purdue and Dale Betty of Maryland and a brigade of other hard-running backs, the North might pull out an unprecedented third straight victory.

But the Yankees will have their hands full contending with Tarkenton, the Georgia Bulldog sparkplug who led the Southeastern Conference in passing and total offense. He ranks fourth in the nation in passing.

The Yanks aren't lacking in standouts either. Allen spearheaded Purdue's upset victory over previously unbeaten Minnesota, and Betty's accurate passing ranked him second in completion percentage with .621.

Coaching the Blue team will be Coaches Don Faurot of Missouri, Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue and Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse. Getting the Rebels ready will be Coaches Wally Butts of Georgia, Paul Dietzel of Louisiana State and Bill Hildebrand of Wake Forest.

NORTH

CENTERS: Phil Kardasz, Purdue; Don Fricke, Nebraska; Al Demiller, Syracuse.

QUARTERBACKS: Bernie Allen, Purdue; Dale Betty, Maryland.

SOUTH

DeMarco Hurt In Car Wreck

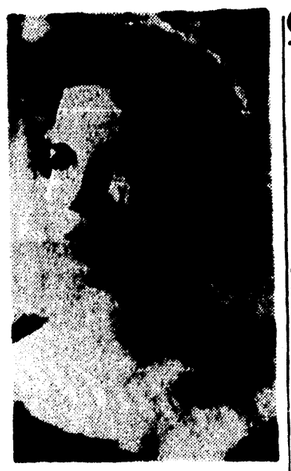

BROOKLYN (AP) — Former lightweight boxing champion Paddy DeMarco suffered cuts and bruises and was hospitalized Saturday in an auto accident.

The Brooklyn boxer, 32, at first thought to have been critically injured, will remain in the hospital for several days for observation. He was injured when the car in which he was riding left a parkway and hit a tree.

DeMarco won the lightweight crown from Jimmy Carter in a 15-round decision March 5, 1954, then lost it in a rematch on Nov. 17 of that same year.

New Referee, New Wrestler At Roll-Arena

A new wrestler will meet Ray Andrews and a new referee will officiate a return match between Jim LaRock and Chief Geronimo at Roll-Arena Monday night.

Reason for the new referee was Geronimo's treatment of LaRock last week. The rugged Indian nearly got away with murder, trying about every dirty trick in the book on the former Olympic grappler.

Referee Ken Cooper seemed powerless to stop the rough stuff and a new official will try his luck this week.

LaRock, incidentially, is determined to give Geronimo the beating of his life. Jim got his fill of rough stuff last week and won't take any more Monday.

Martino comes to Monroe unheralded but has a reputation as a rough, strong wrestler. Andrews, the rugged Scot, has been wrestling here for some time.

The LaRock-Geronimo and Andrew-Martino bouts will be over the hour limit with two falls to win.

Farmer Jones and his pig will take on Mickey Sharp, a bad boy who returns to Monroe after an absence of several weeks, in the evening's opener, a 15-minute affair.

Road House Fair Grounds Race Winner

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Road House, a front-running three-year-old colt, shook off the early challenge of the heavily - favored Rose's Gem and streaked to victory Saturday in the $10,000 Baton Rouge Handicapp at the Fair Grounds.

The speedy son of Hasty Road, owned by R. W. Wilson and Earl Allen, was almost overlooked by the crowd of 11,937 and returned $28.20 to win.

Rose's Gem, owned by Marion Van Berg, finished three-quarters of a length behind with W. Hal Bishop's Santiago a fast-finishing third.

The dark brown colt toured the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:47 1-5 over a fast track and paid $28.20, $8.20 and $5.20. Rose's Gem, the 6-5 posttime favorite, paid $3.20 and $2.60 and Santiago returned $3.60.

Mrs. Joe W. Brown's Tenacious, champion of the last two Fair Grounds' meetings, made his first start of the season and finished seventh in the nine-horse field.

Betting on the nine-race card amounted to $524,507.

OVER VIRGINIA, 26-0

Bennett Sparks South Carolina

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — Buddy Bennett set up one touchdown with a long pass interception return and scored two others as South Carolina blasted Virginia, 26-0, Saturday.

It was the Cavaliers' 28th straight loss to tie the major college consecutive loss record.

Virginia, which last won in the second game of the 1953 season, completed its second straight winless year in tying the losing mark set by Kansas State in the 1945-1946 seasons.

Bennett, a Jesup, Ga., senior who rode the bench for 2½ years before getting his chance as a quarterback starter in the Gamecocks' last four games, had his third straight starring Saturday.

He intercepted two of the four passes the Gamecocks picked off in the first half, returning the first 53 yards to the Virginia 12. This set up the first touchdown which was scored by David Sowell on a quarterback sneak.

Bennett scored the second touchdown on a one-yard sneak and raced 58 yards on a keeper play for the third. Reserve quarterback Harvey Shiplet completed passes of 40 yards to Billy Gambrell and 31 to end Jack Pitt for the fourth touchdown.

Bennett wound up his day's work and career with 103 yards rushing in 13 carries. The Gamecocks wound up with senior centers Jim Nemeth and John Gordon running at fullback and guard Jake Dodkin in the backfield blocking for 137-pound sophomore Tommy Pitcher passing from the spread formation. Bodkin also caught one pass for 14 yards.

South Carolina had a tie and two wins in its last three games after losing six of its first seven for a season mark of 3-6-1. The Gamecocks were 3-3-1 in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

A small crowd of 14,000 sat in sunny but chilly weather to see the season finale between the two teams with losing records.

Virginia, despite its all-losing mark, entered the gme as the top rushing team in the ACC. However, the Cavaliers took to the air immediately and had four of their first nine passes intercepted. Virginia never got inside South Carolina's 35 yard line. Fullback Fred Shepherd, the ACC's top rusher, got 40 yards in 11 tries.

The Gamecocks were held to a 6-0 halftime lead by their own mistakes, losing three fumbles in the first half and having one pass intercepted in addition to committing two costly 15 yard infractions.

Score By Periods

South Carolina	0	6	8	12	—26

41-1 Longshot Tapis Scores Nose Victory

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—In a spectacular, driving finish with three horses hitting the wire together, Ledgemont Stable's Tapis, a 41-1 shot, scored a nose victory in the City of Miami Handicap at Tropical Park Saturday.

Silky Satin, at 19-1, finished second, a nose behind Tapis and a head in front of April Skies, the favorite at 3-to-5. Cuvier Relic was a distant fourth.

Tapis, ridden by Evan Anyon, ran the mile and 70 yards in 1:41 4-5 and paid $85.80, $33.20 and $8.40. Silky Satin paid $22.60 and $6.70, April Skies $2.50.

April Skies, ridden by Bill Hartack, broke last in the eight-horse field, and Hartack ducked him into the rail to save ground. Cuvier Relic raced to the lead and opened up four lengths coming out of the clubhouse turn. Miss Cloudy was second, with Cactus Tom third and April Skies was hustled into fourth place, seven lengths off the leader.

Cuvier Relic maintained his four-length lead into the far turn, then tired abruptly as Miss Cloudy moved alongside, and April Skies lodged a challenge on the outside. Tapis moved into fourth place. Along the rail, with Silky Satin right with him on the outside.

Turning for home April Skies had a slight lead but Tapis slipped through on the inside to go head and head with the favorite.

Seventy yards from the wire April Skies appeared to have it won, but Tapis came on again and Silky Satin stormed up on the outside.

When the placing judges looked at the photo, it was Tapis, on the rail, a nose in front.

A few fans in the crowd of 10,710 started booing Hartack even before the numbers were posted. The nation's leading rider, with 304 victories this year, Hartack had been beaten on heavy favorites in the previous two races—in the sixth race on Board Man (4-to-5) and seventh race on Crafty Master (3-to-2), both in photo finishes.

Navy Wins 69-63 Over Pittsburgh

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Joe Broz, a 6-6 junior who hadn't played a minute of varsity ball, scored 21 points Saturday to lead Navy to a 69-63 basketball victory over a Pittsburgh team playing its second game in 18 hours.

Bronz, from Washington, Ill., hit for nine field goals and three fouls as the Middies led for all but the opening minute. A late Pitt drive, led by Ben Jinks who finished with 19 points to pace the Panthers, closed the gap but failed to overcome the Navy's season-opening victory.

Pitt, which scored an 81-80 victory over Purdue in its opener at home Friday night, led at 1-0 but fell behind early at 16-8 as Broz hit for five straight points on two field goals and a foul shot.

The Middies stretched their advantage to 38-22 shortly before the intermission for their biggest lead of the first half. They led again by 16, at 61-45, midway in the second half but could never lengthen the margin.

Nats Humble New York By 130-113 Count

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Two scoring bursts carried the Syracuse Nationals to a 130-113 victory over the New York Knickerbockers Saturday in a nationally televised National Basketball Association game enlivened by a third-quarter brawl.

Dave Gambee of the Nats and Dave Budd, Knick rookie, wrestled on the floor as both benches emptied and police rushed in Gambee, who suffered three deep scratches on the face, and Budd both remained in the game.

It was Gambee, finishing with 22 points, and Al Greer who led a 17-0 spurt late in the first period as the Nats overhauled a 21-17 N York lead. The Knicks, who had the game's high scorer in Kenny Sears, with 30 points, cut the deficit to 65-56 at the half, but the Nats then clicked off nine straight points at the start of the third period and led by 20 through much of the late going.

Greer led Syracuse with 25 points. Larry Costello added 23 as the hustling Nats repeatedly stole Knick passes and turned on a fast break for their fourth straight victory.

GIBBS DISTANT SECOND

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joe Bellino, Navy's record-breaking halfback, placed another major award into his sea bag Saturday when he was named college football's back of the year in a nationwide poll conducted by United Press International.

The 22-year-old Middie marvel from Winchester, Mass., garnered 223 of the 422 votes cast by the nation's sports broadcasters to win the award by a landslide.

Jake Gibbs, Mississippi's All-America halfback, finished a distant second in the balloting with 41 votes. Bill Kilmer of U.C.L.A. was third with 27 while Ed Dyas of Auburn (19) and John Hadl of Kansas (11) were the only other players who polled more than 10 votes.

Ernie Davis of Syracuse and Bob Ferguson of Ohio State, who were named on the UPI All-America team earlier this week with Bellino and Gibbs, finished among the also-rans. Davis drew eight votes, one more than Ferguson.

Bellino scored 13 touchdowns and gained 749 yards from scrimmage this season. Regarded as one of the most explosive runners in college football history, Bullet Joe also was used as a passer, a pass catcher, a punter and defender in stellar fashion.

The stocky, 181-pounder played a major role in the 17-12 victory over Army last Saturday that earned Navy a berth opposite Missouri in the Orange Bowl game at Miami on Jan. 2. He scored Navy's first touchdown on a four-yard sweep, turned in two long runs from deep in Middle territory, and made a last-minute goal-line pass interception.

Others who received votes in the back-of-the-year poll:

Eight—Roman Gabriel, North Carolina State.

Seven—Tom Matte, Ohio State.

Five—Pervis Atkins, New Mexico State.

Three — Bob Schloredt, Washington.

HINTON NAMED

Blue-Gray Grid Stars Announced

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Plenty of aerial tactics are on tap when two classy squads of college all-stars collide in the annual Blue-Gray football game Dec. 31.

Complete rosters announced Saturday forecast potent passing offensives in a high-scoring thriller, but both teams also pack the power to launch a formidable ground attack if the passing fails to pay off.

Led by three talented passing quarterbacks — Georgia's Francis Tarkenton, Norman Snead of Wake Forest and Jerry Eisaman of Kentucky—the Rebels will be after a comeback in the nationally televised clash.

Although the Southerners have won 13 of the 21 games in the intersectional series, they have dropped the last two to rugged Yankee invaders—and this year's Blue team appears no less fearsome.

With such passers as quarterbacks Bernie Allen of Purdue and Dale Betty of Maryland and a brigade of other hard-running backs, the North might pull out an unprecedented third straight victory.

But the Yankees will have their hands full contending with Tarkenton, the Georgia Bulldog sparkplug who led the Southeastern Conference in passing and total offense. He ranks fourth in the nation in passing.

The Yanks aren't lacking in standouts either. Allen spearheaded Purdue's upset victory over previously unbeaten Minnesota, and Betty's accurate passing ranked him second in completion percentage with .621.

Coaching the Blue team will be Coaches Don Faurot of Missouri, Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue and Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse. Getting the Rebels ready will be Coaches Wally Butts of Georgia, Paul Dietzel of Louisiana State and Bill Hildebrand of Wake Forest.

NORTH

SOUTH

DeMarco Hurt In Car Wreck

BROOKLYN (AP) — Former lightweight boxing champion Paddy DeMarco suffered cuts and bruises and was hospitalized Saturday in an auto accident.

The Brooklyn boxer, 32, at first thought to have been critically injured, will remain in the hospital for several days for observation. He was injured when the car in which he was riding left a parkway and hit a tree.

DeMarco won the lightweight crown from Jimmy Carter in a 15-round decision March 5, 1954, then lost it in a rematch on Nov. 17 of that same year.

New Referee, New Wrestler At Roll-Arena

A new wrestler will meet Ray Andrews and a new referee will officiate a return match between Jim LaRock and Chief Geronimo at Roll-Arena Monday night.

Reason for the new referee was Geronimo's treatment of LaRock last week. The rugged Indian nearly got away with murder, trying about every dirty trick in the book on the former Olympic grappler.

Referee Ken Cooper seemed powerless to stop the rough stuff and a new official will try his luck this week.

LaRock, incidentally, is determined to give Geronimo the beating of his life. Jim got his fill of rough stuff last week and won't take any more Monday.

Martino comes to Monroe unheralded but has a reputation as a rough, strong wrestler. Andrews, the rugged Scot, has been wrestling here for some time.

The LaRock-Geronimo and Andrew-Martino bouts will be over the hour limit with two falls to win.

Farmer Jones and his pig will take on Mickey Sharp, a bad boy who returns to Monroe after an absence of several weeks, in the evening's opener, a 15-minute affair.

Road House Fair Grounds Race Winner

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Road House, a front-running three-year-old colt, shook off the early challenge of the heavily - favored Rose's Gem and streaked to victory Saturday in the $10,000 Baton Rouge Handicapp at the Fair Grounds.

The speedy son of Hasty Road, owned by R. W. Wilson and Earl Allen, was almost overlooked by the crowd of 11,937 and returned $28.20 to win.

Rose's Gem, owned by Marion Van Berg, finished three-quarters of a length behind with W. Hal Bishop's Santiago a fast-finishing third.

The dark brown colt toured the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:47 1-5 over a fast track and paid $28.20, $8.20 and $5.20. Rose's Gem, the 6-5 posttime favorite, paid $3.20 and $2.80 and Santiago returned $3.60.

Mrs. Joe W. Brown's Tenacious, champion of the last two Fair Grounds' meetings, made his first start of the season and finished seventh in the nine-horse field.

Betting on the nine-race card amounted to $524,507.

OVER VIRGINIA, 26-0

Bennett Sparks South Carolina

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — Buddy Bennett set up one touchdown with a long pass interception return and scored two others as South Carolina blasted Virginia, 26-0, Saturday.

It was the Cavaliers' 28th straight loss to tie the major college consecutive loss record.

Virginia, which last won in the second game of the 1958 season, completed its second straight winless year in tying the losing mark set by Kansas State in the 1945-1948 seasons.

Bennett, a Jesup, Ga., senior who rode the bench for 2½ years before getting his chance as a quarterback starter in the Gamecocks' last four games, had his third straight starring Saturday.

He intercepted two of the four passes the Gamecocks picked off in the first half, returning the first 53 yards to the Virginia 12. This set up the first touchdown which was scored by David Sowell on a quarterback sneak.

Bennett scored the second touchdown on a one-yard sneak and raced 58 yards on a keeper play for the third. Reserve quarterback Harvey Shiplet completed passes of 40 yards to Billy Gambrell and 31 to end Jack Pitt for the fourth touchdown.

Bennett wound up his day's work and career with 103 yards rushing in 13 carries. The Gamecocks wound up with senior centers Jim Nemeth and John Gordon running at fullback and guard Jake Dodkin in the backfield blocking for 137-pound sophomore Tommy Pitcher passing from the spread formation. Bodkin also caught one pass for 14 yards.

South Carolina had a tie and two wins in its last three games after losing six of its first seven for a season mark of 3-6-1. The Gamecocks were 3-3-1 in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

A small crowd of 14,000 sat in sunny but chilly weather to see the season finale between the two teams with losing records.

Virginia, despite its all-losing mark, entered the gme as the top rushing team in the ACC. However, the Cavaliers took to the air immediately and had four of their first nine passes intercepted. Virginia never got inside South Carolina's 35 yard line. Fullback Fred Shepherd, the ACC's top rusher, got 40 yards in 11 tries.

The Gamecocks were held to a 6-0 halftime lead by their own mistakes, losing three fumbles in the first half and having one pass intercepted in addition to committing two costly 15 yard infractions.

41-1 Longshot Tapis Scores Nose Victory

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—In a spectacular, driving finish with three horses hitting the wire together, Ledgemont Stable's Tapis, a 41-1 shot, scored a nose victory in the City of Miami Handicap at Tropical Park Saturday.

Silky Satin, at 19-1, finished second, a nose behind Tapis and a head in front of April Skies, the favorite at 3-to-5. Cuvier Relic was a distant fourth.

Tapis, ridden by Evan Anyon, ran the mile and 70 yards in 1:41 4-5 and paid $85.30, $33.20 and $8.40. Silky Satin paid $22.60 and $6.70, April Skies $2.50.

April Skies, ridden by Bill Hartack, broke last in the eight-horse field, and Hartack ducked him into the rail to save ground. Cuvier Relic raced to the lead and opened up four lengths coming out of the clubhouse turn. When the placing judges looked at the photo, it was Tapis, on the rail, a nose in front.

A few fans in the crowd of 10,710 started booing Hartack even before the numbers were posted. The nation's leading rider, with 304 victories this year, Hartack had been beaten on heavy favorites in the previous two races—in the sixth race on Board Man (4-to-5) and seventh race on Crafty Master (3-to-2), both in photo finishes.

Navy Wins 69-63 Over Pittsburgh

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Joe Broz, a 6-6 junior who hadn't played a minute of varsity ball, scored 21 points Saturday to lead Navy to a 69-63 basketball victory over a Pittsburgh team playing its second game in 18 hours.

Bronz, from Washington, Ill., hit for nine field goals and three fouls as the Middies led for all but the opening minute. A late Pitt drive, led by Ben Jinks who finished with 19 points to pace the Panthers, closed the gap but failed to overcome the Navy's season-opening victory.

Pitt, which scored an 81-80 victory over Purdue in its opener at home Friday night, led at 1-0 but fell behind early at 16-8 as Broz hit for five straight points on two field goals and a foul shot.

The Middies stretched their advantage to 38-22 shortly before the intermission for their biggest lead of the first half. They led again by 16, at 61-45, midway in the second half but could never lengthen the margin.

FOUR FIREMEN HURT

Blaze Destroys N.O. Restaurant

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A smol-dering fire crept through the in-ner walls of a century-old French Quarter restaurant and then burst forth in a blaze that left at least $150,000 damage and four firefighters injured.

There were no serious injuries.

On the first floor of the two-story building about 75 patrons of Gluck's Restaurant left unfinished meals and fled into the street, along with the actors, as the first of 33 pieces of firefighting equipment arrived.

Firemen fought the blaze for several hours. The restaurant was gutted, a portion of the playhouse caved in, and some picture of an art exhibit in the playhouse were damaged.

Another building, including a praline shop, was damaged next door, on Royal Street just off Canal Street in the heart of New Orleans.

Fire department officials said a total damage estimate of $150,000 was conservative.

Robert Mackbee, inspector for the fire prevention division, said it might take several days to determine the cause of the blaze because the place was filled with rubble.

The fire broke through from the waitress' lounge, but Mackbee said it probably had been smoldering for some time in void spaces between the many false ceilings honeycombing the structure.

Robert Mackbee, inspector for the fire prevention division, said it might take several days to determine the cause of the blaze because the place was filled with rubble.

The fire broke through from the waitress' lounge, but Mackbee said it probably had been smoldering for some time in void spaces between the many false ceilings honeycombing the structure.

Coming events ever cast their shadows before, and hence signs of Christmas are beginning to be seen. This week, however, the social whirl revolved around visitors to Monroe. NEVILLE BARRY of Alhambra, California, popular house-guest of ELIZABETH ANN ATKINSON, was honored at several affairs. Neville and Elizabeth Ann met this fall when both were members of a party touring Europe in October.

Monday afternoon Elizabeth Ann invited friends in to meet her visitor. The hostess was wearing a black ribbon lace dress, while Neville chose a printed silk in shades of blue. Pink flowers were used throughout the reception suite. On the mantel in the living room were two Dresden containers overflowing with double pink sasanquas. The coffee table held an arrangement of pink camellias, and on the dining room table were pink Fuji chrysanthemums. Dainty sandwiches and cheese dollars were served with sherry to about thirty ladies who called.

Barry was invited for luncheon at Bayou DeSiard country club Tuesday. Hostesses were MAGDALEN AMMAN and DOT AMMAN. The tables on the club porch was covered with a green cloth and centered with a red cornucopia overflowing with pink branches and red balls. There were ten guests.

Wednesday's party was a coffee hour at the home of DIBBLE PATE. Fifteen friends gathered informally in the den for a visit with Neville. Dibble used an arrangement of dried fall flowers on the low table where refreshments were set out. She served caramel nut roll's and cinnamon crisps with coffee.

Another informal sit-and-chat affair was the conversational hour given Thursday by JEAN DIXON and CHARLOTTE BRIGHT in the Bright home. Refreshments were served from a lazy Susan on the coffee table, where eleven guests gathered for a visit with Neville.

MAUD MAYO, BLANCHE RAY, and SARA MAYO entertained at a sherry party on Thursday, honoring Neville. Other out - of - town visitors who attended were MRS. MAURICE HALL and MRS. L. C. COUCH of ElDorado, weekend guests of MRS. R. W. CHURCH . . . Maud's home, scene of the party, was festive with pink flowers. On the living room coffee table was placed a long, low, line arrangement of mauve pink chrysanthemums in a pink bowl enclosed in wrought iron. A green damask cloth covered the dining table, which was centered with a milk glass epergne filled with pink roses. About forty - five ladies called during the appointed hours.

The season's first invitation carrying a holiday motif was received last week, foretelling today's Christmas party to be given by the ALLEN BARHAMS and the A. L. SMITHS. A modern Santa appeared in the bottom right hand corner of the slick, shiny white card which opened to show time, place, date, and hosts. The Paragon ballroom will be the scene of the affair, this afternoon between five and seven. A tiered gold wicker compote filled with gold and red fruit will center the refreshment table. Flanking the centerpiece will be tall Swedish candles. A candle tree placed on the organ will further carry out the holiday theme.

One of the most gala affairs of the Christmas season is the traditional Charity Ball, sponsored each year by the Junior Charity League. Ted Weems and his orchestra will play for the formal affair, scheduled for this coming Saturday night at nine in the Paragon ballroom.

Friday night the Cosmopolitan club's Christmas dance was held on the Frances hotel roof. Silver and green decorations were used to create the holiday atmosphere. Large silver Christmas trees hung with green balls were placed in the entrance and in the alcove opening from the dance floor. Magnolia foliage centered with silver balls decorated each table. Name tags in the shape of green balls with names in silver ink were given to each arriving member. Sleepy Spears and his orchestra played for dancing from nine until one.

Preceding this, JANE and FRED PLITT invited friends to drop by their house for a pre-dance party. Jane, a jump ahead of most Christmas shoppers, even had wrapped packages placed around the tree. Packages and tree, a miniature white one hung with red ornaments, formed the centerpiece on the dining room table. Ten couples attended the party.

Both country clubs are holding their Christmas dances this coming weekend. Bayou DeSiard's party is set for Friday night at 8:30, no charge to members. At Highland Park, the dance is scheduled for nine Saturday night, four dollars per couple. The Dukes will play at both affairs.

Former Monroyan JEAN TABB RILEY returns to Albany, New York today after a two week visit in the Southland with her mother, MRS. M. M. TABB. The two went to Dallas last weekend to spend Thanksgiving with Jean's sister, SARA KEPOE.

Tuesday at noon, ROSEANNE FRAZIER entertained a group of Jean's old friends at luncheon in the Paragon's private dining room. Jean looked elegant in ice green wool trimmed with dyed to match satin. On the table, Roseanne used a pyramid arrangement of white chrysanthemums in a silver compote, flanked with white tapers in silver candlesticks. Twelve guests attended the party.

Friday night preceeding the performance of "Fiorello!" at Neville auditorium, the FRED HUENEFELDS, JR., invited a congenial group for a theatre supper. The meal, quick and delicious, consisted of bowls of gumbo and salads congealed in the shape of Christmas trees. Red napkins and a centerpiece of red Christmas balls decorated the table where ten guests were seated.

In Memphis for a week's visit is MABEL RATLIFF. She is guest of her cousin, JEAN BOUNDURANT, who planned a dinner party in her honor Friday night. While his mother is away, JACKIE is visiting his godmother, LILY HARRINGTON.

A table to delight a young girl's heart was that used yesterday for NANCY GILLILAND's party in the young people's lounge at Bayou DeSiard country club. The red cloth was stripped with pale pink ribbons, caught at intervals with pink rosebuds. Centerpiece was a large punch bowl filled with ice and holding iced bottled drinks with candy-striped straws. Sixty girls attended.

So, we'll go no more a-roving
So late into the night.
Thought the heart be still as loving,
And the moon be still as bright.
For the sword outwears its sheath,
And the soul wears out the breast,
And the heart must pause to breathe,
And love itself have rest.
Though the night was made for loving,
And the day returns too soon,
Yet we'll go no more a-roving
By the light of the moon.

Cowlick Cut Is New Hairdo

Considering a new holiday hairdo? Consider, then, the new "Cowlick Cut," designed by Knneth of Lilly Dache. The hair, says Knneth, should be two to three inches long and if your hair is straight, a light permanent is recommended.

The idea is to create a cowlick effect, centered at the crown of the head, from which the rollers can be set to form a rounded pouf — ending in tendrils brushed forward on the cheeks and as bangs, if you've the face for it.

Cowlick Cut Is New Hairdo

Considering a new holiday hairdo? Consider, then, the new "Cowlick Cut," designed by Knneth of Lilly Dache. The hair, says Knneth, should be two to three inches long and if your hair is straight, a light permanent is recommended.

The idea is to create a cowlick effect, centered at the crown of the head, from which the rollers can be set to form a rounded pouf — ending in tendrils brushed forward on the cheeks and as bangs, if you've the face for it.

MR. AND MRS. HERBERT WAYNE SANFORD

Vows Unite Miss Bryan, Mr. Sanford

Yellow roses and greenery and tapers in candelabra, entwined with ivy formed a background in the Downsville Baptist church for the wedding of Miss Linda Bryan and Herbert Wayne Sanford on November 19 at 8 p.m. Rev. Ottis N. Bryan of Mansfield, brother of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz length gown of white lace and net over taffeta. She carried a bouquet of yellow rosebuds.

Miss Margaret Sanford, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor, and wore an afternoon frock of pale lavender nylon over taffeta. She carried two long stemmed yellow roses.

The couple has established a home in West Monroe.

Sandwich Rolls

When you are planning to use asparagus (from cans or jars) as the filling for rolled sandwiches, it's a good idea to marinate the spears in French dressing. Drain the asparagus well before the buttered bread is rolled around them.

Long Time Favorite

The favorite Christmas poem, "The Night Before Christmas," was written in 1822 by Dr. Clement Clark Moore, a professor of divinity in a New York theological seminary.

MRS. KELLY MAYO HARP

Ceremony In Oak Ridge Methodist Church Unites Miss Rolfe, Lt. Harp

Miss Mary Sterling Rolfe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gilman Rolfe of Oak Ridge, and Lt. Kelly Mayo Harp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Harp of Bastrop, were united in marriage in an impressive double ring ceremony performed at 7 p.m. November 25 in the Oak Ridge Methodist Church.

The Rev. Jack Midyett, pastor of the First Methodist church, Bossier City, officiated at the exchange of vows in a setting of white chrysanthemums and stock in pedestal baskets, against a background of white tapers in branched candelabra. Southern smilax garlanded the altar rail, in the center of which rested an open Bible. White satin rosettes and fern marked pew caps of the center aisle.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Roy C. Windsor, aunt of the bride, who also accompanied a trio composed of Charles Gilman White, Joe Rolfe White and Warren White, cousins of the bride, and soloist, Mrs. Robert Younger, also a cousin of the bride, as they sang "Still As the Night," "To You," and "I Love You Truly."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white cloud silk, fashioned with scoop neckline, and bell front skirt, which terminated in back in a chapel train. Three-quarter sleeves of the basque bodice were caught up with bows and pearl clusters and her fingertip veil of illusion cascaded from a crown of seed pearls. She wore short white gloves and carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and satin streamers.

Miss Katherine Estelle Conger, served as maid of honor and wore a sheath dress of gold peau de soie with a full detachable overskirt. For her headdress she wore a small crown of tulle and ivy and she carried long stemmed talisman roses.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Charles Herbert Wilder of Alexandria; Miss Clara Dee Stahl, New York City; Miss Beverly Schwarner, Baton Rouge; Miss Virginia Sue Shepard, Oak Ridge and Mrs. Jim Westbrook Jr., of Baton Rouge. They were dressed identically to the honor attendant and carried long stemmed talisman roses.

Miss Amy Devereaux Rolf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas Rolfe and niece of the bride, and Miss Laura Harp, niece of the bridegroom, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Harp, were flower girls. They wore full-skirted frocks of avocado green peau de soie, with clusters of small gold flowers centering bustle bows in back. Their headpieces were also miniature crows of ivy and tulle and they carried gold baskets of yellow chrysanthemums and ivy.

Serving as best man was Don L. McGuire of Bastrop and groomsmen were Elred Harp, Napoleonville; Tommy Rolfe, Bastrop; H. E. Oliver, Bastrop; and Charles Hamaker, Monroe. Candles were lighted by Ray Norris, Bastrop and Roy Windsor Jr., Mer Rouge.

Mrs. Rolfe, mother of the bride, wore a gown of emerald green chiffon, with small jewled hat and an ivory orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Harp, chose a navy linen sheath with black accessories and a rose-toned orchid.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. A floor-length silk organza cloth covered the table, which was centered with a five-branched candelabra, entwined with ivy and encircled at the base with old fashioned bouquets. Alternating at the silver punch bowl and serving the tiered wedding cake were Mrs. Shelby White, Mer Rouge, aunt of the bride; Mrs. Edwin Conger, Oak Ridge; Mrs. Martin Laird, Alexandria; Mrs. Murphy Tannehill, Urania; Mrs. W. H. Files, Mrs. James Rolfe, aunt of the bride, Mrs. H. A. Pipes Sr., Mrs. Neil Mott, all of Oak Ridge and Mrs. Roy Windsor, aunt of the bride, of Mer Rouge.

Assisting as tea girls were Misses Marcia Files, Oak Ridge; Jo Lynn White, Mer Rouge; Rolfe Cone, Wilmot, Ark., Mary Allen Files and Nancy Kay Brown of Oak Ridge. Another punch table in the hall held similar decorations and the guest book table, graced with a single candle and cluster of lily of the valley was presided over by Miss Nancy Files and Mrs. Tommy Rolfe.

For a wedding trip to the west coast from where the couple was to embark for Honolulu, Hawaii, where they will reside the next two and a half years, the bride changed to a beige silk costume suit, with which she wore a matching fur hat and stole, and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Harp was graduated from Oak Ridge high school and Louisiana State University, where she was a member of Pi Beta Phi social sorority; Lambda Intersorority, Mu Sigma Rho, Student National Education Associasociation and Kappa Delta Pi.

A graduate of Bastrop high school, Lt. Harp also graduated from West Point Military Academy in 1957, placing 60th in the class of 540. He is now with the Air Force stationed at Hickham Air Force Base, Honolulu.

Virginia Cage Is Bride Of Ronald E. Shemwell

Solemnized in Napoleon Avenue Methodist church at New Orleans, was the wedding of Miss Virginia Catherine Cage, and Ronald Eugene Shemwell, both of New Orleans. Rev. Donald Alverson performed the 6 p.m. ceremony on November 23.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Shelby Cage, West Highland Avenue, West Monroe, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Shemwell of Shreveport, are parents of the bridegroom.

A reception was held following the ceremony with the bride's table adorned with scattered white blossoms and centered with a tiered wedding cake. After a wedding trip to Biloxi, Mississippi, the couple will be at home in New Orleans.

Mrs. Shemwell was graduated from Northeast Louisiana State College at Monroe and Charity Hospital School of Nursing in New Orleans. Mr. Shemwell was graduated from Centenary College and is a junior student at Louisiana State University Medical School in New Orleans, where he is a member of Kappa Sigma social fraternity; Nu Sigma Nu medical fraternity and Alpha Sigma Chi scholastic fraternity.

Wayne Stoddard and Harvey Barney, both of Shreveport, were among out-of-town guests attending the wedding.

Holiday Extras Can Transform One Basic Dress

One basic dress can be given many different looks for evening. A leading fashion authority suggests ten or more holiday wardrobe extras that make the important difference. Bright brocade evening shoes, for instance, teamed with a matching velvet or satin belt, or a brilliant silk cummerbund to pick up the tones of a chunky bib necklace.

The little satin cape, the backward-worn stole (pinned with a jewelled bauble), the fur belt and matching fur bow in the hair (white mink or rabbit for the same effect) serve the same purpose. A gold kid collar and a narrow gold belt, worn together, are still another variation.

Couple Plans Maryland Home Following Vows

Miss Bonnie Charrier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Charrier of Acme, Concordia Parish, and Joseph B. Beaubouef, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Beaubouef of Deville, were united in marriage Saturday, November 19. The vows were read by Rev. L. A. Poole in the Acme Free Methodist church.

Mrs. Joyce Lipsey was matron of honor and best man was J. D. Lipsey. A reception followed the ceremony in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Lipsey.

The couple will be at home in Bainbridge, Md., where the bridegroom is stationed with the navy.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. A floor-length silk organza cloth covered the table, which was centered with a five-branched candelabra, entwined with ivy and encircled at the base with old fashioned bouquets. For a wedding trip to the west coast from where the couple was to embark for Honolulu, Hawaii, where they will reside the next two and a half years, the bride changed to a beige silk costume suit, with which she wore a matching fur hat and stole, and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Harp was graduated from Oak Ridge high school and Louisiana State University, where she was a member of Pi Beta Phi social sorority; Lambda Intersorority, Mu Sigma Rho, Student National Education Associasociation and Kappa Delta Pi.

Virginia Cage Is Bride Of Ronald E. Shemwell

Solemnized in Napoleon Avenue Methodist church at New Orleans, was the wedding of Miss Virginia Catherine Cage, and Ronald Eugene Shemwell, both of New Orleans. Rev. Donald Alverson performed the 6 p.m. ceremony on November 23.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Shelby Cage, West Highland Avenue, West Monroe, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Shemwell of Shreveport, are parents of the bridegroom.

Holiday Extras Can Transform One Basic Dress

One basic dress can be given many different looks for evening. A leading fashion authority suggests ten or more holiday wardrobe extras that make the important difference. Bright brocade evening shoes, for instance, teamed with a matching velvet or satin belt, or a brilliant silk cummerbund to pick up the tones of a chunky bib necklace.

The little satin cape, the backward-worn stole (pinned with a jewelled bauble), the fur belt ehd matching fur bow in the hair (white mink or rabbit for the same effect) serve the same purpose. A gold kid collar and a narrow gold belt, worn together, are still another variation.

Couple Plans Maryland Home Following Vows

Miss Bonnie Charrier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Charrier of Acme, Concordia Parish, and Joseph B. Beaubouef, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Beaubouef of Deville, were united in marriage Saturday, November 19. The vows were read by Rev. L. A. Poole in the Acme Free Methodist church.

Mrs. Joyce Lipsey was matron of honor and best man was J. D. Lipsey. A reception followed the ceremony in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Lipsey.

The couple will be at home in Bainbridge, Md., where the bridegroom is stationed with the navy.

Miss Barbara Rambin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Rambin Jr., of New Canaan, Connecticut and granddaughter of Mrs. Amy Griffin of Gilbert, La., became the bride of David Michael Wood on Saturday, November 26,. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Wood of Newtonville, Massachusetts.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Grant Morrill in Saint Mark's Episcopal church in New Cannan. A reception followed at the Country club of New Canaan.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk peau de soie, styled with a scalloped lace applique neckline, long sleeves, tipped with lace, and a bell skirt that extended into a chapel train. Her headpiece was a crown of orange blossoms and pearls holding a veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and lily of the valley.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Walter E. Hess II of Washington, D.C., as matron of honor and Miss Trudy Rogers, Burlington, N. C., as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Geraldine Crean of Prairie Village, Kans., Eleanor Keller, New Orleans and Betty Gleaves Sydnor of Alexandria, Va.

They wore dresses of emerald satin with matching emerald sprays and circular veils as headpieces. Their cascade bouquets were of bronze and gold chrysanthemums, bittersweet and croton leaves.

Walter E. Hess II of Washington D. C. was best man. Groomsmen were Daniel Wood of Newtonville, Mass., Richard Wilkes of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Lee Supper of West Newton, Mass. Christopher Wood, brother of the bridegroom and Howard Rambin, brother of the bride, were junior groomsmen.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood are both graduates of Duke University. After a wedding trip to Bermuda they will establish a home in Baltimore, Md., where Mr. Wood is employed.

Glitter Appears For Holidays

Dresses for occasions, afternoon to evening, succumb to the influence of glitter and glamor. Gleaming sequins, bugle beads, crystals lavishly embroider satins, brocades, velvets. Metallic fabrics shine on their own.

A prime example is the sleek, long evening sheath sparkling with all-over bugle bead embroidery. Ball gowns appear in floor-sweeping brocades, or ethereal tulle-and-sequin combinations.

Short formals come with flounced hemlines and lengthened bodices, or with fitted bodices and wide, stiffened skirts.

Oven Fry Meal

You can oven-fry cut-up chicken, serving-size portions of fish fillets, scallops and French toast. Dip the poultry or fish in bread crumbs and then sprinkle with melted butter before putting in the oven. The French toast should be prepared as usual, then arranged on a well-buttered baking sheet.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Eunice:

"When finishing a coat collar, etc., with a running stitch by hand, is there a special way to do this?"

Dear H. J. K.;

The stitch you are referring to is called "hand picking", and you will find it on many coats and suits made of camel hair, cashmere, or any other soft fabric. It usually is found on collars, pockets, and the fronts of suits and coats. It serves two purposes; it is decorative on a plain fabric, and it will keep the facing and the garment fabric from separating.

Hand picking is done with Buttonhole Twist to match the garment. Each stitch is taken separately and is made with a series of tiny back stitches. These stitches should be about ¼-inch apart. After your needle comes up on the right side of your garment, take a tiny back stitch and then go forward to the next stitch. These stitches should not be pulled tight, but should almost look like a tiny French knot. If you are doing the hand picking where both sides of your garment will show, be careful not to make more than a prick on the wrong side.

Hand picking is also a beautiful way to finish a zipper. A zipper is certainly not a decorative touch to your clothes, therefore an invisible type stitch is much more attractive than machine stitching, especially on plain colored fabrics.

SEWING BASKET

"Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"Would you please list the items necessary to make up a complete sewing basket. So many women on my Christmas gift list do their own sewing that I thought I might give them a sewing aid this year. Do you think they would appreciate this type of a gift?"

Mrs. W. G. J.

Dear Mrs. W. G. J.:

I think this is a terrific idea. So many of us spend our time and money on gifts that have no real value. What a joy to receive a special sewing aid that we would have considered an extravagance to buy for ourselves.

The mainstay of a well-equipped sewing basket would be: silk pins, pin cushion, needles in assorted sizes, large spool of white thread for handy bastings. Beeswax, thimble, tape measure, 5-inch metal ruler, small, sharp scissors for clipping and general use, and marking chalk.

Some of the "extras" which any woman who sews would cherish are: Pinking shears, 9-inch cutting shears, Pin-it skirt marker, steam iron, sewing basket, Tailor-trix pressing board, and a large cutting board. Add special value to the new scissors by attaching a note "For Mother's Use Only."

FACING PROBLEMS

"Dear Eunice Farmer:

"How can I keep the facings from slipping out and showing at the edges of my neckline: Most women who sew seem to have this same trouble."

Mrs. J. E. H.

Dear Mrs. J. E. H.:

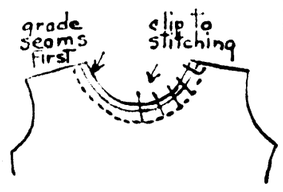

I don't know of anything that makes a garment look more homemade than to see the facings. If the facings were under-stitched, this would never happen. Before the under-stitching can become effective, you must clip and grade your seams correctly. The following instructions apply to finishing a curved or scooped neckline.

1. After the neckline has been stitched, grade the seams to avoid a ridge when pressed. Grading the seams means to trim both seams to about half their original width. Now trim the FACING seam in half again.

2. Carefully CLIP to the stitching line, every inch or so. This is always necessary for an inner curve in order to release the fabric and permit the neckline to lay smoothly.

3. To prepare for under-stitching, you must hold your garment fabric only in one hand and ALL the other seams toward the facing in your other hand. Machine stitch through all the layers of fabric except your garment itself. This stitching should be done as close to the seam as possible and is done ON THE FACING.

4. This is called under-stitching, and should be done with all faced edges except the front of a suit or coat. It will prevent the facing from ever slipping out.

The little troubles you encounter when you sew may be shared by many women. Let me know what they are and I can help you. Submit your questions to Eunice Farmer in care of this newspaper, for answer in the column.

Second Kitchen Can Be Useful All Year 'Round

If you've been thinking of a second kitchen, don't give a second thought to its being "just a summer time thing."

Truth of the matter is that it can come in handy anytime during the year, and particularly so during the coming months when the party season is at its peak.

For instance, let's suppose you are planning a major affair for a large group that will not only fill the main floor but will overflow into the basement recreation room. If you have cooking and refrigeration facilities in the recreation room this will greatly facilitate the serving problem.

On the other hand, it may be that you and Dad want a quiet evening in the living room or library while the youngsters are having their friends in for a party. Having a second kitchen in the basement recreation room will eliminate the need for the kids to be trekking all over the house for refreshments.

Finally, one of the most important things about a second kitchen is not only convenience of use, but convenience of care. Ceramic tile is popular as a surfacing for countertops and splashbacks in second kitchens because it is easy to maintain. It won't stain, scuff or burn; and never needs waxing, polishing, or refinishing.

Hand picking is done with Buttonhole Twist to match the garment. Each stitch is taken separately and is made with a series of tiny back stitches. These stitches should be about ¼-inch apart. After your needle comes up on the right side of your garment, take a tiny back stitch and then go forward to the next stitch. These stitches should not be pulled tight, but should almost look like a tiny French knot. If you are doing the hand picking where both sides of your garment will show, be careful not to make more than a prick on the wrong side.

Hand picking is also a beautiful way to finish a zipper. A zipper is certainly not a decorative touch to your clothes, therefore an invisible type stitch is much more attractive than machine stitching, especially on plain colored fabrics.

SEWING BASKET

"Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"Would you please list the items necessary to make up a complete sewing basket. So many women on my Christmas gift list do their own sewing that I thought I might give them a sewing aid this year. Do you think they would appreciate this type of a gift?"

Mrs. W. G. J.

Dear. Mrs. W. G. J.:

I think this is a terrific idea. So many of us spend our time and money on gifts that have no real value. What a joy to receive a special sewing aid that we would have considered an extravagance to buy for ourselves.

The mainstay of a well-equipped sewing basket would be: silk pins, pin cushion, needles in assorted sizes, large spool of white thread for handy bastings. Beeswax, thimble, tape measure, 5-inch metal ruler, small, sharp scissors for clipping and general use, and marking chalk.

Some of the "extras" which any woman who sews would cherish are: Pinking shears, 9-inch cutting shears, Pin-it skirt marker, steam iron, sewing basket, Tailor-trix pressing board, and a large cutting board. Add special value to the new scissors by attaching a note "For Mother's Use Only."

FACING PROBLEMS

"Dear Eunice Farmer:

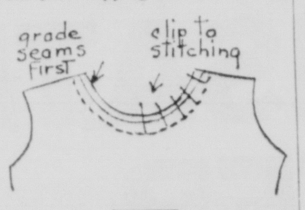

"How can I keep the facings from slipping out and showing at the edges of my neckline: Most women who sew seem to have this same trouble."

Mrs. J. E. H.

Dear Mrs. J. E. H.:

I don't know of anything that makes a garment look more homemade than to see the facings. If the facings were under-stitched, this would never happen. Before the under-stitching can become effective, you must clip and grade your seams correctly. The following instructions apply to finishing a curved or scooped neckline.

1. After the neckline has been stitched, grade the seams to avoid a ridge when pressed. Grading the seams means to trim both seams to about half their original width. Now trim the FACING seam in half again.
2. Carefully CLIP to the stitching line, every inch or so. This is always necessary for an inner curve in order to release the fabric and permit the neckline to lay smoothly.
3. To prepare for under-stitching, you must hold your garment fabric only in one hand and ALL the other seams toward the facing in your other hand. Machine stitch through all the layers of fabric except your garment itself. This stitching should be done as close to the seam as possible and is done ON THE FACING.
4. This is called under-stitching, and should be done with all faced edges except the front of a suit or coat. It will prevent the facing from ever slipping out.

The little troubles you encounter when you sew may be shared by many women. Let me know what they are and I can help you. Submit your questions to Eunice Farmer in care of this newspaper, for answer in the column.

Second Kitchen Can Be Useful All Year 'Round

If you've been thinking of a second kitchen, don't give a second thought to its being "just a summer time thing."

Truth of the matter is that it can come in handy anytime during the year, and particularly so during the coming months when the party season is at its peak.

For instance, let's suppose you are planning a major affair for a large group that will not only fill the main floor but will overflow into the basement recreation room. If you have cooking and refrigeration facilities in the recreation room this will greatly facilitate the serving problem.

On the other hand, it may be that you and Dad want a quiet evening in the living room or library while the youngsters are having their friends in for a party. Having a second kitchen in the basement recreation room will eliminate the need for the kids to be trekking all over the house for refreshments.

Finally, one of the most important things about a second kitchen is not only convenience of use, but convenience of care. Ceramic tile is popular as a surfacing for countertops and splashbacks in second kitchens because it is easy to maintain. It won't stain, scuff or burn; and never needs waxing, polishing, or refinishing.

Pamper Furs To Ensure Longer Wear

Here are rules to follow to make your furs look better and last longer:

1. DON'T comb or brush furs: shake them out.
2. DON'T hang damp furs in closet. Hang in cool place with circulating air. If thoroughly soaked, take to furrier for treatment.
3. DON'T put fur near heat. Both fur and leather will become brittle.
4. DON'T put perfume directly on furs. It's drying.
5. DON'T store fur in plastic bag. Without air circulation, leather will dry out.
6. DON'T mothproof with chemical sprays. Put in modern storage vaults in summer.
7. DON'T pin flowers or jewelry where it will rub against fur.

Shape Of Lips Can Be Changed

Even though you may not have been blessed with a naturally beautiful lipline you can easily achieve an attractive looking mouth by learning to apply lipstick in a way that will correct any imperfections.

According to a leading beauty authority, you can create a perfectly shaped mouth by using a lip brush and taking time and care in applying your lipstick. If your lips are thin, make them more voluptuous looking by applying the color outside your normal lipline without changing its natural shape.

If you feel your mouth needs slimming, first conceal your normal lipline with foundation make-up, then draw the new lip pattern inside, but parallel to your normal lipline. If one lip is straight or thin, fill in with lipstick over your lipline until it balances with the other.

Parents Offered Reprisal In Toy Selection

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Thanks to the efficiency of Uncle Sam's boys in blue and the energy of the contemporary pony express, parents already have Christmas—with all its joys and bills—prickin' at their consciences.

The mobilized pony express—on pre-Thanksgiving instructions from the local toy store — has stuffed into mailboxes the newest edition of a booklet full of pictures of toys approved by the Toy Guidance Council of America.

Bills aside, this should not be a time to fret. You united parents of America, here's your chance to get back at the little rascals who plague you twelve months of the year.

SELECT REPRISAL WEAPONS

For the kid who likes to make like a prize fighter — instead of an angel — when he sees daddy, there's a TGA-approved punching bag.

It's called a "floor platform striking outfit." What it is: A scientific thing that helps to develop cordionation and timing. It's a punching bag on a steel platform.

It includes boxing instructions and has the added merit of being able to strike the kid back if he gets too close — something a parent can't do unless he gets a psychiatrist's permission.

TO RELIEVE MOTHER

To relieve the mother who's bothered by a kid who has the wonderlust, there's a TGA approved walking doll — life-like, except you don't have to bank enough to provide a college education for the darling.

For the toddler who seems to keep you going in circles, the TGA recommends a top—a thing that spins and spins into a satisfying hypnotic state. Costs practically nothing and is worth its weight in gold — while it spins its hypnotic spell keeps the kid quiet.

All of these things, in addition to giving parents five minutes of rest, are toys aimed at developing the child's mental, physical, social and vocational qualities.

The TGA says so.

Party Food

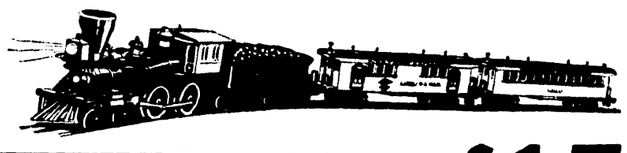

Make up an extra batch of creamed chicken and freeze it. When you heat it add strips of green pepper and canned pimiento plus sliced drained canned mushrooms. Serve in pattie shells and call it chicken a la king!

Pamper Furs To Ensure Longer Wear

Here are rules to follow to make your furs look better and last longer:

1. DON'T comb or brush furs; shake them out.
2. DON'T hang damp furs in closet. Hang in cool place with circulating air. If thoroughly soaked, take to furrier for treatment.
3. DON'T put fur near heat. Both fur and leather will become brittle.
4. DON'T put perfume directly on furs. It's drying.
5. DON'T store fur in plastic bag. Without air circulation, leather will dry out.
6. DON'T mothproof with chemical sprays. Put in modern storage vaults in summer.
7. DON'T pin flowers or jewelry where it will rub against fur.

Shape Of Lips Can Be Changed

Even though you may not have been blessed with a naturally beautiful lipline you can easily achieve an attractive looking mouth by learning to apply lipstick in a way that will correct any imperfections.

According to a leading beauty authority, you can create a perfectly shaped mouth by using a lip brush and taking time and care in applying your lipstick. If your lips are thin, make them more voluptuous looking by applying the color outside your normal lipline without changing its natural shape.

If you feel your mouth needs slimming, first conceal your normal lipline with foundation makeup, then draw the new lip pattern inside, but parallel to your normal lipline. If one lip is straight or thin, fill in with lipstick over your lipline until it balances with the other.

Parents Offered Reprisal In Toy Selection

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Thanks to the efficiency of Uncle Sam's boys in blue and the energy of the contemporary pony express, parents already have Christmas—with all its joys and bills—prickin' at their consciences.

The mobilized pony express—on pre-Thanksgiving instructions from the local toy store — has stuffed into mailboxes the newest edition of a booklet full of pictures of toys approved by the Toy Guidance Council of America.

Bills aside, this should not be a time to fret. You united parents of America, here's your chance to get back at the little rascals who plague you twelve months of the year.

SELECT REPRISAL WEAPONS

For the kid who likes to make like a prize fighter — instead of an angel — when he sees daddy, there's a TGA-approved punching bag.

It's called a "floor platform striking outfit." What it is: A scientific thing that helps to develop cordionation and timing. It's a punching bag on a steel platform.

It includes boxing instructions and has the added merit of being able to strike the kid back if he gets too close — something a parent can't do unless he gets a psychiatrist's permission.

TO RELIEVE MOTHER

To relieve the mother who's bothered by a kid who has the wonderlust, there's a TGA approved walking doll — life-like, except you don't have to bank enough to provide a college education for the darling.

For the toddler who seems to keep you going in circles, the TGA recommends a top—a thing that spins and spins into a satisfying hypnotic state. Costs practically nothing and is worth its weight in gold — while it spins its hypnotic spell keeps the kid quiet.

All of these things, in addition to giving parents five minutes of rest, are toys aimed at developing the child's mental, physical, social and vocational qualities.

The TGA says so.

Party Food

Make up an extra batch of creamed chicken and freeze it. When you heat it add strips of green pepper and canned pimiento plus sliced drained canned mushrooms. Serve in pattie shells and call it chicken a la king!

MR. AND MRS. WILSON JOSEPH BOUDREAUX

Couple United in Church At Lake Providence

St. Patrick's Catholic church in Lake Providence was the setting for the double ring ceremony which united in marriage Miss Virgina Carol Ragland and Wilson Joseph Boudreaux, Saturday, November 19 at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Father Patrick J. Murphy officiated.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Willie Beton Ragland of Lake Providence and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gabriel Boudreaux of Donaldsonville, are parents of the bridegroom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ensemble of textured wool in bone, with collar of the boxy jacket banded in fur. Her headpiece was a whimsey of fur, brown ribbon and veiling and she carried a bouquet of white orchids, showered with satin streamers, tied in love knots.

Mrs. Curtis Morgan, Thibodeaux sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Phillis Gould, Lake Providnece, Mrs. Loy Larren of Monroe and Mrs. L. E. Towsend Jr., of Lake Providence, the latter two sisters of the bride. Each chic in a fall tailleur, wore a sholder corsage of two tone, gold and bronze chrysanthemums.

Thomas Earl Ragland, youngest brother of the bride served as best man. Groomsmen were Jimmy Boudreaux of Donaldsville; Marvin Ragland, Lake Providence and Loy Lorren of Monroe.

RECEPTION

The bride's parents were hosts at a reception in the Legion home immediately following the church ceremony. Greeting guests at the door were Miss Alice Jean Cooper and Miss Jan Townsend. Mrs. Marvin Ragland presided at the bride's book placed on a table beside a tall pink taper in cache of narrow pink satin ribbon and lily of the valley misted in tulle.

Mrs. W. B. Ragland Jr., and Mrs. Percy Ragand had charge of reception hospitalities. Miss Helen Cummings and Miss Joyce Cummings alternated at the punch bowl and Miss Macie Bearden assisted in serving. Pink and white carnations formed the table centerpiece and the tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom and cluster of wedding bells.

Furniture Designs Aim For Gracious Atmosphere

It's a creative era in furniture design, and homemakers, intent on creating an atmosphere of warm graciousness and rich beauty in their homes, are the inspiration. American women are proving that they have both knowledge and discrimination when it comes to decorating, and manufacturers are responding by continuing improvements in quality, style and construction of furniture and furnishings.

Rising incomes, higher standards of living and the pressures of modern life combine to focus increasing attention on richness and variety in home decorating. Families value the feeling of security that comes from an attractive home, and they also enjoy the deep satisfactions of knowing they can take pride in the appearance of their homes.

All this is reflected in the great diversity of furniture and furnishings offered. There are many furniture styles and periods to choose from, although the dominant trend seems to have evolved from the '60's liking for mixing designs.

BLEND HARMONIOUSLY

No longer is one style, one color, one kind of wood advocated as "the" home fashion of the season. Taking a creative outlook, designers blend influences from many countries and many centuries, so that contemporary furniture takes on an international feeling.

Varying designs, ranging in inspiration from the ancient Orient to modern Scandinavia, go harmoniously together. Furniture in the traditional spirit shows the contemporary effect of Twentieth century functionalism. There are fresh, and more luxurious treatments for Early American furniture, in pine and cherry as well as maple.

While function goes hand in hand with beauty, the primary demand is for dignity of design. Handsome details, opulent upholstery fabrics, fine woods and veneers, and a lavish array of colors help to achieve this.

Quilting, braid, scallops, tufting and other details quietly and richly adorn upholstery.

COLOR IS PRACTICAL

New developments in fabrics and finishes have made the ultra-luxurious, colorful look practical, by providing resistance to sun and soil. Vibrant reds, purples, blues, greens, pinks, golds, off-white hue upholstery — carpeting, curtains and draperies, too.

And color isn't confined to home fabrics. Painted furniture is making a definite impact in decorating news. Color may be subtle or bold, rubbed-in or lacquered-on, used as a trim, or over-all finish. Subtle shades, painted on, show off the wood grain.

Girl Scout News

Winter camping? Of course! Girls should get to know the out of doors at seasons other than hot summertime. There's been a troop at Pine Wood every weekend to take advantage of the perfect fall camping weather.

Troop 32, with Mrs. J. E. Wood and Mrs. A. E. Acord in charge, particularly stressed firebuilding and outdoor cooking, always more fun in cooler weather. Troops have been taking a lot of interest in reflector cooking since many of the girls tried it at camp last summer. This troop made cherry cobbler for dessert.

Just seeing Pine Wood and vicinity in its fall colors was a treat to the girls, accustomed to the greens of summer. The sunshiny Saturday was perfect for hiking in the woods, sitting on the pine needle carpet in the sunshine, playing games, or singing.

When Troop 32 first went on an overnight, they held a night hike, so they could use their newly acquired flashlights. Since then, such a hike has been apart of every overnight they've taken. Of course, they follow the road for such a hike, instead of paths through the woods.

Girls who took part are Yvonne Acord, Jane Brant, Omega Christian, Janet Kiper, Kaki Stone, Kathy Shaver, Irma White, Dottie Wood, Benita Williams.

Lucky enough to have a sunny weekend, also, was Troop 60, accompanied by Mrs. D. T. DeMasterson and Mrs. Charles Johnson. They, to, particularly enjoyed the outdoor cooking. Bread twists for breakfast, always a must, are even better on a cold morning when the girls, shivering a bit, perhaps dress hurriedly, and gather around the fire circle, warmed by the sunshine and the fire. When the big fire burns to coals, the supply helped by charcoal, the girls cook bread-twists on long sticks.

At lunch time the girls cooked two pots of campfire stew, and two pans of cherry cobbler, using a reflector fire for the latter. Enjoying the warm sunshine the girls did everything out of doors that they possibly could. They gathered a great deal of wood for the fireplace to leave for the next groups to use. Since they went to camp early Friday afternoon of Thanksgiving week, they had more time at camp than most troops manage during the school year.

MR. AND MRS. ORIE GENE MORRIS

Columnar Look Leads Spring Fashion Shape

By SHIRLEY GALLINA

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) —Even though the fireplace still casts a rosy glow in many living rooms theste December days, it's that time of year when dress designers are thinking about spring.

So here's a preview of what's being turned out on the drawing boards in California:

Briefly stated, the shape of things to come for spring resolves into three dominant shapes. The most favored silhouette is the columnar—a theme with as many variations as there are designers. One of the most important variations is the loose-fitting overblouse—occasionally casually belted, above a slim skirt.

Fashion editors will see them all this week at the 10th annual National Press Week program sponsored by the California Fashion Creators.

Opposed to the columnar line is a new approach to the fuller skirt, taking on such names as the "envelope" or "parentheses" line. Here the width is directly above the knees, then tightened at the base of the skirt with a somewhat hobbled look. This is more an optical illusion than fact, for the hem circumference is actually the same as that of a slim sheath.

The emphasis on the assymmetric line will be noted in off-center draping found in oblique lines which result from swirling fabric to one side or the other of the figure. Asymmetric closures, diagonally slanted necklines, and one-sided flounces further underscore this fluid fashion shape.

Skirts remain static, still short. Necklines will look newest when high in front, very low in back. Cowl drapery, halo collars, and square cut necklines all will offer a wide choice.

THE HOME SHIFT

Month Ahead Busy Period

By MILDRED SWIFT

December! The month of Santa Claus! And - one of our best planting months. Plant or transplant when the soil is not too wet but has moisture. Plant carefully and you'll reap the benefits for many years. Plant hastily, without preparation and you lose the plant or get a sickly one. We've written so much about proper planting. Just do what you know. I will remind you of this - don't put fertilizer of any kind in the hole with the plant.

THE TAMARIX

One of the prettiest plants grown in this area is the tamarix. Its foliage is lovely, "ferny" and dainty, its blossoms a beautiful shade of pinkish-orchid. The foliage and blooms are pretty in arrangements.

The plant, also, goes by the name of salt cedar as it thrives well in salty marshes. However, it grows well in Texas. It's a fair grower in Louisiana: well worth the trouble of planting one if you have a sunny spot.

A tamarix has grown in our garden for 10 years without any problems. I have found that this plant must be cut back. Eva Haynes' daughter from Texas says that is the practice there. The plant will grow six feet in a season, if you'll cut it back each year. They don't grow into trees in this area, but they make nice size shrubs. If you remember the old salt water natatorium, there were several of these trees growing there. The salt air gave them the conditions they loved, so they grew into small trees.

COMPOST

When talking about transplanting I think of the compost heap that turns into the kind of humus you need. The material you composted last year should be ready now to use for planting, or can be put in the beds.

Every growing plant needs this humus or decayed vegetable matter. Humus does so many things for the soil. There are so many "creatures" like the earthworms that constantly need to be replenished. Humus has these creatures. That's why we talk so much about the compost heap. Plants use humus all the time, so there's never a time we can relax on that garden chore.

Humus helps the soil to hold moisture in time of drought. It helps to drain excess water in times of torrential rains and it gives soil an acid reaction. Even plants such as bulbs that like alkaline soil need some compost.

You can buy peat moss in bales. This is of about the same composition as humus, but is more expensive. You can't make peat moss. When you use this in planting, be sure it is well wet down. Many a plant has been dehydrated because of dry peat.

GARDENING

A number of you have called in about pruning fig trees. This is more under the county agents work, but here are some good hints. The best time to prune is after the coldest of winter has passed. Do the pruning before the new growth starts. Normally fig trees require very little pruning. The height can be controlled, making harvesting easier. If the tree becomes too thick, the inner branches become shaded and weak, usually offering opportunity for insects to attack the trees. The inner branches should be thinned out periodically in February or March. Branches which drop too near the ground should be cut back to upward - growing lateral branches. Thinning out the tree each year will result in larger fruit, easier picking and easier control of insects and leaf diseases.

Each year the mealybug infects many fig trees causing the leaves to fall and reducing the size and quality of the fruit. They can eventually kill a tree if not controlled. If you had this bug last year, remove and burn all dead leaves and trash around the tree.

There is a close relationship between ants and mealybugs. Control the ants and you'll help control the mealybug. To control ants, use chlordane. Malathion helps control this insect. Never use this within 14 days before the figs begin to ripen. That's a long way off and we'll talk more on that subject at the proper time.

If you buy one of those gorgeous encalyptus trees, stake when you plant. Leave the plant staked for a couple of years, cutting the top out at the end of the first year. Then you'll have it made. This plant has a tendency to run up tall and skinny and then fall over, often pulling the roots out of the ground.

New gardeners - be careful about studying plant and seed catalogues from northern areas. Their weather conditions are different. Many of their planting and fertilizing recommendations can mislead you, causing you to lose plants. Get your information at home.

If you have mimosa trees or a tree, and yours is a very large property, let them grow naturally. However, on small lots the mimosa can and will take a lot of pruning. In this case, cut the long branches back, severely. Be sure to cut on a downward slant and use tree seal.

Get beds ready for planting roses in January or February. Spade the beds deep, and work in a large amount of humus. Getting the beds ready now, the humus and the soil will have time to blend. Also by starting early you can take advantage of the good weather day. If you wait 'till January to prepare the beds, the weather may be bad. When you get your roses in January or February, they should be planted at once as we usually buy these bare rooted.

POINSETTIA

Poinsettia is the flower-of-the month. You will probably receive a plant as a Christmas gift. The blossoms from this plant can be satisfactorily cut and kept from one to three weeks, depending on the woodiness of the stem. Soak your plant heavily overnight so that the stems will absorb lots of water. Then cut the stems and dip them in denatured alcohol for five minutes-no longer. This sears or seals off the ends and your poinsettias should stay crisp for days.

PURPLE

Fashion experts always seem to make a lot of the First Lady's favorite color. Remember when we wore "Eleanor Blue" during the Eisenhower years in the White House, the big fashion color has been "Mamie Pink." Now, will purple be one of the leading high - fashion colors? Jacqueline Kennedy seems to favor this particular color. Purple is popular now, and if this next first lady continues to prefer this color - we'll continue to wear it.

A hint - when buying any garment, read the labels for information on fiber content and how to care for it. Generous seam allowances and firm, even machine and hand stitching are signs of god workmanship.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Two Stamps From Israel Honor Szold

Two simultaneous issues by Israel honor Henrietta Szold, founder of the womens Zionist Organization, Hadassah, and the 25th Zionist Congress.

The Szold stamp which portrays the first president of Hadassah also shows the Hadassah Medical Center in the background. This tamp will be issued on Dec. 14 — the centenary of her birth.

Born in Baltimore, Miss Szold left the United States in 1920 to take up residence in Israel and remained there until her death in 1945.

Israel's 50 agorot stamp honoring the 25th Zionist Congress depicts the emblems of the first Zionist Congress which took place in Basle, Switzerland, in 1897 and the forthcoming Congress in Jerusalem.

Last week this column discussed the issuance of the 4-cent U. S. Echo I "Communications For Peace" stamp which will be placed on first day sale Dec. 15 in Washington, D. C.

The design will feature the balloon-like communications satellite in orbit with a part of the earth in the lower left portion. Radio waves to and from Echo I are denoted by arced lines. A single star is shown in the upper central portion. The design was based on a drawing by Ervine Metzl of New York.

As stated last week, collectors desiring first day cancellations of the 4-cent Echo I stamp should send self addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Washington 13, D. C. The outside envelope should be clearly marked "First Day Covers 4-Cent Echo I."

reputed to be one of the finest United States collections in existence, was sold at auction recently for an amount in excess of $71,000. Top price at the auction was $6,000 for an unused example of the 1869 30-center with the flags inverted. It is catalogued at $8,000.

The United Nations Postal Administration has made available to collectors a souvenir folder to which is attached all the stamps issued by the United Nations in 1960. The folder is multi-colored, the front illustration showing the U. N. buildings and the back cover bearing a photograph of the ornamental stairway on the U. N. Plaza. The folders are on sale for 95 cents each. Mail orders should be addressed to the U. N. Postal Administration, United Nations, N. Y.

Yule Treat For Birds

By MARY M. JARDINE

The migrating birds have gone on to warmer climates and the birds we have with us now are our winter residents. With Thanksgiving past its time to think of Christmas, and what could be nicer than a special treat for the birds?

Here are some suggestions for a birds' Christmas tree. Make strings of popcorn and peanuts—interspersed with cut-up apples. Walnut shells stuffed with suet and hung by narrow ribbon or wires. Pine cones dipped in melted suet. Raisins on toothpicks stuck in apples. Strings of raisins. Apples hung by or strung on heavy wire. Corn cobs dipped in melted suet and rolled in ground up nuts. Orange or grapefruit halves stuffed with suet and hung as baskets.

IDEA

From the Montana Garden Quarterly comes another good idea. Place an evergreen tree upright in the yard, and anchor firmly in the ground. Melt suet in a large pan. Stir into hot suet as many of the following ingredients as you have on hand, keeping proportions one and one-half times as much suet as dried ingredients; chick feed, crumbled white bread, sunflower seeds, dried berries, chopped peanuts, pecans or walnuts, hemp millet, cracked corn, raisins or any prepared bird seed mixture. Pour this mixture over the tree boiling hot. Color soft cooked spaghetti red and green with vegetable dye. After the suet mixture has cooled on the tree, drape spaghetti over the branches. Robins, especially, will enjoy the spaghetti.

DAFFODIL CLUB

Three design types were exhibited in the very distinctive show presented by the Daffodil Garden Club of Wisner. The graceful Hogarth Curve (lazy S) Crescent, and pyramid triangle.

Mrs. P. R. Thaxton designed a most elegant Hogarth design. A milk glass compote was selected for a container. The lazy S line was established with Berksman's Golden arborvitae. Embellishing the line were lavender chrysanthemums varying in size from small buds to wide open blooms. A bunch of red grapes was placed over the rim of the container emphasizing the line. The back of the design was filled in, thus making free-standing.

A very beautiful crescent design was created by Mrs. Wilton Hoggatt. The container was of black, boat-shaped and set on a rectangular black base. The crescent pattern was established with placements of scotch broom. Transition in the flow of the design was created by using small yellow chrysanthemums at the outer edges of the design with larger yellow mums in the center of the design. We staged this lovely design against a chartreuse background.

A color scheme of green and gold was featured. In a footed brass container set on a tiered golden base, palmetto was arranged in a pyramid triangular pattern. Against this background was placed a tall golden madonna. A cluster of green loquat leaves and a bunch of gold grapes over the rim of the container completed. A most effective combination and very appealing.

Mrs. Thomas Cox exhibited three beautiful roses in the horticulture section. Tiffany, a lovely pink. Charlotte Armstrong, deep rose color and Sutter's Gold. Mrs. R. M. Hammons displayed Debutante camellias and Mrs. J. Gordon Mitchell Jr., a fall blooming Iris Indian chief.

SOUTHERN GARDENER

Large Foliage Is Unusual

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

Very few southerners have ever laid eyes upon one of our most unusual and amazing native trees A tree with leaves 20 to 32 inches long and a foot wide is an an astounding thing to look at! No other tree in the Northern Hemisphere has such large folaige.

Andre Michaux, the French botanist who, with his son, Francois, walked over some of our highest mountains, discovered this handsome tree near what is now Charlotte, N. C., in 1789. He named it accurately magnolia macrophylla, large - leaved magnolia. Since that time, southern botanists have discovered small groves and groups of the trees here and there from North Carolina to Florida and westward.

HANDSOME

While the leaves of this magnolia are handsome enough for one to grow the tree for its foliage alone, the flowers are equally interesting and beautiful. The mature and maturing leaves at the end of each branch look like a small wind mill. They are so heavy that they tend to hang downwards a bit, and in the center of this wind mill the long green bud arieses. Nine inches long, it is in proportion to the size of the foliage.

In the first stage of opening, the green sepals unwrap themselves, turn parchment color and hang down. For several days, then, the upward pointing white bud seems to become whiter and whiter. Cool weather in May will hold the buds in closed state for several days, and then the first three petals open, leaving the inner three still in upright position. Finally, the inner three open, revealing the beautiful purple spots, on some flowers, and the small green cone in the center.

The flowers of magnolia grandiflora, our evergreen southern magnolia, remain mostly in cup-shaped position, but in the large-leaved magnolia, the petals like the leaves, hand downwards, producing a surprising and beautiful effect unlike almost anything else in our flora. In neighborhoods where there is one of these trees, it becomes an annual event to go and see the big - leaf magnolia open its blossoms.

Flower arrangers who want something for really big arrangements will do well to equip themselves with some of the big leaves of Magnolia macrophylla. They are first greenish brown on top and then a nice medium brown. Underneath, they are almost silvery white. A Southern arranger, in the early days of flower arranging, once astounded the maid in a New York hotel who found her looking underneath the rug where her leaves were being kept pressed for the big show! There was no other place big enough to press the big - leaf magnolia.

EXTENSION NOTES

Landscaping Time Nearing

By AUDREY DAWSON

If you, Mrs. Homemaker, are planning to make any major changes or additions in your landscape, December, January and February are the best months. For most of us homemakers, we may as well say January and February, because most of us are too involved with Christmas shopping, baking, etc., to think of the landscape. If there's one month during the year that my garden does not get any attention, it is December, and it is an important month but somehow December is here and it seems January is right behind.

So it is good that we have January and February to get our planting done. But in case you are not too busy with other things and you want to do some garden jobs here are some: Plant that favorite tree, this month. It is an excellent time. If you want a large evergreen, select either the live oak, magnolia or the slash pine. A medium evergreen could be the American Holly, ligustrum, wax myrtle, camphor or Japanese plum.

Cut your dahlia stalks back to about 5 inches from the ground. Lift tubers, clean and dry for 24 hours in a shady place. Store in dry place in vermiculite or similar material.

Many people like to give plants or trees as Christmas presents and this is a nice gift because living gifts are in exact time with the spirit and new life that Christmas bring to us — so if your friend is a new home owner what could be better.

ANNUAL BANQUET

Homemakers who have been a member of the Home Demonstration Club for 10 years are having their annual banquet at one of the local hotels Tuesday, December 13th at 7:00 o'clock. Members be sure to get in touch with your president, Mrs. E. W. Earle, at FA 2-5111 and make your reservation. It will be an evening full of fun and fellowship. There has been a program planned with you in mind, Mrs. Ten Year Club Member, we know you will enjoy it so we will see you there.

Yours truly will leave for Baton Rouge Tuesday, December 6th and will not be back in the office until Monday, December 12th. This is the annual agriculture conference for all Extension people in Louisiana.

STYLE HIGHLIGHTS

Everyone is in agreement on just what the new lines and styles will be for the forthcoming season — but no one designer, models, buyers, sales people can quite agree on a name with such descriptions as "The Eased Look," "The Mild Fit," "The Fluid Silhouette," "The Relaxed Look," the indications are completely clear - comfort for the wearer.

Necklines are important for the flattering way they reveal neck and shoulders and to go along with the comfort look, collars have done everything but disappear. When collars are used, they are usually small or flat, and now for news in sleeves. The majority of one - piece dresses will have sleeves ending just above or below the elbow. The most chic as well as the most comfortable costumes will feature the cropped three - quarter length sleeves.

In most cases, the hemlines are staying just about where they were — just below the knee. However, in some cases, campus skirts, jumper dresses and the like are just an inch or two above the knee.

FREEZING FOODS

Many homemakers are calling on our office asking for information on preparing foods for Christmas and keeping in food freezer. The homemaker who has a little extra time now can make those cooked fruit pies and mincemeat and store unbaked in food freezer. Be sure the fat used in making the crust is of the best quality. Bake frozen pies in a hot oven as you would any other pie, however, it may take a few minutes longer. Fresh apples and peaches are likely to turn brown unless the fruit is cooked and cooking the fruit will destroy much of the fresh flavor. If you want to freeze these fruit pies be sure to coat the fruit thoroughly with lemon juice before putting in crust. These pies will keep for a month.

A THOUGHT

Camellia Clinic Is Scheduled At NE Auditorium

Dr. Howard Hanchey, Louisiana Camellia Society president of Baton Rouge, has announced a camellia clinic to be held in the Fine Arts Auditorium at Northeast. The meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. Saturday.

The meeting will mark the first in the state outside Lafayette where all previous clinics of this type have been held, Dr. Hanchey said. The organization's board of directors will also hold its fall meeting in Monroe on Saturday to plan the annual camellia pageant and show slated for February 10, 11 and 12 in Lafayette.

During the open meeting Saturday night, members of the board will serve as a panel to discuss questions on camellia growing. Plans are underway, according to Dr. Hanchey, for the possible formation of a camellia club for northeast Louisiana.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

By MARY M. JARDINE

The migrating birds have gone on to warmer climates and the birds we have with us now are our winter residents. With Thanksgiving past its time to think of Christmas, and what could be nicer than a special treat for the birds?

Here are some suggestions for a birds' Christmas tree. Make strings of popcorn and peanuts—interspersed with cut-up apples. Walnut shells stuffed with suet and hung by narrow ribbon or wires. Pine cones dipped in melted suet. Raisins on toothpicks stuck in apples. Strings of raisins. Apples hung by or strung on heavy wire. Corn cobs dipped in melted suet and rolled in ground up nuts. Orange or grapefruit halves stuffed with suet and hung as baskets.

IDEA

From the Montana Garden Quarterly comes another good idea. Place an evergreen tree upright in the yard, and anchor firmly in the ground. Melt suet in a large pan. Stir into hot suet as many of the following ingredients as you have on hand, keeping proportions one and one-half times as much suet as dried ingredients; chick feed, crumbled white bread, sunflower seeds, dried berries, chopped peanuts, pecans or walnuts, hemp millet, cracked corn, raisins or any prepared bird seed mixture. Pour this mixture over the tree boiling hot. Color soft cooked spaghetti red and green with vegetable dye. After the suet mixture has cooled on the tree, drape spaghetti over the branches. Robins, especially, will enjoy the spaghetti.

DAFFODIL CLUB

Three design types were exhibited in the very distinctive show presented by the Daffodil Garden Club of Wisner. The graceful Hogarth Curve (lazy S) Crescent, and pyramid triangle.

Mrs. P. R. Thaxton designed a most elegant Hogarth design. A mlik glass compote was selected for a container. The lazy S line was established with Berksman's Golden arborvitae. Embellishing the line were lavender chrysanthemums varying in size from small buds to wide open blooms. A bunch of red grapes was placed over the rim of the container emphasizing the line. The back of the design was filled in, thus making free-standing.

A very beautiful crescent design was created by Mrs. Wilton Hoggatt. The container was of black, boat-shaped and set on a rectangular black base. The crescent pattern was established with placements of scotch broom. Transition in the flow of the design was created by using small yellow chrysanthemums at the outer edges of the design with larger yellow mums in the center of the design. We staged this lovely design against a chartreuse background.

A color scheme of green and gold was featured. In a footed brass container set on a tiered golden base, palmetto was arranged in a pyramid triangular pattern. Against this background was placed a tall golden madonna. A cluster of green loquat leaves and a bunch of gold grapes over the rim of the container completed. A most effective combination and very appealing.

Mrs. Thomas Cox exhibited three beautiful roses in the horticulture section. Tiffany, a lovely pink. Charlotte Armstrong, deep rose color and Sutter's Gold. Mrs. R. M. Hammons displayed Debutante camellias and Mrs. J. Gordon Mitchell Jr., a fall blooming iris Indian chief.

SOUTHERN GARDENER

Large Foliage Is Unusual

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

Very few southerners have ever laid eyes upon one of our most unusual and amazing native trees A tree with leaves 20 to 32 inches long and a foot wide is an an astounding thing to look at! No other tree in the Northern Hemisphere has such large folaige.

Andre Michaux, the French botanist who, with his son, Francois, walked over some of our highest mountains, discovered this handsome tree near what is now Charlotte, N. C., in 1789. He named it accurately magnolia macrophylla, large - leaved magnolia. Since that time, southern botanists have discovered small groves and groups of the trees here and there from North Carolina to Florida and westward.

HANDSOME

While the leaves of this magnolia are handsome enough for one to grow the tree for its foliage alone, the flowers are equally interesting and beautiful. The mature and maturing leaves at the end of each branch look like a small wind mill. They are so heavy that they tend to hang downwards a bit, and in the center of this wind mill the long green bud arieses. Nine inches long, it is in proportion to the size of the foliage.

In the first stage of opening, the green sepals unwrap themselves, turn parchment color and hang down. For several days, then, the upward pointing white bud seems to become whiter and whiter. Cool weather in May will hold the buds in closed state for several days, and then the first three petals open, leaving the inner three still in upright position. Finally, the inner three open, revealing the beautiful purple spots, on some flowers, and the small green cone in the center.

The flowers of magnolia grandiflora, our evergreen southern magnolia, remain mostly in cup-shaped position, but in the large-leaved magnolia, the petals like the leaves, hand downwards, producing a surprising and beautiful effect unlike almost anything else in our flora. In neighborhoods where there is one of these trees, it becomes an annual event to go and see the big - leaf magnolia open its blossoms.

Flower arrangers who want something for really big arrangements will do well to equip themselves with some of the big leaves of Magnolia macrophylla. They are first greenish brown on top and then a nice medium brown. Underneath, they are almost silvery white. A Southern arranger, in the early days of flower arranging, once astounded the maid in a New York hotel who found her looking underneath the rug where her leaves were being kept pressed for the big show! There was no other place big enough to press the big - leaf magnolia.

EXTENSION NOTES

By AUDREY DAWSON

If you, Mrs. Homemaker, are planning to make any major changes or additions in your landscape, December, January and February are the best months. For most of us homemakers, we may as well say January and February, because most of us are too involved with Christmas shopping, baking, etc., to think of the landscape. If there's one month during the year that my garden does not get any attention, it is December, and it is an important month but somehow December is here and it seems January is right behind.

So it is good that we have January and February to get our planting done. But in case you are not too busy with other things and you want to do some garden jobs here are some: Plant that favorite tree, this month. It is an excellent time. If you want a large evergreen, select either the live oak, magnolia or the slash pine. A medium evergreen could be the American Holly, ligustrum, wax myrtle, camphor or Japanese plum.

Here are some flower seeds that you may sow now in the open: poppy, late sweet pea, larkspur, candytuft, petunia.

Cut your dahlia stalks back to about 5 inches from the ground. Lift tubers, clean and dry for 24 hours in a shady place. Store in dry place in vermiculite or similar material.

Many people like to give plants or trees as Christmas presents and this is a nice gift because living gifts are in exact time with the spirit and new life that Christmas bring to us — so if your friend is a new home owner what could be better.

ANNUAL BANQUET

Homemakers who have been a member of the Home Demonstration Club for 10 years are having their annual banquet at one of the local hotels Tuesday, December 13th at 7:00 o'clock. Members be sure to get in touch with your president, Mrs. E. W. Earle, at FA 2-5111 and make your reservation. It will be an evening full of fun and fellowship. There has been a program planned with you in mind, Mrs. Ten Year Club Member, we know you will enjoy it so we will see you there.

Yours truly will leave for Baton Rouge Tuesday, December 6th and will not be back in the office until Monday, December 12th. This is the annual agriculture conference for all Extension people in Louisiana.

STYLE HIGHLIGHTS

Everyone is in agreement on just what the new lines and styles will be for the forthcoming season — but no one designer, models, buyers, sales people can quite agree on a name with such descriptions as "The Eased Look," "The Mild Fit," "The Fluid Silhouette," "The Relaxed Look," the indications are completely clear - comfort for the wearer.

Necklines are important for the flattering way they reveal neck and shoulders and to go along with the comfort look, collars have done everything but disappear. When collars are used, they are usually small or flat, and now for news in sleeves. The majority of one - piece dresses will have sleeves ending just above or below the elbow. The most chic as well as the most comfortable costumes will feature the cropped three - quarter length sleeves.

In most cases, the hemlines are staying just about where they were — just below the knee. However, in some cases, campus skirts, jumper dresses and the like are just an inch or two above the knee.

FREEZING FOODS

Many homemakers are calling on our office asking for information on preparing foods for Christmas and keeping in food freezer. The homemaker who has a little extra time now can make those cooked fruit pies and mincemeat and store unbaked in food freezer. Be sure the fat used in making the crust is of the best quality. Bake frozen pies in a hot oven as you would any other pie, however, it may take a few minutes longer. Fresh apples and peaches are likely to turn brown unless the fruit is cooked and cooking the fruit will destroy much of the fresh flavor. If you want to freeze these fruit pies be sure to coat the fruit thoroughly with lemon juice before putting in crust. These pies will keep for a month.

A THOUGHT

Camellia Clinic Is Scheduled At NE Auditorium

Dr. Howard Hanchey, Louisiana Camellia Society president of Baton Rouge, has announced a camellia clinic to be held in the Fine Arts Auditorium at Northeast. The meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. Saturday.

The meeting will mark the first in the state outside Lafayette where all previous clinics of this type have been held, Dr. Hanchey said. The organization's board of directors will also hold its fall meeting in Monroe on Saturday to plan the annual camellia pageant and show slated for February 10, 11 and 12 in Lafayette .

During the open meeting Saturday night, members of the board will serve as a panel to discuss questions on camellia growing. Plans are underway, according to Dr. Hanchey, for the possible formation of a camellia club for northeast Louisiana.

Shooting Brings Murder Charge

KREOLE, Miss. (UPI)—Eugene Stewaet, about 20, was charged with attempted murder Saturday in the shooting of a Kreole man in a local grill.

Jackson County Sheriff James Ira Grimsley said Raymond T. Tanner, about 24, was shot in the left cheek shortly after midnight in the Mayfair Grill near here.

Tanner, found unconscious on the floor of the restaurant's rest room, was taken to a Mobile, Ala., hospital where his condition was reported as not serious.

Grimsley quoted witnesses as saying Stewart followed Tanner to the restroom and a few seconds later a shot was heard. Stewart then rushed from the restroom, gun in hand, raced to the front of the grill and threw the pistol into a brushy area, the sheriff said.

A 13-year-old Negro girl was arrested yesterday afternoon and Street Store. The shoes were valued at $4.

Winds Delay Salvage Plans

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP) —Windy Lake Michigan Saturday stalled salvaging plans for the grounded Liberian freighter Francisco Morazan.

The U. S. Coast Guard said continuing winds of 25 to 30 knots prevented a tug from putting salvage experts on board.

The 246-foot ocean-going Morazan, fast on a South Manitou Island reef since being hurled there by a storm Tuesday night, was taking more punishment from waves but apparently remained safe with its crew of 13.

The weather was clear. Winds and high seas had abated only a little, however.

Young Capt. Eduardo Trivizas' wife, Anistisia, 29, who was taken off the stranded ship Thursday, changed her plans to leave for New York at this time.

Anistisia, expecting a second baby, has decided to wait a day or two to see if her husband's ship is freed, the Coast Guard said. She was put up in a motel.

GETS CABINET POST

Dynamic Hodges Leads Busy Life

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Ten years ago Luther H. Hodges retired from a high post in the business world. Saturday he was named secretary of commerce in President-elect John F. Kennedy's cabinet.

The manner in which Hodges, 62, has spent his "retirement" is an indication of his character. Hodges is a soft-spoken, dynamic man who thrives on activity.

After retirement Hodges entered politics in his home state of North Carolina. He was elected lieutenant governor, then spent six years as the state's chief executive, the longest tenure in the state's history.

"I felt it was my duty to offer my services to my state and my country," he often said. "I had lived a good life, I wanted to give some of it back."

His is a rags to riches story. Born on a tenant farm, Hodges rose to the top ranks in the textile industry. He stepped down in 1950 as vice president of Marshall Field & Co.

Shortly afterward he was appointed chief of the industry division of the Economic Cooperation Administration and was stationed in Frankfurt, Germany.

Hodges ran for lieutenant governor in 1952 and won. He stepped into the governorship in November, 1954, upon the death of Gov. William B. Umstead. He was elected to a full four-year term in 1956.

A self-styled moderate Democrat, Hodges worked unceasingly during his six years as governor to build North Carolina industrially and to reorganize the state government on a more business-like basis.

During his administration, he encouraged bond reforms in state government, braved the stormy segregation issue with calm, traveled more than any Tarheel governor in history, and sought as one of his major aims to raise the state's per capita income.

As the state's governor and top salesman, Hodges led several industry-hunting trips to Northern states and to Western Europe.

In the summer of 1959 he and a group of U. S. governors toured the Soviet Union. He just returned from a trip to South America.

During his governorship Hodges persuaded North Carolina's Legislature and its people to approve a pupil-assignment law for dealing with the segregation issue. The plan has permitted token integration in several North Carolina cities.

"I consider the calm manner in which North Carolina handled its integration problems, the no. 1 achievement of my administration," Hodges said. "It also was the thorniest problem."

During the recent presidential campaign Hodges campaigned vigorously in behalf of Sen. John F. Kennedy and the Democratic ticket. He headed the Businessmen for Kennedy group and appeared with Kennedy on his final television appearance before the election. Kennedy carried North Carolina by more than 57,000 votes over Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Hodges, one of nine children, went to work as an office boy in the Marshall Field mill at his home town in Leaksville when he was 12. At one time he was a Bible salesman and later worked as a news butcher on a train.

After graduation from college Hodges became secretary to the general manager of Marshall Field. He was named general manager of the mills in 1953. Five years later he was vice president of the company.

Circus Elephant Runs Rampant At Yule Parade

Demos Assail GOP Challenge Of Texas Vote

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The State Democratic Executive Committee Saturday called the Republican challenge of general election results in Texas "unfounded and irresponsible."

Democratic National Committeeman Byron Skelton said the attack on the vote count was a "deliberate plan to develop propaganda" for use in the 1962 U.S. senatorial election.

"Nothing has hurt the prestige of the United States more than the national Republican effort to create the impression that the Democrats stole the election," said Skelton.

The Democratic ticket of Sens. John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson won Texas' 24 electoral votes by a vote of 1,167,932 to 1,121,699—a margin of 46,233.

The committee officially adopted a statement by its executive secretary, Jake Jacobsen, slapping at the GOP charges of fraud in counting the presidential election votes in Texas.

Gov. Price Daniel told the committee he could make no comment on the Republican effort to bring about a recount of the presidential vote because he is a member of the official canvassing committee.

The governor did suggest that a study be made in educating the voters in how to mark ballots in the future without running into danger of having their votes thrown out.

Skelton pointed out that 90 per cent of the election judges who counted the votes this year were also the vote counters in 1956 without a complaint from the GOP. The Republicans, he added, won in 1956.

Kennedy Infant Quits Incubator

WASHINGTON (UPI)—John F. Kennedy Jr. was promoted from his incubator to a heated bassinette Saturday, but doctors weren't sure when he'll be ready to travel.

The baby's mother, Jacqueline Kennedy, is up and around and will be able to go to Florida late next week, her doctor said. But everything depends on how John Jr. gets along.

The boy's pediatrician, Dr. Edward B. Broocks, said the infant son of the President-elect was out of the incubator most Friday and probably will stay out of it.

Boy Returns Home After Gun Tragedy

BELLMORE, N. Y. (AP) — A teen-aged boy who ran away from a family tragedy he had caused by accident came back Saturday.

John Maiorana, 17, who had dashed out of his home and driven away after fatally shooting his sister, made contact late in the day with his parents through a priest.

Police said John confirmed in his own words their own theory of the shooting: that it was an accident.

John was taken to a police station for further questioning, but his parents and a huge crowd of neighbors who clustered around in this Nassau County, Long Island community were sure he would be home soon.

In his stocking feet he went into the family television room and started to clean his shotgun — a gun his father didn't want him to have but which he had bought with money given him by his mother.

John's sister, Julianna, 13, was watching a TV program. The two were heard laughing and joking together.

Then there was a thunderous blast. Somehow the gun, which shouldn't have been loaded at such a time, was.

"My God, oh my God!" screamed the boy.

A moment later his mother saw him rush from the house in panic, still clutching the shotgun. He was shoeless and without a jacket in the outdoor chill.

The boy flung the gun into shrubbery near the house, jumped into the family automobile and raced away into the early evening darkness.

Scoures of police and detectives fanned out over a wide expanse of Long Island but could find no trace of the boy or the car. His anguished parents broadcast a desperate plea.

"John, please come home," begged the father, a telephone company supervisor. "We understand. Don't blame yourself. We need you more than ever now. We love you and want you home."

Widow Killed, Nine Injured In Highway Crash

LEBANON, Tenn. (UPI) — Nine persons were injured and a 10th killed in a highway accident near here Saturday which "left the injured scattered all over the highway" according to state troopers.

Listed in critical condition at nearby hospital was Mrs. Carcey Sircy and Earl Wayne Bugg, 17. The youth had head injuries and Mrs. Sircy's legs were "almost torn off" by the impact, officers said.

State trooper James Dodson said a car driven by Mrs. Sircy's husband, and carrying Mrs. McCauley, collided with a car driven by Jimmy Lloyd Pomeroy. Three Nashville youths were riding with Pomeroy and were all injured.

Riding with Sircy were Mrs. McCauley, his wife and three daughters, all of whom suffered injuries.

FESTIVAL INVITATION

NEW YORK (AP) — The Living Theatre, an experimental Greenwich Village group, has been invited to participate in the eighth annual Paris drama festival next summer.

American stagecraft has been represented at previous expositions by "The Skin of Our Teeth," "Long Day's Journey Into Night," "Ballets USA" and "The Play of Daniel."

Cubans Detain Archbishop For Several Hours

HAVANA (UPI)—Msgr. Enrique Perez Serantes, archbishop of Santiago who once interceded to help save Fidel Castro's life, Saturday was detained on unspecified charges by Castro authorities in their running feud with the Roman Catholic church.

The archbishop, who has spoken out sharply in pastoral letters against Communism in Cuba, was detained in Camaguey during a stopover on a flight from Havana to his residence at Santiago in eastern Cuba.

He was refused permission to leave Camaguey Friday night and was detained until 6 a.m. Saturday before being permitted to fly on.

Archbishop Perez, Dr. Fernando Martinez Lamo, a prominent radiologist and lay Catholic, and his son, Dr. Fernando Martinez Izquierdo were picked up by G-2 agents as they left the plane.

The agents did not tell them the reason for their detention but the three men were released unconditionally.

Archbishop Perez had been an early backer of Castro. After Castro's arrest following his abortive attack on Moncada barracks, July 26, 1953, the archbishop interceded with aides of dictator Fulgencio Batista and was instrumental in saving Fidel.

Alabama Roads Fatal For Four

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — At least four persons have lost their lives in weekend traffic accidents in Alabama, a United Press International survey showed Saturday.

James C. Holliday, 22-year-old Roanoke Negro was killed in an accident two miles west of Roanoke Saturday evening. Driving the other car in the two-car crash was another colored man, Joe Green, age 20 also of Roanoke. Green was hospitalized in the Randolph County hospital.

Carlos Dorrough, age 19, of Parrish, died late Saturday afternoon in a one-car accident five miles south of Jasper on County Highway 20. The officer investigating the wreck said Dorrough was traveling at excessive speed and ran off the Walker County road and hit a large pine tree.

GETS CABINET POST

Dynamic Hodges Leads Busy Life

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Ten years ago Luther H. Hodges retired from a high post in the business world. Saturday he was named secretary of commerce in President-elect John F. Kennedy's cabinet.

The manner in which Hodges, 62, has spent his "retirement" is an indication of his character. Hodges is a soft-spoken, dynamic man who thrives on activity.

After retirement Hodges entered politics in his home state of North Carolina. He was elected lieutenant governor, then spent six years as the state's chief executive, the longest tenure in the state's history.

"I felt it was my duty to offer my services to my state and my country," he often said. "I had lived a good life, I wanted to give some of it back."

His is a rags to riches story. Born on a tenant farm, Hodges rose to the top ranks in the textile industry. He stepped down in 1950 as vice president of Marshall Field & Co.

Shortly afterward he was appointed chief of the industry division of the Economic Cooperation Administration and was stationed in Frankfurt, Germany.

Hodges ran for lieutenant governor in 1952 and won. He stepped into the governorship in November, 1954, upon the death of Gov. William B. Umstead. He was elected to a full four-year term in 1956.

A self-styled moderate Democrat, Hodges worked unceasingly during his six years as governor to build North Carolina industrially and to reorganize the state government on a more business-like basis.

During his administration, he encouraged bond reforms in state government, braved the stormy segregation issue with calm, traveled more than any Tarheel governor in history, and sought as one of his major aims to raise the state's per capita income.

As the state's governor and top salesman, Hodges led several industry-hunting trips to Northern states and to Western Europe.

In the summer of 1959 he and a group of U. S. governors toured the Soviet Union. He just returned from a trip to South America.

During his governorship Hodges persuaded North Carolina's Legislature and its people to approve a pupil-assignment law for dealing with the segregation issue. The plan has permitted token integration in several North Carolina cities.

"I consider the calm manner in which North Carolina handled its integration problems, the no. 1 achievement of my administration," Hodges said. "It also was the thorniest problem."

During the recent presidential campaign Hodges campaigned vigorously in behalf of Sen. John F. Kennedy and the Democratic ticket. He headed the Businessmen for Kennedy group and appeared with Kennedy on his final television appearance before the election. Kennedy carried North Carolina by more than 57,000 votes over Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Hodges, one of nine children, went to work as an office boy in the Marshall Field mill at his home town in Leaksville when he was 12. At one time he was a Bible salesman and later worked as a news butcher on a train.

After graduation from college Hodges became secretary to the general manager of Marshall Field. He was named general manager of the mills in 1938. Five years later he was vice president of the company.

Circus Elephant Runs Rampant At Yule Parade

She damaged fences and shrubbery but no one was hurt.

With a squeal Myrtle got to her feet and headed in the opposite direction from the parade route, lined with an estimated 10,000 persons.

Bandsmen, marchers and spectators scrambled out of her way.

Demos Assail GOP Challenge Of Texas Vote

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The State Democratic Executive Committee Saturday called the Republican challenge of general election results in Texas "unfounded and irresponsible."

Democratic National Committeeman Byron Skelton said the attack on the vote count was a "deliberate plan to develop propaganda" for use in the special U.S. senatorial election.

"Nothing has hurt the prestige of the United States more than the national Republican effort to create the impression that the Democrats stole the election," said Skelton.

The Democratic ticket of Sens. John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson won Texas' 24 electoral votes by a vote of 1,167,932 to 1,121,699—a margin of 45,233.

The committee officially adopted a statement by its executive secretary, Jake Jacobsen, slapping at the GOP charges of fraud in counting the presidential election votes in Texas.

Gov. Price Daniel told the committee he could make no comment on the Republican effort to bring about a recount of the presidential vote because he is a member of the official canvassing committee.

The governor did suggest that a study be made in educating the voters in how to mark ballots in the future without running into danger of having their votes thrown out.

Skelton pointed out that 90 per cent of the election judges who counted the votes this year were also the vote counters in 1956 without a complaint from the GOP. The Republicans, he added, won in 1956.

Kennedy Infant Quits Incubator

WASHINGTON (UPI)—John F. Kennedy Jr. was promoted from his incubator to a heated bassinette Saturday, but doctors weren't sure when he'll be ready to travel.

The baby's mother, Jacqueline Kennedy, is up and around and will be able to go to Florida late next week, her doctor said. But everything depends on how John Jr. gets along.

The boy's pediatrician, Dr. Edward B. Broocks, said the infant son of the President-elect was out of the incubator most Friday and probably will stay out of it.

Widow Killed, Nine Injured In Highway Crash

LEBANON, Tenn. (UPI) — Nine persons were injured and a 10th killed in a highway accident near here Saturday which "left the injured scattered all over the highway" according to state troopers.

Mrs. Bessie McCauley, 45-year-old widow who worked at Clover Bottom home for children in Donelson, was the fatality in the accident on Highway 70 east of here.

All nine injured were from Nashville.

Listed in critical condition at nearby hospital was Mrs. Carcey Sircy and Earl Wayne Bugg, 17. The youth had head injuries and Mrs. Sircy's legs were "almost torn off" by the impact, officers said.

State trooper James Dodson said a car driven by Mrs. Sircy's husband, and carrying Mrs. McCauley, collided with a car driven by Jimmy Lloyd Pomeroy. Three Nashville youths were riding with Pomeroy and were all injured.

Riding with Sircy were Mrs. McCauley, his wife and three daughters, all of whom suffered injuries.

FESTIVAL INVITATION

NEW YORK (AP) — The Living Theatre, an experimental Greenwich Village group, has been invited to participate in the eighth annual Paris drama festival next summer.

American stagecraft has been represented at previous expositions by "The Skin of Our Teeth," "Long Day's Journey Into Night," "Ballets USA" and "The Play of Daniel.'

Boy Returns Home After Gun Tragedy

BELLMORE, N. Y. (AP) — A teen-aged boy who ran away from a family tragedy he had caused by accident came back Saturday.

John Maiorana, 17, who had dashed out of his home and driven away after fatally shooting his sister, made contact late in the day with his parents through a priest.

Police said John confirmed in his own words their own theory of the shooting: that it was an accident.

John was taken to a police station for further questioning, but his parents and a huge crowd of neighbors who clustered around in this Nassau County, Long Island community were sure he would be home soon.

In his stocking feet he went into the family television room and started to clean his shotgun — a gun his father didn't want him to have but which he had bought with money given him by his mother.

John's sister, Julianna, 13, was watching a TV program. The two were heard laughing and joking together.

Then there was a thunderous blast. Somehow the gun, which shouldn't have been loaded at such a time, was.

"My God, oh my God!" screamed the boy.

A moment later his mother saw him rush from the house in panic, still clutching the shotgun. He was shoeless and without a jacket in the outdoor chill.

The boy flung the gun into shrubbery near the house, jumped into the family automobile and raced away into the early evening darkness.

Scores of police and detectives fanned out over a wide expanse of Long Island but could find no trace of the boy or the car. His anguished parents broadcast a desperate plea.

"John, please come home," begged the father, a telephone company supervisor. "We understand. Don't blame yourself. We need you more than ever now. We love you and want you home."

Cubans Detain Archbishop For Several Hours

HAVANA (UPI)—Msgr. Enrique Perez Serantes, archbishop of Santiago who once interceded to help save Fidel Castro's life, Saturday was detained on unspecified charges by Castro authorities in their running feud with the Roman Catholic church.

The archbishop, who has spoken out sharply in pastoral letters against Communism in Cuba, was detained in Camaguey during a stopover on a flight from Havana to his residence at Santiago in eastern Cuba.

He was refused permission to leave Camaguey Friday night and was detained until 6 a.m. Saturday before being permitted to fly on.

Archbishop Perez, Dr. Fernando Martinez Lamo, a prominent radiologist and lay Catholic, and his son, Dr. Fernando Martinez Izquierdo were picked up by G-2 agents as they left the plane.

The agents did not tell them the reason for their detention but the three men were released unconditionally.

Archbishop Perez had been an early backer of Castro. After Castro's arrest following his abortive attack on Moncada barracks, July 26, 1953, the archbishop interceded with aides of dictator Fulgencio Batista and was instrumental in saving Fidel.

Alabama Roads Fatal For Four

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — At least four persons have lost their lives in weekend traffic accidents in Alabama, a United Press International survey showed Saturday.

James C. Holliday, 22-year-old Roanoke Negro was killed in an accident two miles west of Roanoke Saturday evening. Driving the other car in the two-car crash was another colored man, Joe Green, age 20 also of Roanoke. Green was hospitalized in the Randolph County hospital.

Carlos Dorrough, age 19, of Parrish, died late Saturday afternoon in a one-car accident five miles south of Jasper on County Highway 20. The officer investigating the wreck said Dorrough was traveling at excessive speed and ran off the Walker County road and hit a large pine tree.

Ike Orders U.S. Guard Units To Greet Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Saturday ordered special guard units from all four military services to line the walks of the White House's front lawn when President-elect John F. Kennedy visits him Tuesday morning.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said some details of the first meeting between the men since the election still have to be worked out.

Hagerty said Kennedy is expected to arrive at 9 a.m.

Eisenhower will meet Kennedy at the north portico—main entrance to the White House—and accompany him to the President's office for their conference.

Annual Meeting Of NAFC Held At Miami Beach

NEW YORK (UPI)—One thing the heads of the nation's food chains are sure of is that their modern technique of mass distribution has overtaken mass production as the most important factor in raising our standard of living.

Myer B. Marcus, chairman of the meeting, and executive vice president of Food Fair Stores, said that while 27 million Americans are engaged in production of foods, more than 33 million are employed in performing services.

Ike Orders U.S. Guard Units To Greet Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Saturday ordered special guard units from all four military services to line the walks of the White House's front lawn when President-elect John F. Kennedy visits him Tuesday morning.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said some details of the first meeting between the men since the election still have to be worked out.

Hagerty said Kennedy is expected to arrive at 9 a.m.

Eisenhower will meet Kennedy at the north portico—main entrance to the White House—and accompany him to the President's office for their conference.

Annual Meeting Of NAFC Held At Miami Beach

NEW YORK (UPI)—One thing the heads of the nation's food chains are sure of is that their modern technique of mass distribution has overtaken mass production as the most important factor in raising our standard of living.

This was one of the points that was brought out at the recent 27th annual meeting of the National Association of Food Chains in Miami Beach.

Myer B. Marcus, chairman of the meeting, and executive vice president of Food Fair Stores, said that while 27 million Americans are engaged in production of foods, more than 33 million are employed in performing services.
